Barrel In Jersey Landfill May Hold Body Of Hoffa

By PETE YOST
Associated Press Writer
DETROIT (AP) — The FBI believes the body of James R. Hoffa may have been hauled to New Jersey in a barrel and buried in a Jersey City, N.J., landfill, according to grand jury witnesses and other sources.

The grand jury recessed for the weekend, but three New Jersey Teamsters were headed for a police lineup today in the Hoffa case. An unknown government informant has fingered the three men — two of them reputed Mafia figures — as the abductors and killers of ex-Teamsters boss Hoffa.

The lineup will be viewed by another mysterious government witness who said he actually saw the abduction of Hoffa, but does not know the names of the men who abducted him, federal investigators say.

Several federal investigators said they regard corroboration by the eyewitness as crucial to solving the four-month-old Hoffa disappearance.

All three East Coast Teamsters are associated with Local 560 in Union City, N.J., the same union local where Anthony "Tony Pro" Provenzano is trying to stage a comeback in the Teamsters. Provenzano, who openly opposed Hoffa's bid to reenter Teamsters politics, was one of three men Hoffa believed he was on his way to meet when he disappeared July 30.

Two employees of Gateway Transportation Co. said Friday night they were among six of the trucking firm's employees quizzed by the Hoffa grand jury on procedures the company uses to keep track of large metal barrels.

"We were asked whether there were any missing barrels," said Edwin Streicher, Gateway's terminal manager in Detroit.

Streicher said FBI agents came to his office and took the company's dispatch records for a period beginning at the end of July and ending Aug. 10.

Accused SJ Jewelry Store Robber Faces 2nd Charge

An ex-convict, arrested last week after the robbery of a St. Joseph jewelry store, also has been charged with the Nov. 3 robbery of Rees Jewelry store in Buchanan.

Robert Lee Williams, 34, Lansing, demanded preliminary examination when arraigned in Berrien Fifth district court Friday on a charge of robbing the Buchanan store.

The Herald-Palladium, at request of Berrien Prosecutor John Smietanka, yesterday withheld publication that a warrant had been issued against Williams in the Buchanan robbery.

The request was made to give officers more time to seek a second suspect, for whom a warrant, has been issued in the Buchanan robbery. Smietanka said officers feared news that Williams had been charged might cause the suspect to flee.

Bond for Williams was set at $50,000 on the Buchanan robbery charge. He is being held in Berrien county jail under total bonds of $100,000.

As of this morning, the second suspect had not been apprehended.

Smietanka said Williams, was charged with taking $20,251 in cash and jewelry at gunpoint from the Rees store during a closing-time robbery, in which the store owner, three employees and a customer were all bound and locked in a washroom while two safes and a cash register were looted.

No one was hurt and no shots were fired during the robbery.

Moluccans Release Some Of Hostages

AMSTERDAM, The Netherlands (AP) — South Moluccan nationalists held up to 61 hostages today in twin standoffs at the Indonesian consulate in Amsterdam and aboard a hijacked train in northern Holland.

Mediators from the South Moluccan community in Amsterdam won the release of seven children from the consulate Friday, but as night fell the six gunmen continued to hold four children and between 18 and 21 adults. Negotiations were suspended until morning.

An explosion in the train hijacked by South Moluccans, near Beilen, 90 miles north of here, resulted in the release of two hostages and the surrender of an injured gunman. Security officials said the explosion was "accidental."

HONORED: Rosa Parks, whose refusal to give up her bus seat to a white 20 years ago sparked the historic Montgomery bus boycott, was honored Friday at ceremonies commemorating the civil rights crusade in Montgomery, Ala. Lawyers Urged To Lift 'Ad' Ban

By JOSEPH R. TYBOR
Associated Press Writer
CHICAGO (AP) — A committee of the American Bar Association today recommended eliminating the traditional ban on advertising by lawyers.

The proposals to amend the ABA's Code of Professional Conduct will be further reviewed before being placed before the ABA's House of Delegates at a meeting in February at Philadelphia.

Lawrence E. Walsh, the association's president, said in August he has "a low view of advertising" and thinks "it is a device to get people to buy things they don't need."

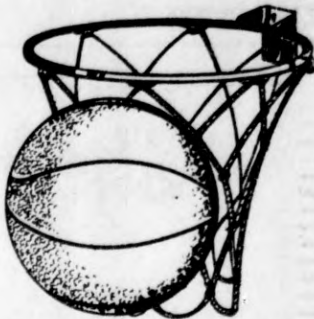

Nevertheless, there is growing pressure, including at least one pending suit, to drop the ban. Currently it limits lawyers to placing a name, address and office number in a telephone directory.

The proposed revision of the ABA's code would permit lawyers to advertise biographical data, fields of specialty and fees for specific types of cases in newspapers and on television and radio.

Standard consulting fees and credit availability could also be publicized. Still banned, however, would be false or misleading statements; personal testimonials of client satisfaction with a lawyer; statistics on past performance or prediction of future success; and average. Barrel In Jersey Landfill May Hold Body Of Hoffa

DETROIT (AP) — The FBI believes the body of James R. Hoffa may have been hauled to New Jersey in a barrel and buried in a Jersey City, N.J., landfill, according to grand jury witnesses and other sources.

Streicher said FBI agents came to his office and took the company's dispatch records for a period beginning at the end of July and ending Aug. 10.

A supervisor for Gateway said that he was one of the six persons quizzed by the grand jury.

"We were all down there before the grand jury," said the Gateway supervisor, who refused to give his name. "They asked us what we shipped. We are a common carrier, one of the biggest in the country, and we haul all kinds of things, including barrels."

FBI agents, meanwhile, kept an eye on Moscato's Dump in Jersey City, N.J.

"It's Hoffa's body they believe is buried at Moscato's Dump," one law enforcement official said. "The search warrant was a smokescreen."

A search warrant was issued Tuesday for the landfill site, but it made no mention of Hoffa. Instead, the warrant said investigators were looking for the body of a reputed underworld soldier missing for more than a year.

Another source said investigators are operating on the theory that Hoffa got into a car voluntarily outside the Machus Red Fox Restaurant in Bloomfield Township, was killed and his body then hauled out to the East Coast, where it was buried in the dump.

The closed-down landfill reportedly is owned by Philip Moscato, 41. New Jersey sources say Moscato includes among his close associates members of the Mafia families of the late Vito Genovese, Simone Rizzo "Sam the Plumber" DeCavalcante, Joseph "Joe Bananas" Bonanno and Joseph "Joe Bayonne" Zicarelli.

The landfill site on the bank of the Hackensack River lies in the middle of a run-down industrial officials said the explosion was "accidental."

The remaining four hijackers held 36 hostages, who were spending their fifth straight night aboard the train.

Both sets of gunmen are exiles from South Molucca or sons of exiles. The Moluccas, also known as the Spice Islands, became part of Indonesia 25 years ago when the Dutch ended colonial rule in the East Asian archipelago. The Dutch government has no power to do anything about the independence demands.

The train hijackers have asked safe passage out of the country and for Dutch initiation of talks on independence for the South Moluccan islands from the former Dutch colony of Indonesia.

The gunmen in the consulate have made it clear they share common aims with the hijackers.

Justice Minister Dries Van Agt said the hijackers' demands would not be met because they had killed three persons since hijacking the four-coach local Tuesday.

A police spokesman in Beilen said the injured gunman and a male hostage suffered head wounds. A woman hostage was reported in a severe state of shock.

The gunman was reported severely injured, and police said they were unable to interrogate him. He was not thought to be in a critical condition, however.

Lawyers Urged To Lift 'Ad' Ban

CHICAGO (AP) — A committee of the American Bar Association today recommended eliminating the traditional ban on advertising by lawyers. Consumer groups say resulting price competition should lower fees for a wide variety of per-

Ceremonial Visit To Mainland China

Until Mao Tse-Tung or Gerald Ford or those close to either one choose to drop a few comments an outsider is left in the dark as to what the latest summit meeting between the two national leaders accomplished. The comparison for the moment is somewhat like that of a vacationer who is satisfied in taking the trip if only because he would have been unhappy had he stayed at home.

Neither the Peking nor White House centers issued a joint statement as to the results from the top level conversations, the most illuminating remark being a farewell toast by Vice Premier Teng who said, "In the present international situation our two countries face problems of mutual concern and share many common points."

Ford's summation followed in a like vein, plus the addition that "it is only natural the two countries should sometimes disagree on policies and tactics."

It reduces to the intangible that while Ford did not expand the beachhead established by Richard Nixon three years ago he did keep the door open.

HEW Flunks

Any lender who manages to lose $1 billion of $8 billion invested over a seven-year period isn't doing a very good managing job. That is the record compiled by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare in its administration of the student loan program.

Repeated studies by Congressional committees have demonstrated widespread negligence in the program. Many of the loan defaults are attributable to students who are more interested in cheating the taxpayers than in improving their education, but not all.

Senate investigators found instances of students who signed up for classes on the loan program, but dropped out without attending. The schools collected the tuition and other fees just the same. HEW picked up the tab.

Considering how doors have a way of opening and closing in the international field, the four-day visit to the Chinese mainland was time well spent.

The hope seemingly exists on both sides that the cordiality expressed in Peking will prevail sufficiently long for the two governments to come at two touchy questions.

One is U.S. recognition of the Nationalist regime on Taiwan.

This island fiefdom is unredeemed territory in the eyes of the Red Chinese and it is safe to say that at this time a full-fledged interchange between the Chinese mainland and our country depends on the liquidation, either diplomatically or territorially, of that independent government.

The second point, stickier in our opinion, than the former, is the Russian-American relationship.

Put in simplest terms, Vice Premier Teng who is accorded the role of master-in-fact of Chinese affairs would shake Ford's hand to the bone he would renounce detente.

Equally simplistic, it can be said that neither Ford nor other Americans would look upon scrapping detente in exchange for a Red-Chinese commitment as any more than the proverbial bird in the hand for two in the bush. Henry Kissinger who joined the Ford entourage made this amply clear in his announced follow-up visit to Moscow.

At the same time, Washington has its reservations as to how far the Russians want to go in putting reality into detente.

The conclusion has to be that Peking and Washington value their fragile relationship and hope it can be fashioned into a more enduring position.

From that viewpoint, Ford's visit yields something tangible.

There is another gain from the trip. Americans are now adjusted to the reality of a summit meeting not necessarily being the equivalent of Moses descending Mt. Sinai.

This is not to suggest that miracles cannot happen, but only that in world affairs, they come slowly.

EDITOR'S MAILBAG

GIRL'S BASKETBALL COVERAGE 'UNFAIR'

Editors, There seems to be a bit of unfairness in the coverage of girls' basketball tournaments. This year when St. Joe won their district, they got two pictures and a very large article. Berrien Springs and Cassopolis also had pictures. When Lakeshore won their district for the first year in a row we did not get any pictures, and our article was half the size as St. Joe's.

All season long St. Joe has had top billing. In order to read about Lakeshore you would have to get out a magnifying glass. We have not even had a picture all year long.

I want to say what a lousy job your paper did in covering all of the girls' teams in the area, equally. Whoever is in charge of this sure did a bad job of reporting.

Lakeshore Girls' District Champs

NOT ALL PAPERS WERE AS FAIR

Editor, Please accept my thanks for your publication of the article entitled, "Ear Piercing Needs Approval: Abortion Doesn't," which pertains to the keynote address of Dr. Mildred Jefferson, President of the National Right to Life Committee at the convention of Michigan Citizens for Life, which took place November 7 and 8.

Knowing your stated position on the question of legalized abortion, I find it highly commendable that you would publish an article relative to activities of those who hold opposing views. This news was markedly suppressed by a number of Michigan newspapers and so your publication of it is a singular and most refreshing example of open and unbiased news dissemination.

The National Right to Life President, Dr. Jefferson is virtually a black, Protestant (may I repeat that, Protestant) Joan of Arc in the arena of pro-lifers vs opponents. She was a principal witness for the prosecution in the trial of Dr. Edelin in Boston, Mass. and her testimony weighed heavily in favor of his conviction.

Dr. Jefferson, along with an increasing number of prominent Protestants are actively engaged in the struggle to educate the public about the evils of legalized abortion. Recently, I learned that Mrs. Billy Graham and other important leaders of the Baptist Church had formed a committee to spearhead pressure from the Baptist Church against legalized abortion. It will be interesting to see how much publicity they receive. I am confident that The Herald-Palladium will continue to be fair.

Ky Reveals Red Chinese Offer

CLEVELAND (AP) — Former South Vietnamese Premier Nguyen Cao Ky says Communist Chinese agents offered him financial support to stage a coup nearly three years ago to neutralize South Vietnam and minimize the Soviet Union's influence in Indochina.

Ky said Friday he discussed the proposal with friends and suggested to U.S. officials the possibility of a neutral South Vietnam without disclosing to them that he had met with the Communist Chinese, but he said he never took the agents up on their offer.

SAY SECURITY TOO TIGHT

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Symphonies Liberation Army members William and Emily Harris say unusually tight security in the courtroom where they will be tried Feb. 2 for kidnapping, robbery and assault is likely to prejudice jurors against them.

Do You REMEMBER?

— 10 Years Ago — Michigan's longest high school basketball winning streak now belongs to Covert, and the Benton Harbor Tigers will have to start all over again. The streak of 35 victories compiled by two state championship Tiger teams came to an end in Ann Arbor Saturday night as Benton Harbor bowed to Ann Arbor in a remarkably low-scoring game, 62-64.

— 25 Years Ago — Exactly one year ago this week, ground was broken for the new Seeley McCord elementary school on McCord street in Benton Harbor. At their regular monthly meeting yesterday, members of the board of education were informed that the building is complete and will be ready for occupancy after the Christmas-New Year holidays.

Named in memory of a Benton Harbor pioneer, the new Seeley McCord school, erected adjacent to the older McCord street school, represents the last word in modern architecture. Built and equipped at a cost of approximately $900,000, it is the first fruit of a major program intended to modernize the city's school facilities and replace existing old buildings.

— 50 Years Ago — Dr. D.B. Waldo, president of Western State Normal college, is scheduled to speak at the open meeting of the St. Joseph Federation of Women's clubs next Thursday, Dec. 10, according to an announcement made today.

Watervliet — Dear old St. Nick has sent a message from "SCL" (Santa Claus Land) exclusively to the Watervliet commission that he will be present at a community Christmas tree entertainment and Christmas tree lighting — If the Parent-Teacher association do the rest — and the club members say they will. The association raised funds last year for gifts for the kiddies to go on the tree and will probably do the same this season, it is announced.

— 75 Years Ago — The Benton Harbor bicycle works is building a limited number of juvenile bicycles for Christmas presents.

The Benton Harbor chief of police reports, just one arrest during the month of November. The millennium is approaching. Early risers discovered several dozen empty beer bottles in the Benton Harbor Baptist church yard this morning. The brethren are not implicated in the emptying of the bottles.

Harold Fyfe of St. Joseph is the latest victim of the mumps.

Perpetrators Gone But Deeds Live On

WASHINGTON — We watch Supreme Court appointments with care and analyze each choice in depth. We know the man or woman chosen for this third branch of government could have a major effect on our lives for years to come.

We tend to forget there's a fourth branch of government — the regulatory agencies — many of which, once set up, are beyond the practical year-to-year control of either the President or Congress. Their powers, in the main, are so broad, and their authority to write regulations and to interpret them is so great, they are, in effect laws unto themselves. They have in their hands virtually unchallengeable power to make or break almost any firm in the United States, to destroy whole sections of industry, or give virtually absolute protection from major competition to any company or group of companies in their field of authority.

They can favor one section of the country over another, discourage technological advances, force higher prices, create artificial shortages which spur inflation and unemployment.

The regulations frequently are so written that some commission can, at will, find any company at any time in violation of some rule or other. The commissioners are thus in a position to favor their friends and penalize their enemies.

The bureaucrats in these agencies often serve for a working lifetime and influence greatly the attitudes of the agencies. The top men most frequently serve for fixed terms — so that a President's influence here may last for years after he has left office. And a new President may find his will thwarted by men installed by a predecessor.

still in positions of power.

Despite concerted Congressional attacks on some of President Ford's appointees, and while our attention is being diverted by the bitter infighting in Congress over changes in the regulatory agencies, Mr. Ford has managed to insert his men with his philosophy as chairman for a major chunk of the regulatory agencies he has on his priority list.

These men are committed to deregulation as a way of life and resolved on a greater use of competition as a substitute for controls wherever possible.

As noted above, the laws setting up these agencies and setting forth their powers and authority are so broad that these new chairmen, when backed by even a minority of other board or commission members, can make radical changes in how industry is regulated these next few years, even if Congress does nothing about Mr. Ford's proposed regulatory commission reforms.

The drive for revised laws, nevertheless, is being pushed with determination by the Ford action group so that future chairmen and members cannot revert to today's "bad old ways." The hope is they'd be so restructured and bled of authority in some essential respect they'll never again be a barrier to that competition which Ford's men believe is the most effective form of regulation.

The proposed laws also aim at giving industry confidence that change is taking place — this to encourage innovations which have been held back for years under the present methods of operation.

McGovern GOP's Biggest Asset

George McGovern recently descended on Louisville, Kentucky, for the Democratic Issues Convention being held there and rendered one of his absolutist Sons of the Wild Jackass speeches on the subject of racial busing. Every indication is that he frocked the blood of Democratic pragmatists like party chairman Robert Strauss, who hope that at long last the Democrats can recapture the White House in 1976. In their most secret hearts, Republicans ought to have a warm spot for Theocratic George.

Outside the hall, of course, Louisville itself is locked in explosive controversy, the inevitable result of court-ordered racial busing in that city and its suburbs. Local officials, including Mayor Harvey I. Sloane reportedly pleaded with McGovern not to stand at Armageddon and battle for the Lord, not right at that moment, at least. But John Brown's spirit marched again in the Louisville auditorium as McGovern warned the party not to "sell its soul on busing."

At Miami in 1972, McGovern threatened to take a party-crippling walk if he were denied the nomination. Before the Miami Convention had even made its decision, that is, McGovern had made a straightforward equation between himself and the imperative of righteousness. The very lines of his countenance, indeed, seem to have been etched by a lifetime of moral superiority.

And, in Louisville, here was McGovern, like a record replayed, making of busing the litmus test of the candidate he could support and still remain morally untarnished. In his speech, he observed ominously that "all of us should warn any candidate who turns to the tactics of racial division and fear that in conscience we cannot support him even if he is the nominee." Now it happens that Sen. Henry M. Jackson of Washington appears at long last, to be strengthening his bid for the nomination, showing a big gain in the most recent Gallup Poll, and b) represents about the closest thing to an orthodox New Deal-styled Democrat it is possible to find these days.

And McGovern was therefore saying that unless Jackson turns around and favors busing he cannot "in conscience" support him.

Interestingly enough, polls of the liberal activists turning up at the Louisville Convention showed that only about half of them were favorably disposed to racial busing. The liberal candidates, such as Morris Udall, have become increasingly addicted to arcane and convoluted formulations on the subject. McGovern stands virtually alone in absolute liberal purity on the subject.

Not surprisingly, given this absolutist stand, McGovern gave the unmistakable impression that the circle of candidates whom he could "in conscience" support is rapidly narrowing to himself.

Ex-Officials Ask Intelligence Curb

WASHINGTON (AP) — Three former defense and national security officials say American covert operations in foreign countries should be sharply curtailed by congressional action.

Former Defense Secretary Clark M. Clifford testified before the panel, which is investigating the operation of U.S. intelligence agencies, along with former deputy defense secretary Cyrus Vance and David A. Phillips, a former CIA official. All three urged that future covert operations be curtailed and controlled by law.

Were it left to me to decide whether we should have government without newspapers or newspapers without government, I should not hesitate to prefer the latter. — Thomas Jefferson.

Ceremonial Visit To Mainland China

Until Mao Tse-Tung or Gerald Ford or those close to either one choose to drop a few comments an outsider is left in the dark as to what the latest summit meeting between the two national leaders accomplished. The comparison for the moment is somewhat like that of a vacationer who is satisfied in taking the trip if only because he would have been unhappy had he stayed at home.

Neither the Peking nor White House centers issued a joint statement as to the results from the top level conversations, the most illuminating remark being a farewell toast by Vice Premier Teng who said, "In the present international situation our two countries face problems of mutual concern and share many common points."

Ford's summation followed in a like vein, plus the addition that "it is only natural the two countries should sometimes disagree on policies and tactics."

It reduces to the intangible that while Ford did not expand the beachhead established by Richard Nixon three years ago he did keep the door open.

Considering how doors have a way of opening and closing in the international field, the four-day visit to the Chinese mainland was time well spent. The hope seemingly exists on both sides that the cordiality expressed in Peking will prevail sufficiently long for the two governments to come at two touchy questions.

One is U.S. recognition of the Nationalist regime on Taiwan.

This island fiefdom is unredeemed territory in the eyes of the Red Chinese and it is safe to say that at this time a full-fledged interchange between the Chinese mainland and our country depends on the liquidation, either diplomatically or territorially, of that independent government.

The second point, stickier in our opinion, than the former, is the Russian-American relationship.

Put in simplest terms, Vice Premier Teng who is accorded the role of master-in-fact of Chinese affairs would shake Ford's hand to the bone is he would renounce detente.

Equally simplistic, it can be said that neither Ford nor other Americans would look upon scrapping detente in exchange for a Red Chinese commitment as any more than the proverbial bird in the hand for two in the bush. Henry Kissinger who joined the Ford entourage made this amply clear in his announced follow-up visit to Moscow.

At the same time, Washington has its reservations as to how far the Russians want to go in putting reality into detente.

The conclusion has to be that Peking and Washington value their fragile relationship and hope it can be fashioned into a more enduring position.

From that viewpoint, Ford's visit yields something tangible.

There is another gain from the trip. Americans are now adjusted to the reality of a summit meeting not necessarily being the equivalent of Moses descending Mt. Sinai.

This is not to suggest that miracles cannot happen, but only that in world affairs, they come slowly.

HEW Flunks

Any lender who manages to lose $1 billion of $8 billion invested over a seven-year period isn't doing a very good managing job. That is the record compiled by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare in its administration of the student loan program.

Repeated studies by Congressional committees have demonstrated widespread negligence in the program. Many of the loan defaults are attributable to students who are more interested in cheating the taxpayers than in improving their education, ns, but not all.

Senate investigators found instances of students who signed up for classes on the loan program, but dropped out without attending. The schools collected the tuition and other fees just the same. HEW picked up the tab.

Another Fringe Benefit For Federal Employees?

The lush pensions and other generous fringes given federal employees have raised the blood pressure of an increasing number of ever more burdened American taxpayers. An election year is just around the corner, and so Congress is taking a look at how some of the bureaucrats' goodies may be cut back.

This has produced more piercing shrieks from the hollows of Foggy Bottom and the heights of Capitol Hill than anything heard east of the Appalachians since Ichabod Crane fled from the headless horseman.

The cries of anguish prompted some

Editors,

There seems to be a bit of unfairness in the coverage of girls' basketball tournaments. This year when St. Joe won their district, they got two pictures and a very large article. Berrien Springs and Cassopolis also had pictures. When Lakeshore won their district for the 3rd year in a row we did not get any pictures, and our article was half the size as St. Joe's.

All season long St. Joe has had top billing. In order to read about Lakeshore you would have to get out a magnifying glass. We have not even had 1 picture all year long.

I want to say what a lousy job your paper did in covering all of the girls' teams in the area, equally. Whoever is in charge of this sure did a bad job of reporting.

NOT ALL PAPERS WERE AS FAIR

Editor,

Please accept my thanks for your publication of the article entitled, "Ear Piercing Needs Approval; Abortion Doesn't", which pertains to the keynote address of Dr. Mildred Jefferson, President of the National Right to Life Committee at the convention of Michigan Citizens for Life, which took place November 7 and 9.

Knowing your stated position on the question of legalized abortion, I find it highly commendable that you would publish an article relative to activities of those who hold opposite views. This news was markedly suppressed by a number of Michigan newspapers and so your publication of it is a singular and most refreshing example of open and unbiased news dissemination.

The National Right to Life President, Dr. Jefferson is virtually a black, Protestant (may I repeat that, Protestant) Joan of Arc in the arena of pro-lifers vs opponents. She was a principal witness for the prosecution in the trial of Dr. Edelin in Boston, Mass. and her testimony weighed heavily in favor of his conviction.

Dr. Jefferson, along with an increasing number of prominent Protestants are actively engaged in the struggle to educate the public about the evils of legalized abortion. Recently, I learned that Mrs. Billy Graham and other important leaders of the Baptist Church had formed a committee to spearhead pressure from the Baptist Church against legalized abortion. It will be interesting to see how much publicity they receive. I am confident that The Herald-Palladium will continue to be fair.

Do You REMEMBER?

— 10 Years Ago —

Michigan's longest high school basketball winning streak now belongs to Covert, and the Benton Harbor Tigers will have to start all over again. The streak of 35 victories compiled by two state championship Tiger teams came to an end in Ann Arbor Saturday night as Benton Harbor bowed to Ann Arbor in a remarkably low-scoring game, 62-54.

— 25 Years Ago —

Exactly one year ago this week, ground was broken for the new Seeley McCord elementary school on McCord street in Benton Harbor. At their regular monthly meeting yesterday, members of the board of education were informed that the building is complete and will be ready for occupancy after the Christmas-New Year holidays.

Named in memory of a Benton Harbor pioneer, the new Seeley McCord school, erected adjacent to the older McCord street school, represents the last word in modern architecture. Built and equipped at a cost of approximately $600,000, it is the first fruit of a major program intended to modernize the city's school facilities and replace existing old buildings.

Perpetrators Gone But Deeds Live On

WASHINGTON — We watch Supreme Court appointments with care and analyze each choice in depth. We know the man or woman chosen for this third branch of government could have a major effect on our lives for years to come.

We tend to forget there's a fourth branch of government — the regulatory agencies — many of which, once set up, are beyond the practical year-to-year control of either the President or Congress. Their powers, in the main, are so broad, and their authority to write regulations and to interpret them is so great, they are, in effect laws unto themselves. They have in their hands virtually unchallengeable power to make or break almost any firm in the United States, to destroy whole sections of industry, or give virtually absolute protection from major competition to any company or group of companies in their field of authority.

They can favor one section of the country over another, discourage technological advances, force higher prices, create artificial shortages which spur inflation and unemployment.

The regulations frequently are so written that some commission can, at will, find any company at any time in violation of some rule or other. The commissioners are thus in a position to favor their friends and penalize their enemies.

The bureaucrats in these agencies often serve for a working lifetime and influence greatly the attitudes of the agencies. The top men most frequently serve for fixed terms — so that a President's influence here may last for years after he has left office. And a new President may find his will thwarted by men installed by a predecessor.

President Nixon's Arthur Burns, for example, is still serving as chairman of the Federal Reserve System, one of numbers of older appointees still in positions of power.

Despite concerted Congressional attacks on some of President Ford's appointees, and while our attention is being diverted by the bitter infighting in Congress over changes in the regulatory agencies, Mr. Ford has managed to insert his men with his philosophy as chairman for a major chunk of the regulatory agencies he has on his priority list.

These men are committed to deregulation as a way of life and resolved on a greater use of competition as a substitute for controls wherever possible.

As noted above, the laws setting up these agencies and setting forth their powers and authority are so broad that these new chairmen, when backed by even a minority of other board or commission members, can make radical changes in how industry is regulated these next few years, even if Congress does nothing about Mr. Ford's proposed regulatory commission reforms.

The drive for revised laws, nevertheless, is being pushed with determination by the Ford action group so that future chairmen and members cannot revert to today's "bad old ways." The hope is they'd be so restructured and bled of authority in some essential respect they'll never again be a barrier to that competition which Ford's men believe is the most effective form of regulation.

The proposed laws also aim at giving industry confidence that change is taking place — this to encourage innovations which have been held back for years under the present methods of operation.

McGovern GOP's Biggest Asset

George McGovern recently descended on Louisville, Kentucky, for the Democratic Issues Convention being held there and rendered one of his absolutist Sons-of-the-Wild-Jackass speeches on the subject of racial busing. Every indication is that he froze the blood of Democratic pragmatists like party chairman Robert Strauss, who hope that at long last the Democrats can recapture the White House in 1976. In their most secret hearts, Republicans ought to have a warm spot for Theocratic George.

Outside the hall, of course, Louisville itself is locked in explosive controversy, the inevitable result of court-ordered racial busing in that city and its suburbs. Local officials, including Mayor Harvey I. Sloane reportedly pleaded with McGovern not to stand at Armageddon and battle for the Lord, not right at that moment, at least. But John Brown's spirit marched again in the Louisville auditorium as McGovern warned the party not to "sell its soul on busing."

At Miami in 1972, McGovern threatened to take a party-crippling walk if he were denied the nomination. Before the Miami Convention had even made its decision, that is, McGovern had made a straightforward equation between himself and the imperative of righteousness. The very lines of his countenance, indeed, seem to have been etched by a lifetime of moral superiority.

And, in Louisville, here was McGovern, like a record replayed, making of busing the litmus test of the candidate he could support and still remain morally untarnished. In his speech, he observed ominously that "all of us should warn any candidate who turns to the tactics of racial division and fear than in conscience we cannot support him even if he is the nominee."

Now it happens that Sen. Henry M. Jackson of Washington a) appears at long last to be strengthening his bid for the nomination, showing a big gain in the most recent Gallup Poll, and b) represents about the closest thing to an orthodox New Deal-styled Democrat it is possible to find these days.

And McGovern was therefore saying that unless Jackson turns around and favors busing he cannot "in conscience" support him.

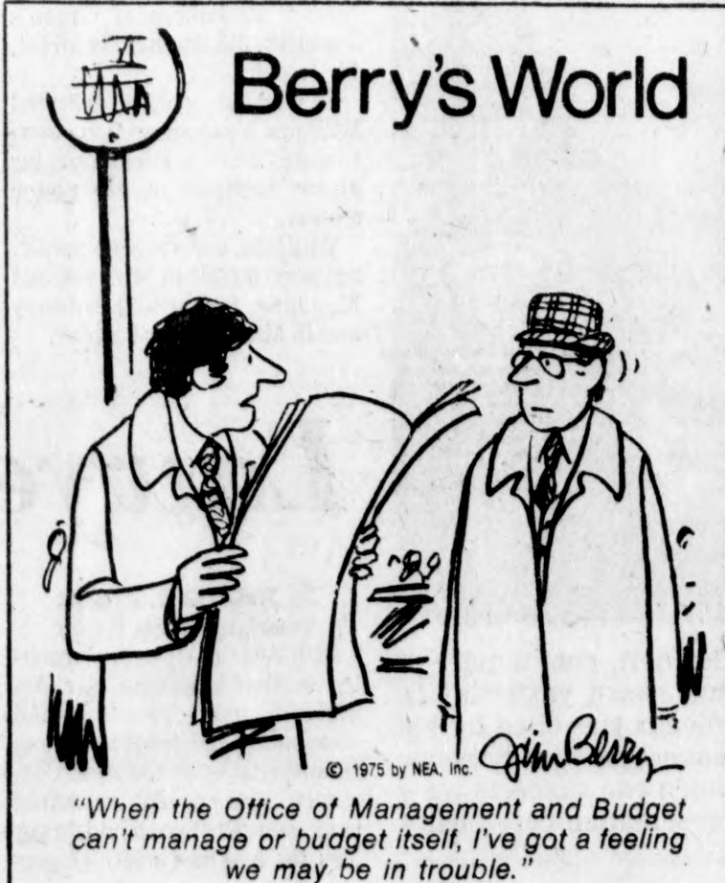

Interestingly enough, polls of the liberal activists turning up at the Louisville Convention showed that only about half of them were favorably disposed to racial busing. The liberal candidates, such as Morris Udall, have become increasingly addicted to arcane and convoluted formulations on the subject. McGovern stands virtually alone in absolute liberal purity on the subject.

Not surprisingly, given this absolutist stand, McGovern gave the unmistakable impression that the circle of candidates whom he could "in conscience" support is rapidly narrowing to himself.

Ex-Officials Ask Intelligence Curb

WASHINGTON (AP) — Three former defense and national security officials say American covert operations in foreign countries should be sharply curtailed by congressional action.

Former Defense Secretary Clark M. Clifford testified before the panel, which is investigating the operation of U.S. intelligence agencies, along with former deputy defense secretary Cyrus Vance and David A. Phillips, a former CIA official. All three urged that future covert operations be curtailed and controlled by law.

$800,000 Earmarked As Loan To Dowagiac

DOWAGIAC — U.S. Rep. Edward Hutchinson (R-St. Joseph) announced yesterday he has been informed by the Farmers Home Administration that it has reserved funds to make an $800,000 low-interest loan to the city of Dowagiac.

The loan will go toward a $3,500,000 sewage treatment plant construction project now underway which is necessary to meet federal standards for treatment of waste waters.

According to Hutchinson's announcement, the loan will be repaid at five per cent interest over 39 years.

Henry Graper Jr., Dowagiac city manager, said that if the city had not received the low-interest loan, the city would have had to sell bonds for $800,000.

He said the loan will save the city about $1 million as bonds would probably have had to be repaid over a 20 year period at an interest rate of eight or nine per cent.

Graper said the city would have been forced to raise water and sewer rates by 50 per cent to repay bonds, but it now will only have to raise rates by 20 to 25 per cent to repay the loan.

Dowagiac has already received grants from the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) totaling $2,963,625 and from the state department of natural resources, $197,575.

The total project cost including engineering comes to an estimated $3,977,100, Graper said. The city has contributed $15,960.

The contract for the treatment plant construction project was awarded last month to Sollitt Construction company of South Bend, which submitted the lowest of 12 bids.

and boosting the fund to $1,053.16.

"Old and new Good Fellows are needed to help put us over the top this year," Santa said.

"Remember, the majority of this year's gifts are going to our elderly citizens who are in need at Christmastime. Many of them have years and years of productivity behind them in business, industry and homemaking. Now through no fault of their own they face a bleak Christmas because of illness, loss of loved ones and financial difficulties," Santa said.

Years ago poor families with children had top priority but they are cared for by various welfare programs, and Santa is turning his attention to elderly shut-ins. A portion of the fund will still go to poor families for whom checks have been made to assure proper use of the gifts.

Two SJ Teens Fined

A pair of St. Joseph teenagers paid over $200 in fines and costs yesterday in Berrien Fifth District court in connection with illegal trapping of muskrats.

Bruce W. Jenkins, 18, of 4703 Woodland, and John R. Nelson, 17, of 3621 Lake Shore Drive, each paid $33 for trapping without a license and $33 for possession of illegal traps — traps not bearing the owner's name.

Jenkins was also sentenced to make restitution of $24 for trapping eight muskrats illegally, and Nelson was sentenced to $33 for possession of an unlicensed shotgun in an auto.

All of the conservation violations occurred in Lincoln township Nov. 30.

Berrien Detective Files Suit

A Berrien sheriff's detective has filed suit in Berrien Circuit court against a gun manufacturer and a local retailer, claiming he was wounded when a gun he was carrying in his pocket accidentally fired.

The plaintiff, Det. Gary Methling, seeks $250,000 damages from the Browning Arms Co. and John E. Piedt & Sons of Benton township.

The suit claims Browning manufactured the 9 millimeter pistol which Methling purchased from Piedt's as a sidearm, and contends Methling was wounded April 22, 1974, when the gun fired while he was carrying it in his trousers pocket at Fairplain Plaza.

Methling claims the bullet entered his leg causing injuries to his leg, knee, ankle, and foot.

The suit charges the gun was defective because it fired without the trigger being pulled and because it was able to fire from the half-cocked position. The suit contends Browning represented that the pistol could only fire when the hammer struck the firing pin from the full-cocked position.

Van Buren Road Pact Talks Due Sunday

By DENNIS COGSWELL

Paw Paw Bureau

LAWRENCE — Representatives of the Van Buren county road commission and its hourly employees are scheduled to meet at the bargaining table here Sunday in an attempt to work out a new labor contract.

The commission's 51 hourly workers, who are represented by the American Federation of State, County, and Municipal Employees union (AFSCME), have reportedly threatened to strike if their demands are not met.

A local union official declined comment yesterday, and Robert Chittenden, a bargaining agent representing the union, could not be reached for comment.

But a letter to the editor in a weekly newspaper published in Paw Paw this week warned that the employees "may be going on strike" Monday. It was signed only as "Van Buren county road commission employees."

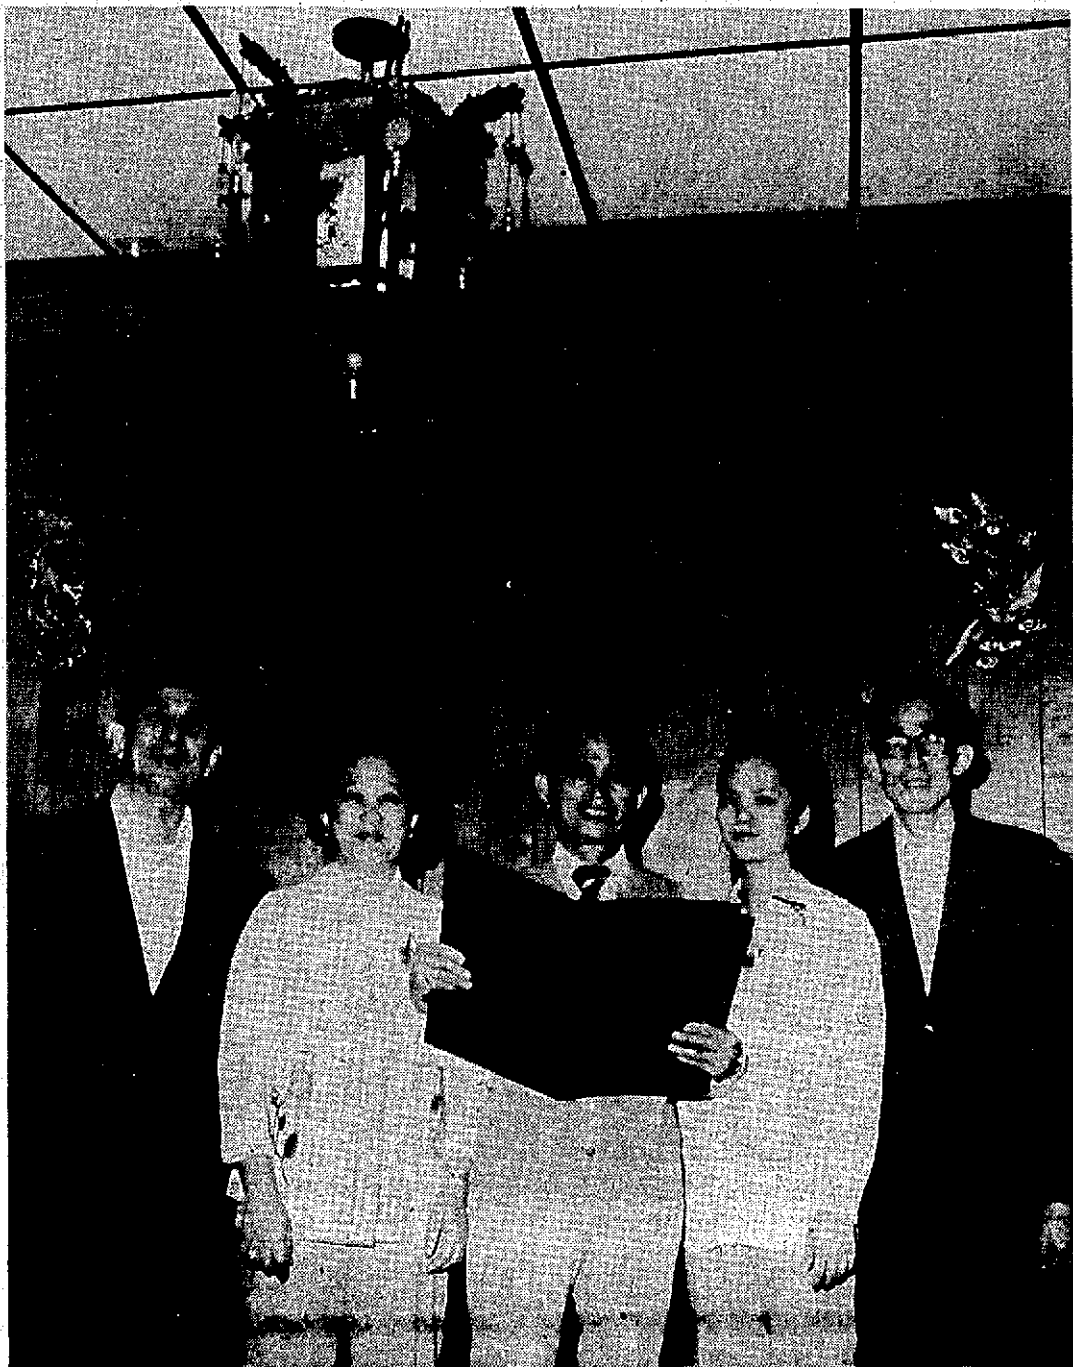

However, Paul Kaiser, Van Buren highway engineer-manager, said he had received no strike notice or any notice of even a strike vote.

"I have high hopes that Sunday we'll be able to wrap this thing up," he said. "I'd be very disappointed if we didn't."

Kaiser said remaining talks will center around "a couple of technical issues." The union is reportedly seeking a pay hike and cost of living allowance.

The employees voted to join AFSCME last Dec. 3. From 1966 until then they had been represented by their own association.

Their last contract under their old union expired at the end of last December. Since last January they have been working without a contract, although they have continued to receive the same wages and benefits that they got under the pact that expired, Kaiser said.

New St. Joe Restaurant Is Fulfillment Of Dream

A search for his own restaurant that took him half-way around the world will end for Tin Yok (Hank) Chan when he opens Chan's Garden, 310 State street, St. Joseph, Tuesday morning.

Natives of Canton, China, Mr. and Mrs. Chan lived in the British Crown colony of Hong Kong and in Montevideo, Uruguay, before coming to the United States States and Muskegon in

At Muskegon, Chan was chef in the House of Chan, a showplace restaurant that originally was located in downtown Muskegon. Two years ago a new House of Chan was opened in Norton Shores.

There is no relationship between the owners of the House of Chan and Tin Yok Chan.

He is more familiarly known as "Hank," a nickname salesmen and fellow workers gave him trying to pronounce his Chinese first name.

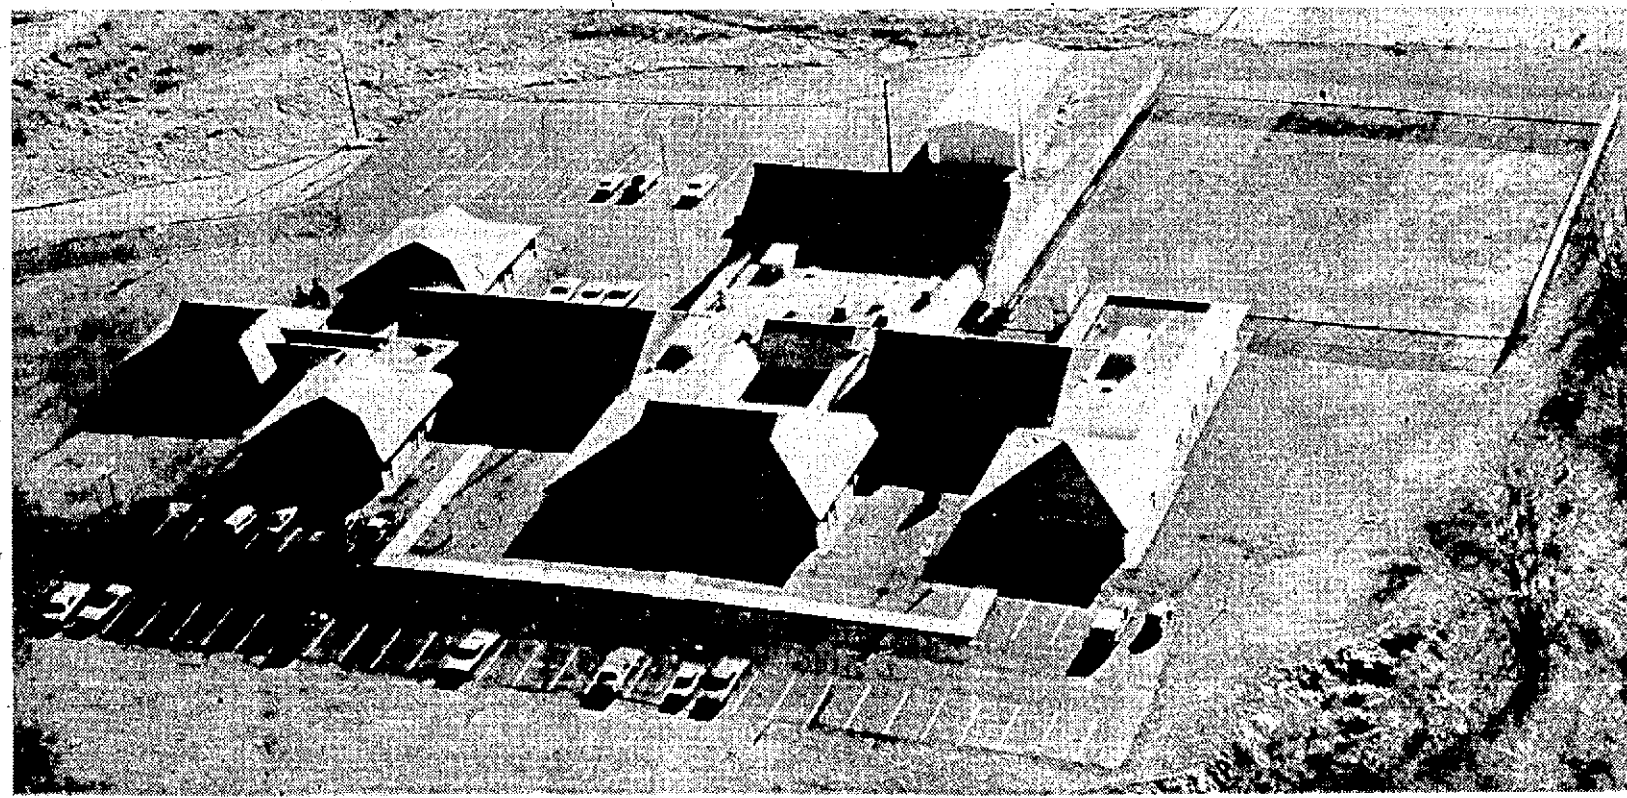

Two years ago the Chans began looking for a restaurant site in Michigan. Last summer Marina's restaurant closed when its owner, Mrs. Marina Donohue, became ill.

Mrs. Dorothy Miller of Lake Michigan Real Estate, St.

Joseph, notified the Chans of the availability of a restaurant site and the deal was completed this fall.

The Chans have completely remodeled the restaurant. Decor is Chinese. Chinese and American menus will be featured.

Assisting the Chans will be their daughter, Mary, and two uncles, Benjamin Wu and Pok Yin Ng of New York.

New St. Joe Restaurant Is Fulfillment Of Dream

A search for his own restaurant that took him half-way around the world will end for Tin Yok (Hank) Chan when he opens Chan's Garden, 310 State street, St. Joseph, Tuesday morning.

Natives of Canton, China, Mr. and Mrs. Chan lived in the British Crown colony of Hong Kong and in Montevideo, Uruguay, before coming to the United States States and Muskegon in 1968.

At Muskegon, Chan was chef in the House of Chan, a showplace restaurant that originally was located in downtown Muskegon. Two years ago a new House of Chan was opened in Norton Shores.

There is no relationship between the owners of the House of Chan and Tin Yok Chan.

He is more familiarly known as "Hank," a nickname salesmen and fellow workers gave him trying to pronounce his Chinese first name.

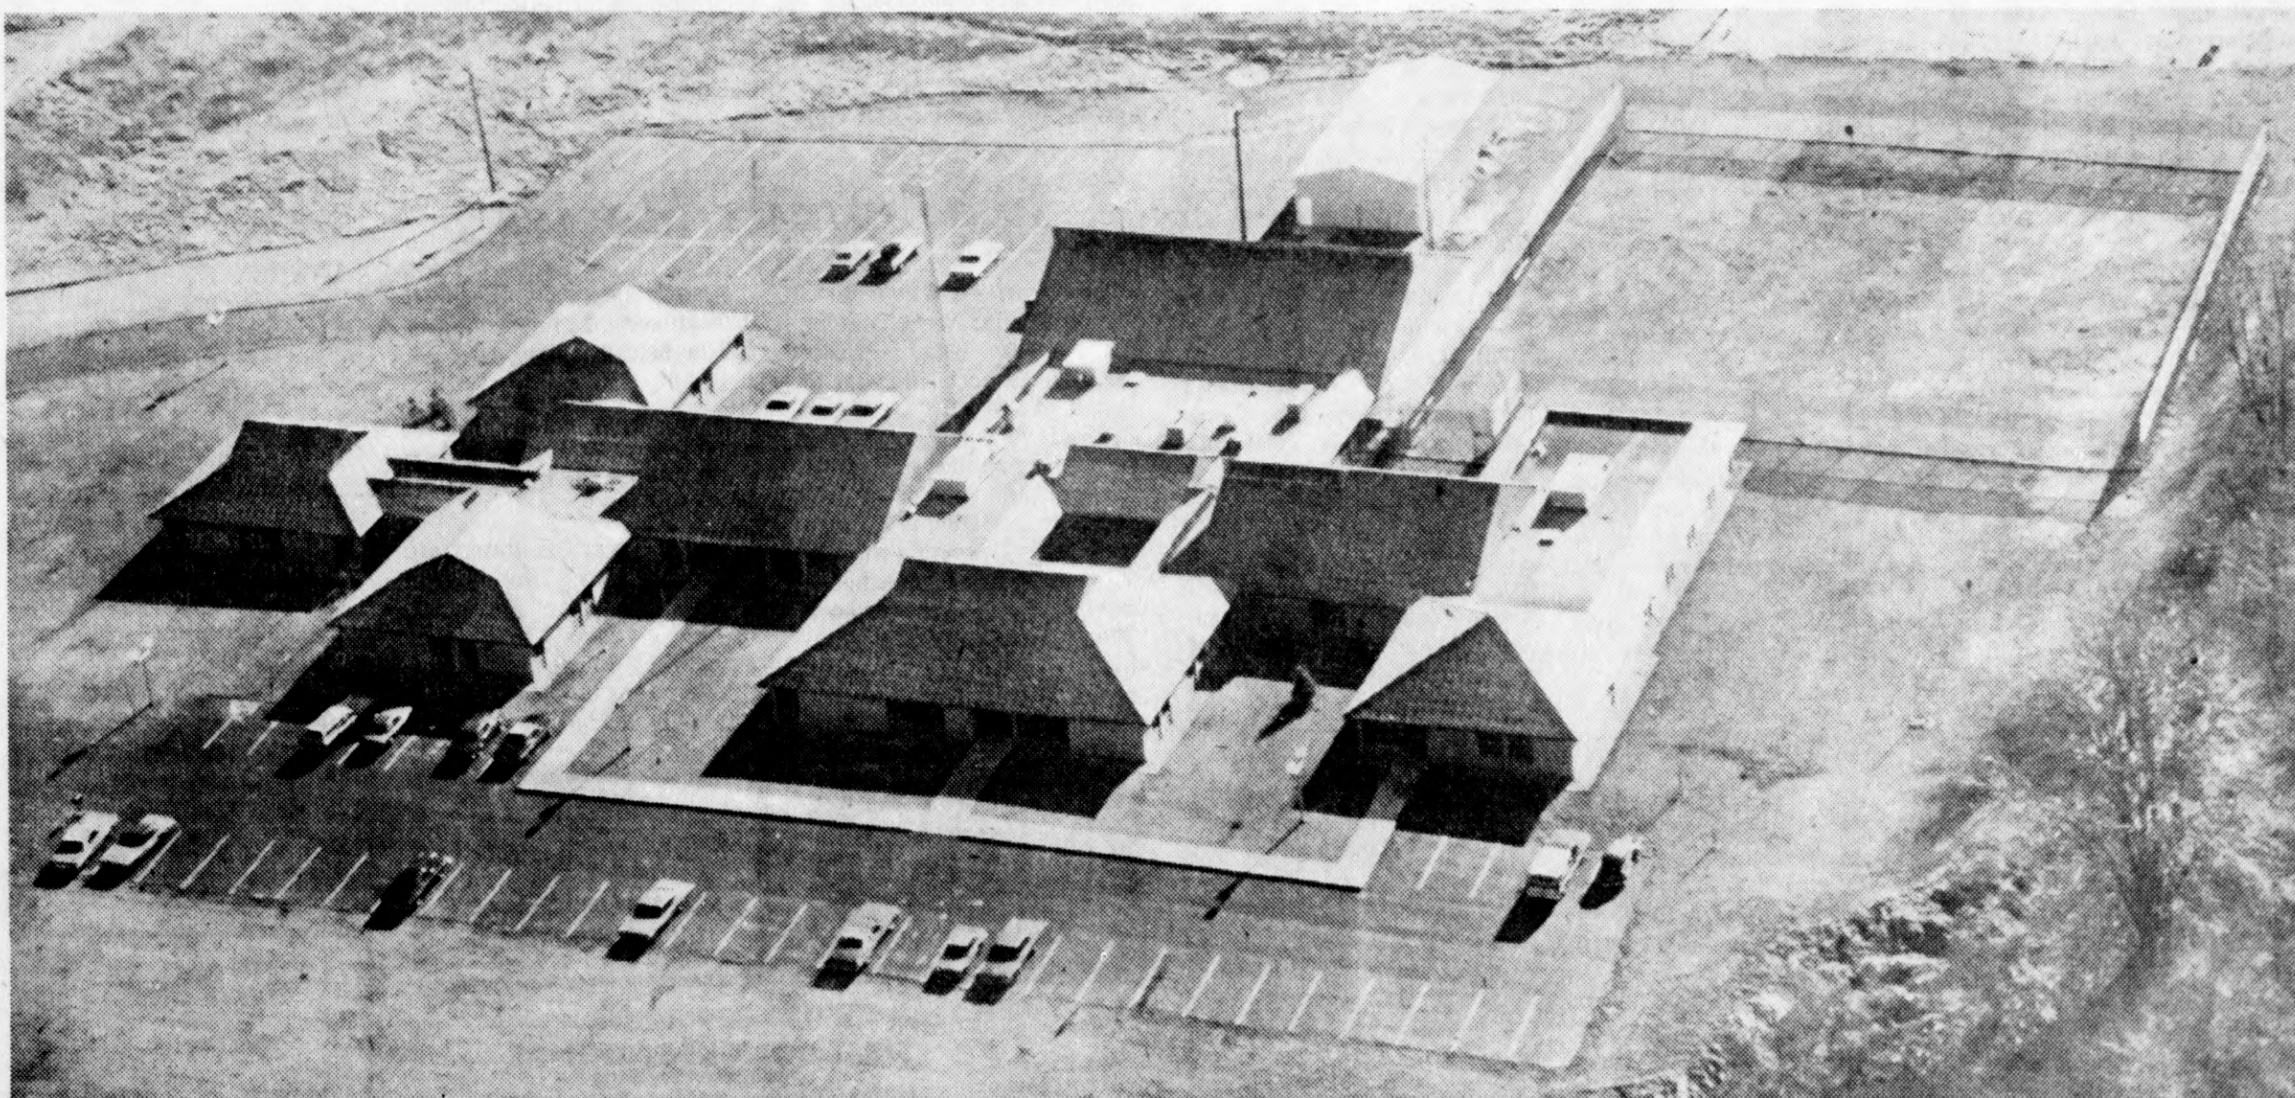

Two years ago the Chans began looking for a restaurant site in Michigan. Last summer Marina's restaurant closed when its owner, Mrs. Marina Donohue, became ill.

Mrs. Dorothy Miller of Lake Michigan Real Estate, St.

Joseph, notified the Chans of the availability of a restaurant site and the deal was completed this fall.

The Chans have completely remodeled the restaurant. Decor is Chinese. Chinese and American menus will be featured.

Assisting the Chans will be their daughter, Mary, and two uncles, Benjamin Wu and Pok Yin Ng of New York.

JUVENILE CENTER OPEN HOUSE: Berrien county's $1.4 million juvenile center at Berrien Center will be open for public inspection tomorrow during open house from 2 to 5 p.m. The open house is sponsored by Berrien Juvenile court and its advisory council.

Candy For Holiday Magic

HOMEMADE CANDY

Make Giant Lollipops

Long before sugarplums were dancing in the minds of young and old alike, people were making candy.

Early Egyptian cooks catered to the sweet tooth of the pharaohs making confections from dates, flour, honey and almonds, and, today, many are rediscovering the magical art of candy-making.

It seems almost like magic because a basic hard candy mixture like sugar, corn syrup, and water changes right before your very eyes from a shapeless form into colorful bright Candy Cushions or Snipped Candy.

From the same batch of candy syrup you can make perfectly round giant lollipops by pouring the hot fluid candy mixture in a foil lined paper plate or snip the candy partially hardened into small pieces with scissors.

For Cushions, the mixture is poured into a pan and deeply scored before it hardens.

In this simple candy mixture, as in most hard candy recipes, corn syrup is an essential ingredient included to prevent crystallization.

Pick a cool, dry day during the holiday season and start creating more than visions of lollipops in the kitchen.

For the best results, don't cook anything else while cooking candy since even the steam created by boiling water for tea causes sticky candy. Once you've finished, store the hardened and dry candy in air tight containers.

BASIC HARD CANDY MIXTURE

Three and three-fourths cups sugar
One and one-half cups light corn syrup

One cup water
One teaspoon flavoring oil or one tablespoon extract

Five to six drops food coloring
In heavy three-quarter saucepan stir together sugar, corn syrup and water.

Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until mixture boils. Boil without stirring, until temperature reaches 300 degrees on candy thermometer or until small amount dropped into very cold water separates into threads which are hard and brittle. Remove from heat.

Add flavoring oil or extract and food coloring. Use as desired to make Lollipops, Candy Cushions, or Snipped Candy.

To make large Lollipops: Cut one-eighth inch thick dowels into twelve (seven-inch) lengths. Drill small hole at one end for hanging.

Line twelve (five and one-half inch) sturdy paper plates with heavy duty aluminum foil. Insert dowel through edge of plate near bottom so that one-half of dowel is inside plate.

Prepare Basic Hard Candy Mixture. Pour enough of hot mixture into each plate to cover bottom of plate and dowel. Let stand thirty to sixty minutes until hard.

To remove from plates, cut through plate and foil to dowel and lift out lollipop. Using Decorating Icing (recipe follows) in decorating bag fitted with writing tube, form designs and borders on lollipops. Makes twelve decorated lollipops.

Decorating Icing: In small bowl of electric mixer stir together one and one-half cups unsifted confectioners sugar, one egg white and one-eighth teaspoon cream of tartar. Beat on high speed of electric mixer ten minutes.

To make Candy Cushions: Grease two (eight by eight by two inch) pans. Prepare Basic Hard Candy Mixture. Pour into prepared pans. Cool a few minutes until a film forms on top.

Using a sharp knife, mark surface in three-fourths inch squares. Begin marking candy from outside and work toward center.

With a wide metal spatula, press along marked lines. Do not break through the film surface. If lines do not hold, cool candy a while longer, then continue to press along marked lines pressing the spatula deeper without breaking film.

When spatula can be pressed to bottom of pan in all lines, candy is shaped.

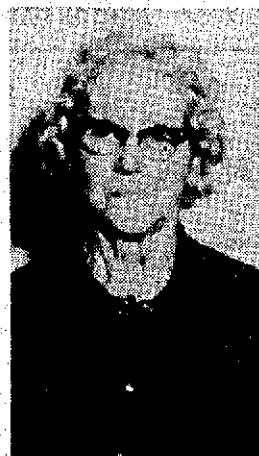

Cool, turn out of pan and break into squares. Store in tightly-covered container.

To make Snipped Candy: Spread one-half cup confectioners sugar in fifteen and one-half by ten by one inch baking pan. Prepare Hard Candy Mixture.

Pour onto confectioners sugar in prepared pan. As mixture begins to cool start working around the edges which cool first. Cut off strip with scissors and snip strip into small pieces onto waxed paper.

When cool, shake off excess confectioners sugar. Note: Since mixture cools quickly, it is easier if two people snip.

Brigham Young University Will Fight For Standards

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

DALLIN H. OAKS

The moral standards demanded by Brigham Young University are a rarity on the modern educational scene, and the Mormons who run the university are fighting what they consider a threat to its integrity by the federal government.

Taking such a stance of resistance is unusual for the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, which traditionally has stressed civic dutifulness and compliance with governing authority.

But "our justification as an institution is at stake," says the university's president, Dallin H. Oaks, a former trial attorney and law professor.

"He says the new controls have appalled many church-run colleges."

"What they're doing is illegal, goes beyond the act of Congress and beyond the U.S. Constitution." He notes that not in this century have Mormons raised such a challenge to government regulations.

In this case, however, they strike at "an important part of our function as a Christian teaching institution, at part of our religious philosophy," he said in an interview. "It's a fundamental matter."

As unusual as the Mormon protest are the university's codes of conduct themselves, which insist on standards of personal behavior and appearance that have gone by the wayside on most campuses.

Under those rules, students and staff must adhere to sexually distinguishing modes of dress and grooming, shun drugs, tobacco, alcohol, coffee and tea, disavow cheating or other dishonesty, and pledge adherence to the law of chastity.

Violations are cause for expulsion. Any student involved in pre-marital or extra-marital sex are "counseled out" by their religious counselors, who also interview them before admission to determine if they are morally qualified. They sign forms attesting to their moral commitments.

moral standards are applied to both sexes. But he said the university will not heed parts of the new regulations that impede it from upholding its moral values.

Students rejected or expelled because of drugs, stealing or illicit sex, he said, may be readmitted only after repentance. "Nothing makes us happier, but it takes a while," he said. "Our philosophy is that children of God who make mistakes should be called to account so they can begin repentance and get back on the path of growth."

However, "sexual sin is so serious it requires a prolonged period of repentance — measured in years, not days," he said.

Oaks said the university also will refuse to abandon its requirements of distinguishing dress for men and women, rules barring long hair for men and jeans for women. "Differences in dress and grooming are proper expressions of God-given differences in the sexes," Oaks said.

"Men are to be men and look like men, and women are to be women and look like women," he said. "The unisex style attacks that difference."

The new regulations deny federal aid to any institution not conforming. Brigham Young gets no direct federal aid, but receives about $1.5 million under federal research contracts, and about 3,000 of its students get some form of federal aid that would be affected.

Declaring its refusal to comply, the university said: "If our government not only abandons the advocacy of moral standards but positively prohibits the practice of such values at teaching institutions, as these regulations appear to do, the destruction of America as a great nation will be both imminent and inevitable."

THE BIBLE

No. 216. God Challenges Job

"Suddenly, the Lord answered Job from the whirlwind: 'Who is this that darkeneth counsel by words without knowledge? Gird up now thy loins like a man; for I will demand of thee, and answer thou me.'" (Job 38:2-3)

Then the Lord asked Job several questions which the Almighty alone could answer and Job gradually began to realize that he should not question God's judgment. He answered the Lord, "I have heard of thee by the hearing of the ear; but now mine eye seeth thee. Wherefore I abhor myself, and repent in dust and ashes." (Job 42:5-6)

Then God chastised Eliphaz, Bildad, and Zophar because they had not been correct in what they had said. Next, the Lord ordered them to prepare a burnt offering so that Job could pray for them. When this was done, the Lord restored Job's wealth and happiness; in fact, Job received twice as much as he had owned earlier. "After this lived Job an hundred and forty years, and saw his sons, and his sons' sons, even four generations. So Job died, being old and full of days." (Job 42:16-17)

THE BIBLE

No. 216. God Challenges Job

"Suddenly, the Lord answered Job from the whirlwind: 'Who is this that darkens counsel by words without knowledge? Gird up now thy loins like a man; for I will demand of thee, and answer thou me.' (Job 38:2-3)

Then the Lord asked Job several questions which the Almighty alone could answer and Job gradually began to realize that he should not question God's judgment. He answered the Lord, "I have heard of thee by the hearing of the ear: but now mine eye seeth thee. Wherefore I abhor myself, and repent in dust and ashes." (Job 42:5-6)

Then God chastised Eliphaz, Bildad, and Zophar because they had not been correct in what they had said. Next, the Lord ordered them to prepare a burnt offering so that Job could pray for them. When this was done, the Lord restored Job's wealth and happiness; in fact, Job received twice as much as he had owned earlier. "After this lived Job an hundred and forty years, and saw his sons, and his sons' sons, even four generations. So Job died, being old and full of days." (Job 42:16-17)

'Your Problems' By Ann Landers

It's Not Only Poor Shoes

Dear Ann Landers: To a recent letter from one of your readers signed "Too Late For Me," you replied, "It is the responsibility of parents to see to it that their children go into adulthood with healthy, normal feet. All it takes is shoes that fit."

As president of the Illinois College of Podiatric Medicine, I can tell you that statement is erroneous. Statistics which we have compiled over a period of several years show that only 14 per cent of all children's foot problems are directly related to ill-fitting shoes. The remaining 86 per cent have problems that were present at birth and became aggravated by inappropriate care which included ill-fitting shoes.

Most of the conditions found in children's feet can be helped with professional treatment by a doctor of podiatric medicine. — Philip R. Brachman, D.P.M.

Dear P.R.B., D.P.M.: Thank you for setting me straight. You can be sure the shoe industry will be delighted with your letter as well as your colleagues in the field of podiatry. I must say your statistics were a revelation to me.

Soft Spot

Dear Ann Landers: I am at the end of the line. I hope you can tell me what to do. I'm going crazy.

For two years I've been hooked on this nutty broad. She is the biggest liar in the world. I can't trust her for half an hour behind my back. She cheats on me left and right. When I catch her she cries and begs me to take her back — says she had a couple drinks too many and that she didn't know what she was doing.

The last time she pulled that I said, "We're through. Get out of my life and stay out." When I came home that night she was sitting on the floor in the hall outside my apartment, bawling her eyes out. I couldn't stand it so I forgave her. Five days later she slipped out with a friend of mine, up to her old tricks again.

My doctor has me on tranquilizers because of this miserable woman. I know. I should give her up but I can't seem to do it. Whenever I throw her out she comes back and cries and I give in. Please tell me what to do. — Soft Spot

Dear Friend: You have a "soft spot" all right. It's your head. Apparently you can't live with that "nutty broad" and you can't live without her either.

Some people set themselves up for agony-producing situations because they feel they need to be punished. Of course it's sick, but they won't admit it. They call themselves "soft-hearted."

The day you are able to put that liar out of your life for good you'll know you are getting well. Good luck. I hope it's soon.

ANN LANDERS

my cousin from Davenport was visiting me. The phone rang. I was grocery shopping and my cousin answered. It was my daughter Sara calling from Kansas City. (She always calls station-to-station because it's cheaper.) When Sara heard my cousin's voice she was annoyed and I don't blame her. She had to pay for the call.

I say it's rude to answer the phone in someone else's home. Am I right? — Mad

Dear Mad: The natural response to a ringing phone is to answer it. If you don't want your guests to answer your phone when you're out, just tell them.

What's pruder? What's O.K.? If you aren't sure, you need some help. It's available in the booklet: "Necking and Petting — What Are the Limits?" Mail your request to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 1400, Elgin, Ill. 60120, enclosing 50 cents in coin and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

The enormous success that has been attained in recent years with total replacement of the hip joint has stimulated further research in this area.

Replacing defective hips with special metals and plastics is now almost routine procedure.

The experience gained has stimulated research workers to perform similar surgery on defective knees, elbows and joints of the hands.

Limbs, fingers and toes that were virtually useless because of deformities will soon be candidates for replacement with artificial joints.

Surgical advances in this field are exciting evidence of the value of continued research.

A great deal of controversy has existed for years about the so-called "youth drug" first discovered in Romania.

The base of the "youth drug" is essentially an anesthetic, procaine. There were some who were enthusiastic about this drug and others who totally rejected it.

A group of doctors at Duke University's Center for Study of the Aging have embarked on a definitive study to see if they can substantiate or deny the value of the "youth drug."

The early results so far suggest that there may perhaps be some value to the drug. The studies are just beginning and therefore people should not be tempted to buy this drug without the advice of their doctor.

When more positive results are established further reports will be brought to the attention of physicians everywhere.

DR. LESTER COLEMAN has prepared a special booklet entitled "Alcoholism — A Family Disease." It probes this grave problem and offers hopeful advice. For your copy, send 25 cents in coin and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Lester L. Coleman, M.D., (Alcoholism booklet), P.O. Box 5178, Grand Central Station, New York City 10017. By Oswald & James Jacoby

A psychic bid is one designed to give misinformation. In the early '30s such bids were often called Jacobys because young Oswald Jacoby was known to bid them frequently.

Forty years later, old Oswald Jacoby has given them up, but Jim still tries one on occasion.

His one-spade bid in the East seat, made in rubber bridge game turned out to be super-successful. It wasn't too risky. He wasn't vulnerable and could always run to diamonds if he got into spade trouble.

If Jim has passed or raised diamonds immediately the chances are that North and South would get to four spades and wind up making five odd. They might still have found spades if South had doubled one spade, but South elected to bid hearts and North raised him to game.

West opened a spade. South rose with dummy's ace and led a trump, but it did him no good. West grabbed the first heart, led a second spade which Jim ruffed. Jim led a diamond in his partner's ace, whereupon a second diamond ruff set the unfortunate declarer.

Ask the Jacobys

A Quebec reader wants to know what we would open the bidding with, holding:

AK 8 5 5 K 2 4 K J 3 A K 10 4.

Our answer is one notrump. With 16 high-card points and 5-3-2 distribution our hand fulfills all requirements for an opening notrump. We bid it in spite of holding a five-card major suit.

The enormous success that has been attained in recent years with total replacement of the hip joint has stimulated further research in this area.

Replacing defective hips with special metals and plastics is now almost routine procedure.

The experience gained has stimulated research workers to perform similar surgery on defective knees, elbows and joints of the hands.

Limbs, fingers and toes that were virtually useless because of deformities will soon be candidates for replacement with artificial joints.

Surgical advances in this field are exciting evidence of the value of continued research.

A great deal of controversy has existed for years about the so-called "youth drug" first discovered in Romania.

The base of the "youth drug" is essentially an anesthetic, procaine. There were some who were enthusiastic about this drug and others who totally rejected it.

A group of doctors at Duke University's Center for Study of the Aging have embarked on a definitive study to see if they can substantiate or deny the value of the "youth drug."

The early results so far suggest that there may perhaps be some value to the drug. The studies are just beginning and therefore people should not be tempted to buy this drug without the advice of their doctor.

When more positive results are established further reports will be brought to the attention of physicians everywhere.

DR. LESTER COLEMAN has prepared a special booklet entitled "Alcoholism — A Family Disease." It probes this grave problem and offers hopeful advice. By Oswald & James Jacoby

A psychic bid is one designed to give misinformation. In the early '30s such bids were often called Jacobys because young Oswald Jacoby was known to bid them frequently.

Forty years later, old Oswald Jacoby has given them up, but Jim still tries one on occasion.

His one-spade bid in the East seat, made in rubber bridge game turned out to be super-successful. It wasn't too risky. He wasn't vulnerable and could always run to diamonds if he got into spade trouble.

If Jim has passed or raised diamonds immediately the chances are that North and South would get to four spades and wind up making five odd. They might still have found spades if South had doubled one spade, but South elected to bid hearts and North raised him to game.

West opened a spade. South rose with dummy's ace and led a trump, but it did him no good. West grabbed the first heart, led a second spade which Jim ruffed. Jim led a diamond to his partner's ace, whereupon a second diamond ruff set the unfortunate declarer.

Ask the Jacobys

A Quebec reader wants to know what we would open the bidding with, holding:

▲ A Q 8 6 5 ♥ K 2 ♦ K J 3 ♣ K 10 4.

Our answer is one notrump. With 16 high-card points and 5-3-2 distribution our hand fulfills all requirements for an opening notrump. We bid it in spite of holding a five-card major suit.

President Arrives In Manila For Visit

SEN. JOHN OTTERBACHER Will introduce reform bill

COSMETIC KING DIES
LOS ANGELES (AP) — Louis Factor, former director and vice president of Max Factor and Co., died Thursday at 68.

Ford, who had stopped earlier in Indonesia, said that despite the remarkable changes in the world, "the relationship between our two countries has deepened and matured." He spoke of the years of common history, a reference to the 46-year period of American rule here.

One of the subjects the President will discuss in his overnight stopover here will be American bases. The Philippines wants control of the bases restored to them, which the United States accepts, but what it wants to work out is what this would mean in practice.

In his welcoming remarks, Marcos told Ford that The Philippines considered the United States "its strongest ally. It will so remain for a long time to come."

But he said also "there are new realities in the world" in discussing what he called the partnership that has allowed the United States "to maintain the concentration of the greatest naval and aerial power in this part of the world." This was a reference to the American Clark Air Base, 40 miles north of here, and the navy base at Subic Bay, 45 miles to the northwest.

Marcos said The Philippines was a small power "but an independent and free country nonetheless... We, too, seek an authentic role in the future."

The Philippine president added, "While America alone may be unable to solve all the problems of the world, there is no serious problem in the world that can be solved without America."

He appealed for generosity and candor in reexamining U.S.-Philippine relations.

Ford shook hands and patted youngsters until he and Marcos entered the presidential limousine, which drove slowly out of the airport for a seven-mile drive to the presidential Malacanang Palace.

Along the way, thousands of other children, armed forces personnel and government employees danced and mimed portions of Philippine history in a program called "History of the Race."

Before departing from Jakarta three hours earlier, Ford met privately with Indonesian President Suharto, after which the two presidents issued a joint communique that "expressed the intention of the United States to continue to provide substantial aid to Indonesia in support of Indonesia's development efforts."

New Bill Would Overhaul Welfare System

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A state lawmaker has taken the wraps off a bill to reform the state's complex welfare system by tightening up procedures for recipients, providers and the state bureaucracy.

Sen. John Otterbacher, D-Grand Rapids, emphasized Friday the legislation is intended to curb abuses not only by welfare recipients, but also by doctors, nursing homes and others who provide services, and the Department of Social Services, which administers the programs.

"For too long, 'welfare reform' has been applied only to politically popular crackdowns on recipients, while we prefer to overlook reform of provider abuse and bureaucratic inefficiency," Otterbacher said. "What is fair for recipients is fair for providers and bureaucrats, too."

But, he said, the bill will not take the place of needed "radical reform of the welfare system at the federal level."

Otterbacher, chairman of the Senate committee which will hold public hearings on the 100-page bill, said it would be introduced Monday with bipartisan support.

A companion measure will be introduced in the House, he said.

The measure attempts a total rewrite of Michigan's Social Welfare Act of 1939, which, Otterbacher said, "has become an almost incomprehensible mish-mash of amendments added over a 36-year span."

Otterbacher said the bill would include the following procedures:

—For recipients: Requirements to inform the department if they get too much money, that they must pursue all potential sources of income, to register for employment services or training, and to report all changes in their circumstances promptly.

—In specific policies: Provisions to recoup overpayments to recipients and repayment of underpayments; annual statements to recipients on their grants, limiting children's absence from the home if they are to count for ADC eligibility; revisions in property limitations and exemptions to reflect cost-of-living increases, and to make verifications of information provided by the recipient.

—For providers: Recovery of state money if doctors make false statements on medical billings; tougher felony provisions for fraud on the part of providers; procedures to withhold payments under certain conditions, and new guidelines for nursing homes to curb abuses.

—For the Department of Social Services: Clarification of the department's relationship with various county departments and social services boards, taking the responsibility for monitoring medical care provided for recipients and for "program integrity," and felony provisions for any department employee who authorizes assistance for someone known not to be eligible.

"I sincerely believe that most people are willing to provide assistance to those who are down and out," Otterbacher said. "But they are sick and tired of seeing governmental systems run with the efficiency of a third-rate business. This is a good bill — it is both firm and fair to all parties involved."

President Arrives In Manila For Visit

MANILA, The Philippines (AP) — President Ford flew to The Philippines today for a second courtesy call on a Southeast Asian ally before returning home from his China trip.

Ford, greeted at the airport by President and Mrs. Ferdinand E. Marcos, said, "I find it very significant that this visit to Pacific nations should conclude here in The Philippines among some of my country's best and oldest Asian friends."

The two presidents slowly wound their way through some of the 3,000 school children, many of them youngsters of armed forces personnel, who were dressed in colorful tribal and peasant costumes, chanting, dancing and playing local instruments.

Ford, who had stopped earlier in Indonesia, said that despite the remarkable changes in the world, "the relationship between our two countries has deepened and matured." He spoke of the years of common history, a reference to the 48-year period of American rule here.

STATE TO LOSE LOCOMOTIVE? State Rep. U.S. Asks UN To Condemn All Violence In Mideast

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The United States says the U.N. Security Council should act against all violence in the Middle East and hints it might again veto "one-sided" condemnations of Israel.

Progress toward peace will not come "through the adoption of one-sided resolutions which leave one party believing it is the victim of discrimination and bias," U.S. Ambassador Daniel P. Moynihan told the council Friday in its second day of a debate over Israel's bombings of Palestinian camps in Lebanon.

Moynihan's statement pointed to U.S. disapproval of the only resolution so far before the debate, which resumes Monday. Sponsored by the five nonaligned nations on the 15-member council, the resolution "strongly" condemns the government of Israel for its "premeditated" air attacks against Lebanon and demands that the Jewish state "desist forthwith" from further military action against Lebanon.

Moynihan did not directly threaten a veto, but he said the United States preferred to support "an appropriate resolution" condemning "all acts of violence in the Middle East, particularly those which result in the deaths of innocent civilians."

He spoke in the presence of Palestine Liberation Organization delegates, who were invited for the first time to participate in Security Council proceedings, over strenuous U.S. opposition.

Moynihan said the United States "deeply deplores" the Israeli bombings, which Lebanese police said killed more than 100 persons. "Just as we have consistently deplored those despicable terror incidents which have caused the loss of life in Israel."

Two of the nine American vetoes cast in the United Nations have been on the Middle East question. Each time, the United States made similar warnings against unbalanced resolutions.

On July 28, 1973, it branded "highly partisan and unbalanced" and vetoed a resolution that would have censured Israel for not withdrawing from occupied Arab lands.

The previous year, the United States vetoed a resolution condemning Israeli air raids that made no mention of the slaying of Israeli athletes by Palestinian guerrillas at the Olympic games in Munich, West Germany.

Meeting simultaneously on Friday, the General Assembly voted 84 to 17 with 27 abstentions to ask all countries to give no military or economic aid to Israel so long as it "continues to occupy Arab territories and deny the inalienable" rights of the Palestinians.

Allegan Sheriff Produces Letter To Back Claim

ALLEGAN — Allegan Sheriff Robert Whitcomb has said he has official papers that disprove claims of Allegan county commissioners that board members did not order the layoff of three deputies.

Whitcomb said in a written statement that on Oct. 27, he received a letter from the board's finance committee informing him that $8,000 was being trimmed from the permanent salaries account of the department's budget.

The committee also recommended, Whitcomb said, "the termination of a number of employees for the remainder of 1975 to equal salaries in the amount of $8,000."

Whitcomb provided a copy of the letter from the finance committee to back up his claim.

The letter was signed by five commissioners and Jerry Lohman, the county board chairman.

Deputies have been picketing the sheriff's department in protest over the layoffs.

Several county officials had claimed that while there was a sheriff's department budget cut, the sheriff had the option to lay off personnel or cut fund allowances for other items.

The bargaining unit for Allegan county sheriff's deputies has also taken the county board to task for the budget cut and the layoffs.

Six Area Students Get Grants

KALAMAZOO — Six southwestern Michigan students at Western Michigan university have received scholarships for the coming fall semester, according to university officials.

The six were among 89 paper science and engineering department students to receive scholarships from the Paper Technology Foundation at the university.

Scholarships are renewable for eight semesters based on classroom performance, the spokesman said.

Charles Keiso, Dowagiac, $252; Richard V. Oney, New Buffalo, $315; Andrew R. Knoll, Niles, $318; Karen Ross, Paw Paw, $252; and from Watervliet, Jeffrey M. Brock, $336, and David E. Null, $400.

In a prepared statement which came with Whitcomb's statement, Stanley J. Needham, president of the Lodge 151 of the Allegan county Fraternal Order of Police (FOP), said that the layoffs and the threat of more layoffs in January, are detrimental to the safety of Allegan county residents.

He also declared that the county board has enough funds to keep the men on.

Needham termed the layoffs "not necessary, unjustified and beyond the legal authority of the board."

Needham said the sheriff's revised budget for 1975 was $584,570 and had an $84,110 balance as of Nov. 10, making the layoffs unnecessary.

He added that according to a county board report of Oct. 22, there was a carry-over of $394,405 in county funds.

An FOP statement claimed that at full strength, the Allegan sheriff's department handles 96.7 crimes per officer yearly, second highest in the nine-county Region 8 area that includes Kent county.

At the same time, the statement said, the county employs less than one officer per 1,000 residents, while six of the counties in the Region employ more.

The FOP statement also criticized the board for allocating for its 12 members $18,000 for professional memberships, subscriptions, travel and employee training while allowing 33 deputies $3,150 for the same things.

Freak Tornadoes Strike Oklahoma

TULSA (AP) — A series of freak tornadoes struck eastern Oklahoma almost without warning Friday, injuring nearly 40 persons. Twisters tore through 12 city blocks of Tulsa, wrecking scores of homes and businesses.

No one was killed, but authorities said 34 persons were taken to Tulsa hospitals. Seven remained hospitalized today, four in serious condition. Other twisters hit rural areas, but officials said they did not expect the total injured in the state to exceed 40.

Tulsa Mayor Robert J. LaFortune said damage could run into the millions of dollars. The Red Cross estimated about 30 Tulsa homes were demolished, another 150 suffered major damage and a total of 50 businesses suffered substantial destruction.

Red Cross officials set up aid stations at two schools to feed and shelter the homeless. About 300 persons came to the centers, officials said.

Gov. David Boren planned to tour tornado-damaged areas of eastern Oklahoma by helicopter today as clean-up operations began. He said the tour was to see "what federal aid, if any, would be necessary."

Boren placed National Guard members on standby in Tulsa and activated a guard unit for Wilburton, 95 miles to the south.

Eastern Oklahoma was onjoying 70-degree temperatures about 4:30 p.m. Friday when a cold front rushed into the area, setting the stage for the violent windstorms. Within 30 minutes, funnels sprouted all over the eastern section of the state, the National Weather Service said.

Tulsa was hit by two or three twisters, Russell said. It appeared one twister did the major damage to an area about 1 1/2 miles long and one block wide near the city's eastern boundary.

Two Bound Over On Drug Charges

Two Benton Harbor men arrested last month in connection with a drug raid were bound over to Circuit court yesterday on charges of delivery of heroin.

Crashes Injure Six

Six people, including a pedestrian, were injured in four separate traffic accidents investigated by Twin Cities area police last night and early this morning.

Benton Harbor police said James Griffith, 26, of 871 Pavone street, Benton Harbor, was injured when struck by an auto while walking across Territorial road, 100 feet west of Paw Paw avenue about 9:37 p.m. Friday. Griffith was treated and released from Mercy hospital, police said.

Police said the driver, Austin H. Oliver, 34, of 1057 Waukonda avenue, Benton township, was cited for leaving the scene of a personal injury accident. Police said Oliver was contacted at his residence after a witness in another auto secured a license number.

Benton Harbor police said three people were injured in a two-car collision at Fair and East Britain avenues at 1:57 a.m. today. They were identified as the drivers, William L. Harris, 24, of 397 Colfax avenue, Benton Harbor, and Otis Young Jr., 26, of 143 Madeline avenue, Benton township; and a passenger in the Young auto, Joseph Peek, 25, of 1891 Union street, Fairplain. All refused treatment, police said. Harris was ticketed for failure to yield the right of way.

St. Joseph police said Joseph E. Legus, 38, Box 494-G Route 2, Coloma, was treated at Memorial hospital, after a car he was driving jumped a curb and hit some guard rails on US-33 North, 900 feet north of the on-ramp, north of Blossomland bridge. Legus was cited for careless driving after the accident at 10:08 p.m. Friday.

State police from the Benton Harbor post said a semi truck jackknifed on I-94 in Lincoln township and went into a ditch about 9:20 p.m. Friday, but the driver escaped with apparently minor facial scratches. He was identified as Brian G. Eberhardt, 32, Alpena. Eberhardt told officers another vehicle cut in front of his tractor and the semi jackknifed when he tapped the brakes. Eberhardt declined treatment and no summonses were issued. The other auto continued from the scene, the post said. The semi was reported unloaded.

Also in Berrien Fifth District court yesterday one person demanded examination and 30 people were sentenced.

Bound over to Circuit court were:

Franklin L. Barber, 21, of 254 Jefferson court, Benton Harbor, charged with delivery of heroin in Benton Harbor Nov. 19. Another count alleging the same crime at a different place and time was dismissed following his bindover. He was released on $20,000 bond.

Tyrone J. Hitchcock, 26, of the Miller Hotel, Benton Harbor, accused of delivering heroin in Benton Harbor Nov. 21. Bond of $20,000 was not posted and he was jailed.

Demanding examination was Ollie J. Hornes, 19, of 704 Thresher, Benton Harbor, charged with larceny of clothes in a building, K-Mart, Benton Harbor, Dec. 4. He did not put up $1,500 bond.

Sentenced were: Eddie W. Collins, 19, of Britain avenue, Benton Harbor, 90 days in jail for conspiracy to violate the state Pharmacy Act in St. Joseph Nov. 9.

Robert D. Cowan, 31, of Galien, fine and costs of $60 for malicious destruction to property valued under $100, two tires, in Three Oaks Nov. 3.

James E. Harris, 23, of 2821 Territorial, Benton Harbor 10 days in jail and $100 for attempting to elude police in Berrien township Oct. 24.

James R. Thompson, 51, of 6724 Buena Vista drive, Coloma, $250 and two years probation for violation of the state Residential Builders Act, doing house repairs without a license, June 23, 1973, in Watervliet.

Richard A. Thomas, 18, of 2807 Maple lane, Benton Harbor, $50 or 10 days in jail for use of marijuana in Watervliet Dec. 5.

Metro Chief Disputes False Arrest Suit Claim

By SCOTT WILLIAMSON Staff Writer

An officer of the Berrien Metro Crime Unit has been sued in Berrien Circuit court for false arrest, but the unit's commander claims the officer wasn't even present when the suspect was arrested.

The plaintiff in the suit, James Lee Lewis, 25, of 1455 Bishop street, Benton Harbor, seeks $15,000 damages claiming he was "falsely, illegally, and wrongfully arrested."

Named defendant was John Clark, a Metro officer.

The suit charges Lewis was arrested Oct. 2 "without warrant or other lawful authority," and claims Lewis was "imprisoned in the (Benton Harbor) city jail for about 17 hours."

Court and police records show Lewis was arrested Oct. 2 at a house at 1455 Bishop on a charge of receiving and concealing stolen property valued at more than $100 — an allegedly stolen stereo.

But Metro Commander Donald Jewell said Clark was not one of the five Metro officers who executed a search warrant at the Bishop street house or arrested Lewis. The search was conducted with a warrant issued by District Court Judge Leo K. Cook, and Asst. Prosecutor Wilbur Schillinger was present at the time of the search and arrest, Jewell noted.

Court records also show a warrant for Lewis' arrest, authorized by Prosecutor John Smetanka and signed by District Judge Ronald Taylor, was issued Oct. 3. Lewis was arraigned in district court on the charge, which was dismissed on Oct. 14 by the prosecutor's office when the allegedly stolen stereo could not be identified by the victim.

The suit, filed by Grand Rapids Atty. Benjamin H. Logan, II, claims Lewis "suffered great mental anguish, humiliation and shock, and was prevented from attending to his employment for a long time."

Court records show Lewis was released on bond Oct. 3 after his arraignment.

In the suit, Logan identifies Clark as "Lt. Johnny Clarke (sic), sheriff's department Benton Harbor and City of Benton Harbor." He also claims Clark "was and still is a police officer of the City of Benton Harbor, with the rank of lieutenant."

Clark is a member of the Berrien sheriff's department on special assignment to the Metro Crime Unit, but did work for the city police department from 1968 to 1971 until he joined the sheriff's department. Clark

He'll Have 'Loyalty'

UTICA, N.Y. (AP) — Utica Mayor Edward Hanna laid off a number of city employees in an austerity move and said he would impose a wage freeze.

Then he hired his wife as commissioner of the city board of water supply and his son as an urban renewal department employee. Wife Ellen earns $800 a year in her post and son Paul, 24, makes $11,500 annually on the city payroll.

Defending his appointments, Hanna said his wife is "coming in under an emergency situation where I need total dedication to the job and total loyalty to me personally. I know of nobody I can trust more."

He said Mrs. Hanna will return her salary to the city. He said his son has been working for the city for about a year and a half without pay. "He can see the lack of loyalty to the job by city employees, the indifference and waste," Hanna said.

REPRIEVED: The U.S. Army is trying to locate Maj. Richard Wall to tell him he has been given a reprieve from an involuntary discharge. An Army spokesman in Paris, Tenn., Friday said Wall cannot be separated from the service before he finishes 18 years service on Sunday. Metro Chief Disputes False Arrest Suit Claim

By SCOTT WILLIAMSON Staff Writer
An officer of the Berrien Metro Crime Unit has been sued in Berrien Circuit court for false arrest, but the unit's commander claims the officer wasn't even present when the suspect was arrested.

The plaintiff in the suit, James Lee Lewis, 25, of 1455 Bishop street, Benton Harbor, seeks $15,000 damages claiming he was "falsely, illegally, and wrongfully arrested."

Named defendant was John Clark, a Metro officer. The suit charges Lewis was arrested Oct. 2 "without warrant or other lawful authority," and claims Lewis was "imprisoned in the (Benton Harbor) city jail for about 17 hours."

Court and police records show Lewis was arrested Oct. 2 at a house at 1455 Bishop on a charge of receiving and concealing stolen property valued at more than $100 — an allegedly stolen stereo.

But Metro Commander Donald Jewell said Clark was not one of the five Metro officers who executed a search warrant at the Bishop street house or arrested Lewis. The search was conducted with a warrant issued by District Court Judge Leo K. Cook, and Asst. Prosecutor Wilbur Schillinger was present at the time of the search and arrest, Jewell noted.

Court records also show a warrant for Lewis' arrest, authorized by Prosecutor John Smietanka and signed by District Judge Ronald Taylor, was issued Oct. 3. Lewis was arraigned in district court on the charge, which was dismissed on Oct. 14 by the prosecutor's office when the allegedly stolen stereo could not be identified by the victim. The suit, filed by Grand Rapids Atty. Benjamin H. Logan, II, claims Lewis "suffered great mental anguish, humiliation and shock, and was prevented from attending to his employment for a long time."

Court records show Lewis was released on bond Oct. 3 after his arraignment.

In the suit, Logan identifies Clark as "Lt. Johnny Clarke (sic), sheriff's department Benton Harbor and City of Benton Harbor." He also claims Clark "was and still is a police officer of the City of Benton Harbor, with the rank of lieutenant."

Clark is a member of the Berrien sheriff's department on special assignment to the Metro Crime Unit, but did work for the city police department from 1969 to 1971 until he joined the sheriff's department. Clark

He'll Have 'Loyalty'

UTICA, N.Y. (AP) — Utica Mayor Edward Hanna laid off a number of city employees in an austerity move and said he would impose a wage freeze.

Then he hired his wife as commissioner of the city board of water supply and his son as an urban renewal department employee. Wife Ellen earns $800 a year in her post and son Paul, 24, makes $11,500 annually on the city payroll.

Defending his appointments, Hanna said his wife is "coming in under an emergency situation where I need total dedication to the job and total loyalty to me personally. I know of nobody I can trust more."

He said Mrs. Hanna will return her salary to the city. He said his son has been working for the city for about a year and a half without pay. "He can see the lack of loyalty to the job by city employees, the indifference and waste," Hanna said.

Electric Bill Has House Jitters

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A bill labeled by some lawmakers and municipal electric companies as just a "housekeeping" measure is making other lawmakers jittery over its implications.

The bill, now before the full House, would eliminate language in the present law which limits municipal utilities' power sales outside city boundaries to 25 per cent of what is sold inside.

It would let the state's municipalities sell electricity at cheaper prices to private investors-owned utilities like Consumers Power Co. and also allow sales to individuals in adjacent cities.

Some lawmakers fear the bill could give the state's 42 municipal utilities the go-ahead for actions that would end in higher rates for municipal users and what they see as an unneeded expansion of generating capacity. The capacity of municipal utilities now stands at about six per cent of Michigan's electric power.

"It raises the specter of having local governments and local citizens caught between the public (municipal) and the private utilities," said state Rep. David Hollister, D-Lansing, one of several liberal House Democrats questioning the seemingly simple bill.

"The implications of what the municipal utilities can do as a result of this bill are going to be very significant, especially for those of us who use their power," said Wes Godfrey, a House Democratic staff researcher who studied the bill for many months and wrote a blistering critique of it.

Some say the bill will simply bring an old law in line with a 1974 law. But critics say the bill could be an incentive for municipal utilities to build more expensive generating units to supply firms like Consumers Power.

They say a private utility could get something for nothing by buying its power cheap but selling it to its customers at normal rates and make a profit though it made no investment.

Municipal utility users would be forced to swallow the cost of the new units through higher power rates, they contend.

Lawmakers also fear a provision in the bill would stifle competition between the municipal utilities and private utilities, leaving electric rates artificially high.

The provision forbids a municipal utility from serving customers of a private utility unless the private company consents in writing.

"That means if a city currently served by Consumers Power votes it wants to change to power provided by a municipal utility, it can't unless Consumers signs the city away," says Rep. Howard Wolpe, D-Kalamazoo.

The state Public Service Commission, which regulates utilities, originally opposed the bill. It said it feared municipal utilities could charge higher rates to customers far outside the city limits.

It also said the bill could cut state tax revenues by allowing municipal utilities to build tax-exempt power units to supply private utilities and rural cooperatives, who would normally be forced to build their own units. The PSC later withdrew its opposition, saying municipal utilities told the PSC they had "no intent" to use the bill in such ways.

State's United Fund Drives Still Find Going Rough

By PIET BENNETT
Associated Press Writer

Hard times haven't ended for Michigan's United Fund and Community Chest drives despite signs of improvement in the nation's economy.

An Associated Press survey in 20 areas across the state found the drives slightly more successful at reaching their goals than in 1974, even though fewer areas reported increases in giving this year.

Eleven drives reached their goals this time while six failed and three remain in doubt. At this time in 1974, only six had succeeded and four were in doubt during a similar survey.

But the 1974 survey found contributions up in 18 areas, down in just three, with one result uncertain. This year, only 12 reported gains; three were undetermined, one held even and comparative figures were missing in two cases.

Only eight drives raised their goals this year while five imposed cuts and five others remained unchanged from 1974. Again, two areas had no comparative figures to report. No figures were compiled last year showing how many drives sought more money.

United Way of Michigan officials said the state's 140 drives received pledges of $61,863,000 during 1974. This year's figures were incomplete. The statewide total in 1974 represented about $400,000 more than all the drives netted in 1973 when the economy was far sounder.

Walter Campbell, president of the United Way of Michigan, said the biggest hurdle this year was "the tremendous economic obstacles all of us faced." He cited "terrible unemployment" in Detroit, Flint, Saginaw, Ann Arbor, Grand Rapids and Lansing but still concluded, "this has been an extremely successful campaign year in our state."

Indeed, there were bright spots.

Detroit, which held the world's first United Fund Drive in 1949, topped its goal for the 27th consecutive year. Detroit's Torch Drive collected pledges of $34.8 million or about $100,000 beyond its goal — despite what John C. Dean, general chairman, called uncertain economic conditions "unparalleled in Torch Drive history."

United Way of Saginaw County made its goal for the 19th straight year. It collected $38,764 more than its $2.33 million target by making "a tremendous effort to pick up dollars in those areas not hit as hard by the recession, such as public service, schools and selected firms," according to Thomas J. Heatherman, executive director.

The United Community Fund in Midland County drew contributions almost 12 per cent ahead of 1974 and topped its $801,000 goal by more than $27,000.

Mike Hurley, the Midland fund's executive director, credited "community attitude" for the success. Flint exceeded its $3.45 million goal by more than $100,000 but still has cause for concern. Last year, when pledges were within a few thousand dollars of this year's, the United Way of Genesee and Lapeer Counties had to write off nearly $900,000 it could not collect.

"With the state of unemployment in this community, we felt this year's campaign was our biggest challenge ever," said John R. Greenwood, the fund's executive director.

The United Way of Pontiac-North Oakland set a basic goal, plus another four per cent, which officials said really was needed to offset inflation. The basic goal of $1,523,612 was exceeded by about $40,000. But the drive fell short of the total goal by nearly $15,000.

That drive was enlivened when some General Motors engineers complained that failure to contribute has been known to jeopardize promotions, raises and even their jobs. Company and United Way officials denied any knowledge of such pressure for contributions.

But about 95 per cent of the callers responding when the Oakland Press asked for comments said they have felt pressured to contribute to such fund drives.

Higher individual giving helped the Washtenaw County United Way make its goal of just under $2.1 million despite a drop of 5,000 to 6,000 persons working in the county this year, according to Robert Kerschbaum, executive director.

The Washtenaw County drive cut its goal for this year after receiving almost $250,000 in uncollectable pledges in 1974.

The Capital Area United Way also lowered its goal and made it. An early start, which collected pledges of $1 million toward the Lansing area's $2.2 million goal before the formal drive began, was credited with much of its success.

Muskegon exceeded its $1,251,176 goal by less than $500 but still set a record for contributions. The Blossomland United Way in Berrien County also made its goal with record pledges of $734,732. Pledges there were up nine per cent from 1974.

Lenawee County had to extend its drive an extra two weeks but collected $13,000 more than ever and exceeded its $269,500 target by nearly $4,000.

Shiawassee County's United Way topped its goal in just six weeks while collecting a record $199,289. Officials said they hope to have about $202,000 on the books when record keeping is completed. The drive sought $197,625.

Kent County collected almost $3 million but still fell 10 per cent short. The target was boosted almost $240,000 above 1974 pledges despite that being the only year in the past decade when the drive succeeded.

The United Way of St. Clair County extended its drive three times but still fell more than $25,000 short of its $625,000 target. High unemployment, now standing at 16.5 per cent after being as high as 20 per cent, was blamed.

Pledges to Bay County's United Way fell more than $50,000 shy of the $675,000 sought. The drive raised its sights because of inflation, although it had to list nearly $50,000 worth of 1974 pledges totaling $589,000 as uncollectable.

Jackson extended collections once, but officials still expected to fall about $30,000 short of their $978,000 goal.

Monroe County's efforts also fell short about $50,000. That drive was seeking $425,000, $55,000 more than was pledged a year ago. Even so, the drive set a record this year.

Plagued by a plant closing and low copper prices, leaders of the United Way of the Ironwood Area said they seem likely to be about $4,000 shy of the $22,000 they seek. The target was trimmed $8,000 from 1974, but pledges are expected to be about $1,000 lower, too.

Drives with uncertain futures are continuing in Marquette County, Ionia and Delta County. Officials at Marquette hope to top the $320,000 they seek. Nearly a month remains, and pledges exceeding $200,000 are in hand. After meeting its goal last year, the target was raised 10 per cent this time.

In Ionia, a house-to-house drive was held after the campaign closed formally Nov. 2 with more than $11,000 still sought. Orson Coe II, the Community Chest's president, said contributions dropped in all areas except among retail merchants.

But a month later, the Ionia drive was just $3,000 shy of the $75,000 it sought and had exceeded 1973's pledges by almost $7,000. Last year's drive was hurt when a Chrysler trim plant in nearby Lyons was out of production. Now, some operations have resumed there.

Labor troubles, especially a five-month strike at the Mead Corp. paper mill, threaten the Delta County drive. Collections and pledges total only about half the $95,000 target, and there is no indication how long the effort may have to be prolonged.

Suits Filed In 2 Van Buren Crashes

PAW PAW — Two lawsuits stemming from separate traffic accidents in 1972 have been filed in Van Buren circuit court seeking damages totaling $275,000.

Damages of $175,000 are being sought by a Paw Paw couple, Richard and Patricia Overacker, for injuries he received when his car collided with another vehicle on M-51 near 82nd avenue in Decatur township Dec. 8, 1972.

The suit claims a car driven by an Illinois woman, Carol Kirschbaum, crossed over the center line of M-51, causing the accident. The driver and her father, Robert Kirschbaum, owner of the car, are named as co-defendants.

According to the suit, $125,000 is being sought to compensate Overacker for his pain, suffering and injuries, and $50,000 to compensate Mrs. Overacker for her loss of consortium and companionship.

Another suit, filed on behalf of Gerald M. Fleming of Paw Paw, seeks damages of $100,000 to compensate Fleming for injuries, medical expenses, and loss of earnings he suffered as the result of a Dec. 16, 1972 collision on M-40 near 44th street.

According to the suit, Fleming had stopped at a bridge on M-40 to allow a snowplow to pass when he was struck by a truck driven by Alex Janoskie of Gobles, named as defendant in the suit. Janoskie, according to the suit, was negligent in that he failed to stop in a safe distance and was traveling at an excessive rate of speed.

State's United Fund Drives Still Find Going Rough

By PIET BENNETT
Associated Press Writer

Hard times haven't ended for Michigan's United Fund and Community Chest drives despite signs of improvement in the nation's economy.

An Associated Press survey in 20 areas across the state found the drives slightly more successful at reaching their goals than in 1974, even though fewer areas reported increases in giving this year.

Eleven drives reached their goals this time while six failed and three remain in doubt. At this time in 1974, only six had succeeded and four were in doubt during a similar survey.

But the 1974 survey found contributions up in 16 areas, down in just three, with one result uncertain. This year, only 12 reported gains, three were undetermined, one held even and comparative figures were missing in two cases.

Only eight drives raised their goals this year while five imposed cuts and five others remained unchanged from 1974. Again, two areas had no comparative figures to report. No figures were compiled last year showing how many drives sought more money.

United Way of Michigan officials said the state's 140 drives received pledges of $61,863,000 during 1974. This year's figures were incomplete. The statewide total in 1974 represented about $400,000 more than all the drives netted in 1973 when the economy was far sounder.

Walter Campbell, president of the United Way of Michigan, said the biggest hurdle this year was "the tremendous economic obstacles all of us faced." He cited "terrible unemployment" in Detroit, Flint, Saginaw, Ann Arbor, Grand Rapids and Lansing but still concluded, "this has been an extremely successful campaign year in our state."

Indeed, there were bright spots.

Detroit, which held the world's first United Fund Drive in 1949, topped its goal for the 27th consecutive year. Detroit's Torch Drive collected pledges of $34.8 million or about $100,000 beyond its goal — despite what John C. Dean, general chairman, called uncertain economic conditions "unparalleled in Torch Drive history."

United Way of Saginaw County made its goal for the 19th straight year. It collected $38,764 more than its $2.33 million target by making "a tremendous effort to pick up dollars in those areas not hit as hard by the recession, such as public service, schools and selected firms," according to Thomas J. Heatherman, executive director.

The United Community Fund in Midland County drew contributions almost 12 per cent ahead of 1974 and topped its $801,000 goal by more than $27,000.

Mike Hurley, the Midland fund's executive director, credited "community attitude" for the success. Flint exceeded its $3.45 million goal by more than $100,000 but still has cause for concern. Last year, when pledges were within a few thousand dollars of this year's, the United Way of Genesee and Lapeer Counties had to write off nearly $900,000 it could not collect.

"With the state of unemployment in this community, we felt this year's campaign was our biggest challenge ever," said John R. Greenwood, the fund's executive director.

The United Way of Pontiac-North Oakland set a basic goal, plus another four per cent, which officials said really was needed to offset inflation. The basic goal of $1,523,612 was exceeded by about $40,000. But the drive fell short of the total goal by nearly $15,000.

That drive was enlivened when some General Motors engineers complained that failure to contribute has been known to jeopardize promotions, raises and even their jobs. Company and United Way officials denied any knowledge of such pressure for contributions.

But about 95 per cent of the callers responding when the Oakland Press asked for comments said they have felt pressured to contribute to such fund drives.

Higher individual giving helped the Washtenaw County United Way make its goal of just under $2.1 million despite a drop of 5,000 to 6,000 persons working in the county this year, according to Robert Kerschbaum, executive director.

The Washtenaw County drive cut its goal for this year after receiving almost $250,000 in uncollectable pledges in 1974.

The Capital Area United Way also lowered its goal and made it. An early start, which collected pledges of $1 million toward the Lansing area's $2.2 million goal before the formal drive began, was credited with much of its success.

Muskegon exceeded its $1,251,176 goal by less than $500 but still set a record for contributions. The Blossomland United Way in Berrien County also made its goal with record pledges of $736,732. Pledges there were up nine per cent from 1974.

Lenawee County had to extend its drive an extra two weeks but collected $13,000 more than ever and exceeded its $269,500 target by nearly $4,000.

Shiawassee County's United Way topped its goal in just six weeks while collecting a record $199,289. Officials said they hope to have about $202,000 on the books when record keeping is completed. The drive sought $197,625.

Kent County collected almost $3 million but still fell 10 per cent short. The target was boosted almost $240,000 above 1974 pledges despite that being the only year in the past decade when the drive succeeded.

The United Way of St. Clair County extended its drive three times but still fell more than $25,000 short of its $625,000 target. High unemployment, now standing at 16.5 per cent after being as high as 20 per cent, was blamed.

Pledges to Bay County's United Way fell more than $50,000 shy of the $675,000 sought. The drive raised its sights because of inflation, although it had to list nearly $50,000 worth of 1974 pledges totaling $589,000 as uncollectable.

Jackson extended collections once, but officials still expected to fall about $30,000 short of their $976,000 goal.

Monroe County's efforts also fell short about $50,000. That drive was seeking $425,000, $55,000 more than was pledged a year ago. Even so, the drive set a record this year.

Plagued by a plant closing and low copper prices, leaders of the United Way of the Ironwood Area said they seem likely to be about $4,000 shy of the $22,000 they seek. The target was trimmed $8,000 from 1974, but pledges are expected to be about $1,000 lower, too.

Drives with uncertain futures are continuing in Marquette County, Ionia and Delta County. Officials at Marquette hope to top the $220,000 they seek. Nearly a month remains, and pledges exceeding $200,000 are in hand. After meeting its goal last year, the target was raised 10 per cent this time.

In Ionia, a house-to-house drive was held after the campaign closed formally Nov. 2 with more than $11,000 still sought. Orson Coe II, the Community Chest's president, said contributions dropped in all areas except among retail merchants.

But a month later, the Ionia drive was just $3,000 shy of the $75,000 it sought and had exceeded 1973's pledges by almost $7,000. Last year's drive was hurt when a Chrysler trim plant in nearby Lyons was out of production. Now, some operations have resumed there.

Labor troubles, especially a five-month strike at the Mead Corp. paper mill, threaten the Delta County drive. Collections and pledges total only about half the $85,000 target, and there is no indication how long the effort may have to be prolonged.

Lawmakers Fear State Is Exhausting Fiscal Gimmicks

By MALCOLM JOHNSON
Associated Press Writer
LANSING, Mich. (AP) — State lawmakers are worrying that a "day of reckoning" is fast approaching when Michigan will run out of fiscal gimmicks to balance its budget.

involved is hoping the economy will pick up fast enough to bail the state out of the approaching crunch. But many feel recovery from the recession will be slow, and tax revenues and other sources of cash will inevitably fall short of expenditures.

So the state has engaged in some complicated budgeting which at best solves the immediate problem, and at worst is seen as a juggling of the books to provide the illusion of solvency. The approach has attracted widespread criticism.

"You cannot manufacture money or manipulate books to cover when you are spending more money than you are taking in," said state Treasurer Allison Green. "It is that simple."

To balance last year's budget, the state had to cut expenditures at mid-year. But then it had to borrow from some retirement funds, and finally yank July's tax revenue back into June to end the fiscal year June 30 in the black.

This year, Gov. William Milliken's experts stunned the legislature by projecting a deficit of nearly $300 million only two months after a supposedly balanced budget had been enacted. As the governor issues an executive order to cut spending, he also proposes to extend the fiscal year, and to take over two restricted funds to come up with the needed money. That kind of finger-in-the-dike fiscal policy may be valid in accounting, but it has a serious drawback. Some of the revenue is available only once and the rest requires a future payoff.

"There isn't a willingness to accept the seriousness of the situation," said Sen. Charles Zoller R-Benton Harbor, a fiscal conservative who says he's "disillusioned" by how state leaders are dealing with the cash shortage.

He predicted everyone will "take the easy way out until they are backed into a corner." And lawmakers are already starting to talk about reducing state payments to the teachers' retirement fund next fiscal year in an effort to enact a constitutionally mandated balanced budget.

Meanwhile, the state has gone to some spend-now, pay-later bonding programs, prompting some warnings that Michigan is risking a New York-like flirt with bankruptcy.

The governor has defended such fiscal management as preferable to drastically cutting the budget. But he has acknowledged he has few more rabbits he can pull out of the hat.

The issue has increased the usual political sniping that always accompanies state budgeting. Democrats have castigated Milliken's fiscal experts for not providing up-to-date information to use in considering his proposals. And many warn that the administration is sticking its head in the sand by pretending a tax increase is not inevitable.

Republicans, on the other hand, blast Democrats for passing costly legislation and refusing to make drastic cuts in welfare and education.

"There ought to be somebody strong enough to stand up and say, 'let's quit lying to the public,'" said Sen. Billy Huffman, D-Madison Heights. But in fact, the political consequences of trimming services or raising taxes is so distasteful that both sides are anxious to avoid them.

"We have to use the short-term solutions first," said Sen. Anthony Derezinski, D-

Muskegon. "We have to exhaust the other remedies first before facing the drastic ones."

Complicating the whole issue is the hocus-pocus atmosphere surrounding state budgeting. Traditionally, most lawmakers have deferred to members of the appropriations committee and the governor's staff in unearthing the complications of balancing the books.

But as deficit estimates fluctuate back and forth, tens of millions of dollars appear and disappear in the clouds of accounting jargon, and experts talk about "paper savings" instead of cold cash, legislators are paying a little more attention.

"There is a general concern of everyone here that we're exhausting our remedies," said Derezinski. Senate Minority Leader Robert Davis, R-Gaylord, added, "We are running out of areas to find money. There's no question there isn't enough money to balance next year's budget. We have made some mistakes over the past few years and they have caught up with us."

So when will the state have to face up to its shortage of cash? Maybe never, if the economy recovers fast enough to cover up the book juggling with a fresh flow of revenue.

But if Michigan's recovery lags behind the rest of the country, as many think it will, some day the state will run out of funds to borrow from, fiscal year alterations and other book-keeping tricks.

"The governor could probably find ways to get revenue without a tax increase for two more years," said Sen. Jerome Hart, D-Saginaw, chairman of the Senate Appropriations Committee. "But anybody who says that this is not just a delaying tactic is not telling the truth. We're just delaying the inevitable."

MSU Studying Cattle

MASON, Mich. (AP) — Nearly 100 cattle reportedly tainted with a poisonous chemical are the subjects of a six-month study at Michigan State University. Three buyers refused to accept the cattle after learning of the reports. The 94 animals are from a herd owned by Richard Eddington, a stockman in the Pickford area. The animals were sold at auction Nov. 17 after being repossessed by the U.S. Farmers Home Administration when Eddington fell behind in payments on a $50,000 loan. Now, the animals are on a private farm near Mason. All their ailments will be diagnosed by MSU's College of Veterinary Medicine.

State Procurement Hearings

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Two public hearings on the state procurement process for small and minority business persons have been set for this month in Lansing and Grand Rapids. The hearings will be before the Small Business Task Force, created by Gov. William Milliken to ensure full participation in the state procurement process by small and minority business firms. Lt. Gov. James Damman, who heads the task force, said the panel wants to hear if the procurement procedure are considered restrictive and what Michigan can do to increase opportunities for small and minority business firms. Hearings are set for Thursday in Detroit's State Executive Plaza Building and Dec. 17 in Grand Rapids City Hall. Hearings begin at 8:30 a.m.

Old Records Can Go

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A bill letting county clerks destroy old corporate records in their files has been signed into law by Gov. William Milliken. Clerks have maintained that unused and outdated corporate documents take up too much space, and asked to be allowed to destroy the documents. All corporate records are open to the public and on file with the Corporations and Securities Bureau here.

Last Bill Still Dangling

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Almost six months after the new fiscal year began, the state legislature is still trying to pass the last budget bill for 1975-76. The bulk of the budget was passed in early August, but one bill lingers in the state Senate. Thursday, it was defeated again. The bill is a $68 million measure to make grants to various private organizations which have long been the recipients of public largesse — veterans groups and the like. The most controversial item in the bill is a yearly grant of $800,000 for the Pontiac Stadium, home of the Detroit Lions.

Union Advocates Adoption

FLINT (AP) — About 150 United Auto Workers and members of the AFL-CIO rallied Friday in support of Democratic-supported Worker's Compensation legislation that Gov. William Milliken has threatened to veto. UAW Vice President Doug Fraser acknowledged there are "abuses in the (workers' compensation) system" but he said they are few. Fraser and two Flint legislators said they want no compromise on the Democratic version of the package, but they indicated there will have to be some give-and-take. Fraser said the union strongly advocates adoption of the Democratic-supported plan that has come out of the Senate Labor Committee.

'Pearl Harbor Week'

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Next week will be "Remember Pearl Harbor Week" in Michigan, after a member of the Pearl Harbor Survivors Association asked Gov. William Milliken not to let the event go unremembered. "I agree with veterans who were there that tragic day and who now feel that all too many Americans have forgotten the bitter lesson learned on Dec. 7, 1941," Milliken said. That lesson, Milliken said, was that America "must always be prepared to meet a military challenge." He declared Dec. 7 through Dec. 13 "Remember Pearl Harbor Week" in memory of the Japanese attack which left 2,000 American servicemen dead and catapulted America into World War II. He urged churches and synagogues to offer prayers of thanks and remembrance of those who died in the early morning attack.

A Tighter Spending Policy

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A Senate committee has recommended a tightening of travel spending policy in a move to head off a more restrictive change proposed by a leading lawmaker. The Senate Business Committee, on a 5-4 vote, sent to the full Senate Thursday a resolution lowering from $50 to $40 the amount a senator can spend each day on the road without accounting for it. As now, a senator will be able to spend any amount while traveling. But he will have to itemize anything in excess of $40. He will be able to receive the first $40 without saying how — or even if — he spent the money. The $40 limit was in effect until early this year, when the Senate quietly raised it. But the reason behind the latest switch was to kill a more stringent proposal by Senate Minority Leader Robert Davis, R-Gaylord. Davis proposed to require that all expenditures be itemized, and that a receipt be required for those over $10.

Chrysler Closing 4 Plants

DETROIT (AP) — Despite recent increases in sales, Chrysler Corp. is closing four of its six U.S. car plants and a truck line for the first week of 1976 to keep a lid on its stockpiles of unsold models. Chrysler said Friday 16,900 hourly workers will be laid off for the period beginning Jan. 5. It will be the largest one-week production cutback by the nation's No. 3 auto maker in a year and the latest in a series of shutdowns by the auto industry this fall. Affected by the shutdown will be plants at Belvidere, Ill.; Jefferson Avenue and Lynch Road in Detroit and St. Louis; and the conventional truck line at Warren, Mich.

Pontiac Tot Finally Certified As Born

DETROIT (AP) — A Pontiac couple has won a three-month battle with bureaucracy to win a birth certificate for their daughter.

Cathy and Mark Grable said they had been unable to get a birth certificate for their 5-month-old daughter Sia because Mrs. Grable had the child at home and waited two months before contacting a doctor to verify the birth.

Officials said neither Grable nor a midwife who assisted at the birth were acceptable as witnesses. Some officials said they wanted to be sure the child actually belonged to the couple before a birth certificate was issued.

However, after the Grables publicized the fact they were unable to get the vital certificate, a Michigan Department of Health official suggested they go to Detroit's Herman Keifer hospital complex.

Theodore Morales, supervisor of birth and death records at the hospital, said "issuance of the document" was routine. She issued the $2 document after the midwife accompanied Mrs. Grable to the hospital.

Birth certificates are vital in modern society, as they generally are required before a child can enter school, get a social security number or driver's license.

House GOP Wins Skirmish

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — State House Republicans have won the opening skirmish in their battle to change Michigan's new law tightening control in the political arena. The victory came Thursday over postponing until next week action on legislation that would put parts of the new law into effect in time for the 1976 elections. Republicans — a minority in the legislature — wanted the delay to obtain promises from majority Democrats to consider changing other parts of the law said to hurt Republican election campaigns and help Democratic campaigns. The postponed Democratic-sponsored legislation would allow rapid appointment of a Political Ethics Commission, able to write rules for the complex law. Without the three bills giving the commission "immediate effect," it would not take shape until April when the remainder of the law comes into play.

Lawmakers Fear State Is Exhausting Fiscal Gimmicks

By MALCOLM JOHNSON
Associated Press Writer
LANSING, Mich. (AP) — State lawmakers are worrying that a "day of reckoning" is fast approaching when Michigan will run out of fiscal gimmicks to balance its budget.

RAW RABBITS: Theodoros Klada, 42, of Detroit was in good condition in an Alpena hospital this week after being lost three days in woods. He said he survived on raw rabbits he killed with his hands. He suffered frostbitten toes. (AP Wirephoto) involved is hoping the economy will pick up fast enough to bail the state out of the approaching crunch. But many feel recovery from the recession will be slow, and tax revenues and other sources of cash will inevitably fall short of expenditures.

Then, they say, the state will have to face some tough decisions — either cut services beyond what has been considered acceptable or raise taxes again. But my mutual agreement, that day is being postponed as long as possible.

So the state has engaged in some complicated budgeting which at best solves the immediate problem, and at worst is seen as a juggling of the books to provide the illusion of solvency. The approach has attracted widespread criticism.

"You cannot manufacture money or manipulate books to cover when you are spending more money than you are taking in," said state Treasurer Allison Green. "It is that simple."

To balance last year's budget, the state had to cut expenditures at mid-year. But then it had to borrow from some retirement funds, and finally yank July's tax revenue back into June to end the fiscal year June 30 in the black.

This year, Gov. William Milliken's experts stunned the legislature by projecting a deficit of nearly $300 million only two months after a supposedly balanced budget had been enacted. As the governor issues an executive order to cut spending, he also proposes to extend the fiscal year, and to take over two restricted funds to come up with the needed money.

That kind of finger-in-the-dike fiscal policy may be valid in accounting, but it has a serious drawback. Some of the revenue is available only once and the rest requires a future payback.

Airliners Nearly Collide Over Lake

CHICAGO (AP) — "The weather was no factor" when a Trans World Airlines jet with 77 persons aboard narrowly missed colliding at 21,000 feet near here with a United Airlines plane carrying 60 passengers, federal authorities said.

The near-miss Friday over Lake Michigan on the Michigan side was the second time in nine days a TWA aircraft came close to a mid-air crash. A Federal Aviation Administration spokesman said it was the 14th near-miss this year.

No passengers or crew members on either Boeing 727 jet were injured.

FAA spokesman Neal Callahan said the incident occurred "at 4:30 local time about 50 miles northeast of O'Hare." United flight 281 was en route to Chicago from Providence, R.I., and TWA flight 403 was approaching Chicago's O'Hare International Airport from Hartford, Conn.

The TWA captain reported that he came up behind the United aircraft at the same altitude, saw it when it was about 300 feet in front, made an immediate left turn and descended about 100 feet," Callahan said.

"Visibility was unlimited at the time of the incident. The FAA has begun an immediate investigation into the incident to determine just what happened."

He said both flights continued on to O'Hare and landed there safely. Both pilots have filed reports, he said, but there is no early determination of who was at fault for the near-disaster.

A passenger on the United plane notified The Associated Press of the incident.

He said the TWA plane swerved sharply to the left to avoid hitting the United aircraft, which had just been cleared to descend into its landing approach pattern.

On Nov. 26, a Trans World Airlines jumbo jet carrying 114 persons from Philadelphia to Los Angeles and an American Airlines plane with 194 passengers and crew narrowly missed colliding over Michigan. Some 24 persons were injured when the pilot of the American plane took evasive action.

The passenger on the United flight, a Wilmette businessman who asked not to be identified, said the aircraft "went into a holding pattern over the lake and (we) were about 15 minutes to a landing."

"The captain was announcing the weather and said we had broken a heat record today. His next words were, 'The old record was...' and at that point a TWA 727 passed us coming up behind us and banking to the left about 50 feet under our left wing." He estimated the TWA pilot steered the plane into "about a 45-degree angle" to avoid the collision.

The passenger said the United pilot held a steady course during the incident. Afterward, said the businessman, who travels 55,000 to 70,000 miles a year on business, "The captain apologized and said these incidents do happen. He said, 'I understand you all being upset. But we definitely are flying at our prescribed altitude.'"

The passenger, who was flying first-class, said there was no outburst of fear in the front cabin. But he said he heard a stewardess say a woman in one of the rear cabins became ill and a man got out his rosary and began to pray aloud.

Added the passenger: "Had we been in a bunch of clouds none of us would ever have known the planes passed that closely. The whole thing happened in microseconds."

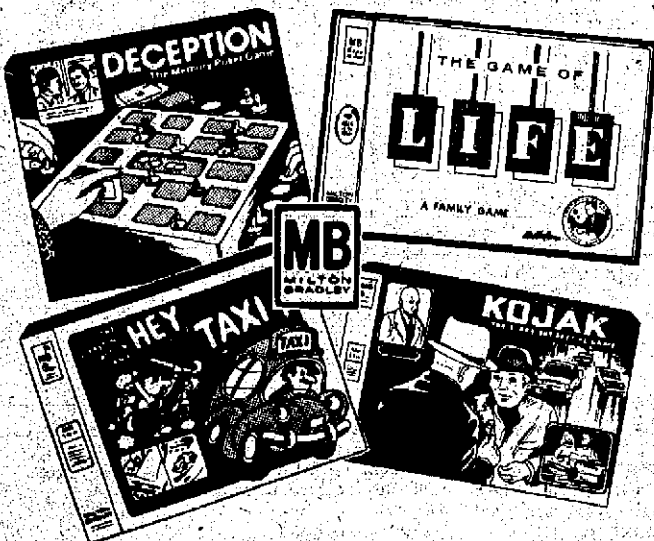

IN THE 17TH and 18th centuries the use of the word "amuse" was "to divert the attention of" or "to mislead." When a tactician of the period of the Revolutionary War sent out a force to amuse the enemy, his intentions were no more humorous than those of today's commander who plans a diversion. The World Almanac notes.

Airliners Nearly Collide Over Lake

CHICAGO (AP) — "The weather was no factor" when a Trans World Airlines jet with 77 persons aboard narrowly missed colliding at 21,000 feet near here with a United Airlines plane carrying 60 passengers, federal authorities said.

The near-miss Friday over Lake Michigan on the Michigan side was the second time in nine days a TWA aircraft came close to a mid-air crash. A Federal Aviation Administration spokesman said it was the 14th near-miss this year.

No passengers or crew members on either Boeing 727 jet were injured.

FAA spokesman Neal Callahan said the incident occurred "at 4:39 local time about 60 miles northeast of O'Hare." United flight 291 was en route to Chicago from Providence, R.I., and TWA flight 403 was approaching Chicago's O'Hare International Airport from Hartford, Conn.

"The TWA captain reported that he came up behind the United aircraft at the same altitude, saw it when it was about 300 feet in front, made an immediate left turn and descended about 100 feet," Callahan said.

"Visibility was unlimited at the time of the incident. The FAA has begun an immediate investigation into the incident to determine just what happened."

He said both flights continued on to O'Hare and landed there safely. Both pilots have filed reports, he said, but there is no early determination of who was at fault for the near-disaster.

A passenger on the United plane notified The Associated Press of the incident.

He said the TWA plane swerved sharply to the left to avoid hitting the United aircraft, which had just been cleared to descend into its landing approach pattern.

On Nov. 26, a Trans World Airlines jumbo jet carrying 114 persons from Philadelphia to Los Angeles and an American Airlines plane with 194 passengers and crew narrowly missed colliding over Michigan. Some 24 persons were injured when the pilot of the American plane took evasive action.

The passenger on the United flight, a Wilmette businessman who asked not to be identified, said the aircraft "went into a holding pattern over the lake and (we) were about 15 minutes to a landing."

"The captain was announcing the weather and said we had broken a heat record today. His next words were, 'The old record was...' and at that point a TWA727 passed us coming up behind us and banking to the left about 50 feet under our left wing." He estimated the TWA pilot steered the plane into "about a 45-degree angle" to avoid the collision.

The passenger said the United pilot held a steady course during the incident. Afterward, said the businessman, who travels 55,000 to 70,000 miles a year on business, "The captain apologized and said these incidents do happen. He said, 'I understand you all being upset. But we definitely are flying at our prescribed altitude.'"

The passenger, who was flying first-class, said there was no outburst of fear in the front cabin. But he said he heard a stewardess say a woman in one of the rear cabins became ill and a man got out his rosary and began to pray aloud.

Added the passenger: "Had we been in a bunch of clouds none of us would ever have known the planes passed that closely. The whole thing happened in microseconds."

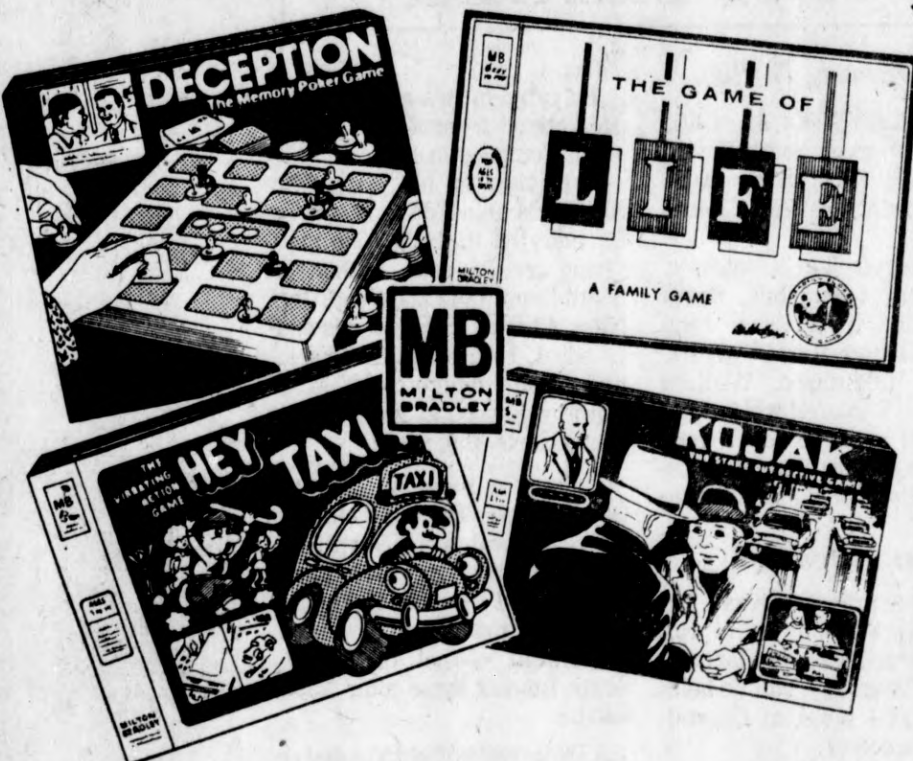

IN THE 17TH and 18th centuries the use of the word "amuse" was "to divert the attention of" or "to mislead". When a tactician of the period of the Revolutionary War sent out a force to amuse the enemy, his intentions were no more humorous than those of today's commander who plans a diversion. The World Almanac notes.

Wife Charged In Covert Man's Gun Death

By TOM RENNER

South Haven Correspondent

COVERT — A 30-year-old Covert woman was arrested on a charge of first degree murder after the shooting death of her husband last night in their Covert township home, according to Covert township police.

Police said Demetre Hudson was arrested at the Hudson home where officers found the body of her husband, Edward Russell Hudson, 39, on the floor about 5:45 p.m. Officers said they were summoned by an anonymous phone call to the home on 38th avenue, west of 78th street.

Police said Mrs. Hudson was to be arraigned on the charge in Seventh District court in Paw Paw today.

It is the second gun-death in Van Buren county this week. Last Monday the wife of a South Haven city councilman, Mrs. Wilbur Ingraham, was fatally wounded during a grocery store holdup. Police said Hudson was shot once in the chest with a handgun. Covert Police Chief Robert Kelenhofer said the victim appeared to have a pulse when they arrived at the scene, but died before an ambulance arrived. Hudson was pronounced dead at the scene by Dr. O. T. Lorenz, deputy Van Buren county medical examiner from South Haven.

Kelenhofer said the shooting apparently stemmed from an argument, but that Mrs. Hudson refused to elaborate. The couple has two children but it was not known if they were in the home at the time of the shooting, police said. Hudson was a carpenter. An autopsy was to be performed today at the Calvin funeral home, South Haven.

Mrs. Hudson was lodged in the South Haven city jail pending arraignment in court.

POLICE ROUNDUP

Victims Recount Robbery, Knifings

Two young bandits last night robbed the Esquire bar, 190 Territorial road, Benton Harbor, of some $72 and escaped on foot, according to city police. Mrs. Valeri Leatz, bar owner, told police two young men, about 15 to 18, were standing near the jukebox and one pulled a pistol when Mrs. Leatz asked for identification to determine their ages.

Robbery Suspects Ask Hearing

NILES — Three men arrested on charges of armed robbery of the James Kehrer Guns shop north of Niles Thursday demanded preliminary examination when arraigned in Fifth District court here yesterday.

Judge John Iwanluk set bonds of $50,000 each for the three men and ordered them to return to court Tuesday, Dec. 16, for preliminary examination. All three were remanded to the Berrien county jail in St. Joseph in lieu of posting bonds.

Police arrested the three men at the residence of Beverly Osmer, 1120 Fort street, Niles, some seven hours after the gun shop was held up.

State police from the Niles post said yesterday that 90 guns and $1,000 in cash were taken in the holdup. Kehrer and two clerks were in the store when the robbery occurred shortly after 10 a.m. Thursday, but were not injured, police said.

Police said yesterday Kehrer revised the value of the weapons taken, originally set at $20,000, to $11,000. Most of the guns taken in the holdup were recovered after the arrests were made, but the cash has not been found, police said.

minimum of set fees without full disclosure of all contingencies.

"All publicity should be evaluated with regard to its effect on persons with no legal experience," the tentative draft states.

Unwarranted promises of benefits, overrepresentation or venal or harassing conduct are improper.

Some lawyers oppose advertising for several reasons, including fear that it could result in overblown claims and professionally degrading slogans.

But recent court decisions, including one which ended minimum fee schedules, and new litigation have made the profession sensitive to consumer charges.

Also, there is a new interest in the profession in the market for middle class clients who, surveys show, often rule out legal services as too costly for their incomes.

Search costs for a prospective client are almost certainly to be lowered if advertising by specialty and fee is allowed, say consumer representatives, whose views were presented at two hearings the ABA held before drafting the proposed code revisions.

The consumer groups said bar-approved lawyer lists and directories were primarily for corporate and business clients and other lawyers, not for individuals.

Destroyed

Benton township firemen said a fire of undetermined origin destroyed a 10 by 10-foot tool shed on the property of Ernest Tate, 1300 Pipestone road, about 6:55 p.m. Friday.

Firemen said an estimate of loss is not known, but it didn't appear there was much equipment in the shed.

Township firemen at 2:40 p.m. Friday, extinguished a blaze that caused minor damage in the kitchen of a house, occupied by Marshall Carter, 262 Walnut street. Firemen said the blaze apparently was started from the pilot light of a water heater.

The two took $72 from the cash drawer and fled on foot, police were told. Police said the robbery occurred about 11:35 p.m. and the bar was occupied only by Mrs. Leatz and an employee, Charleston Griffith. No shots were fired and no one was injured, police said.

Benton Harbor and Benton township police overnight investigated separate stabbing incidents.

Reported in "serious" condition at Mercy hospital were Maurice Frisco, 21, of 135 Church street, Benton Harbor; and Nathan Jackson, 28, of Royal motel, 4179 Scottdale road, Scottdale.

City police said Frisco reported being stabbed about 10 p.m. in a house at 315 Brunson avenue. Township police said Jackson reportedly was stabbed shortly before 1:35 a.m. today, near Fair and East Britain avenues.

Frisco told police he was at a card party when a quarrel occurred and a man pulled out a pocket knife. Frisco was stabbed in the chest. After the stabbing, Frisco reportedly went to the home of a relative, who drove Frisco to the hospital.

Police said four men have been questioned, but no arrest was made, pending further investigation.

Township police said they learned of Jackson's wound as they were issuing a traffic ticket to a motorist on Fair avenue, not far from Britain, when another motorist drove up and said his friend had been stabbed shortly before. Police escorted the motorist and Jackson to the hospital. The motorist was identified as Charles Crane, Royal motel. He was not involved in the stabbing, police said.

Police said neither Crane nor Jackson gave further details on the stabbing, except to say it occurred out of their car in the lot of a vacant service station at Fair and Britain. Jackson was reported stabbed in the side.

State police from the Benton Harbor post Friday investigated the theft of equipment valued at $100 from the Watervliet Riding Academy, Dwight Boyer road, Route 1, Watervliet.

Reported stolen were a saddle pad, bridle and six horse blankets. Troopers said two other saddles and five other saddle pads were reported missing, but recovered on the property.

Banker Abducted, Held For Ransom!

DETROIT (AP) — The assistant manager of a west side Detroit bank branch was abducted as he arrived for work Friday by two men outside the bank, police said. A telephoned ransom call was made later in the day demanding $250,000 for the release of 25-year-old James Crawford, officials said. Police said the ransom demand would be met. It was the third extortion attempt involving a Detroit-area bank manager in the last three months. A witness, whom police refused to identify, said the two men involved in the abduction arrived at the rear of the bank in a late-model blue Chevrolet Monte Carlo.

Myna Bird Knew Right Word

VISALIA, Calif. (AP) — A Myna bird proved it could talk when he yelled for assistance help after being stuffed in a shoplifter's coat pocket. Witnesses told police the $350 bird distinctly called "help" as the thief fled from a pet store here Thursday.

Neither the bird nor its abductor were captured, officers said.

Strike Idles Big Airline

WASHINGTON (AP) — United Airlines, the nation's largest carrier, canceled all flights through midnight today after 11th-hour negotiations under federal mediators failed to halt a walkout by ground service workers. It was the second major U.S. airline grounded by strikes with the Christmas travel season less than two weeks away. National Airlines has been shut down by a flight attendants' strike since Labor Day. Negotiators continued meeting for four hours after a midnight Friday strike deadline and then recessed until noon. There was no report of progress, and United said a decision would be made later today whether to cancel flights Sunday and thereafter.

Sex-Pot Tests Scheduled

CARDONDALE, Ill. (AP) — Attempts to forestall experiments at Southern Illinois University to measure the effect of marijuana smoking on sexual arousal appear to have failed. Authorities say the federal government is ready to give the green light to a university psychologist to proceed with his $121,000, two-year, federally funded investigation.

Ambulance Firm's Officers Accused

NILES — Officers of the St. Joseph-based STAT ambulance service are scheduled to appear in Fifth District court here Monday to enter pleas on charges of operating an ambulance in the Niles-Buchanan area without an ambulance license.

Judge John Iwanluk issued warrants Thursday for STAT officers Sherry Kieaveland, president, Alfred Nowlin, vice president and Naomi Nowlin, secretary-treasurer.

STAT began emergency ambulance service in the Niles-Buchanan area Nov. 17 after signing a contract with the Southwest Michigan Community Ambulance service. The agency represents the six municipalities of the cities of Niles and Buchanan and the townships of Bertrand, Buchanan, Niles, and Howard.

The six governments created the ambulance agency and awarded STAT a 90-day contract after Robert Wilson, owner of Gold Crown Ambulance service, Niles, announced he would not provide emergency ambulance service to the area after Nov. 17.

The investigation was initiated after Wilson filed a complaint Tuesday, Niles township police said.

Jeff Long, assistant Berrien county prosecutor, said the charges cover a period from Nov. 17 to Dec. 3.

At a meeting of the ambulance agency held Wednesday night, Mrs. Kieaveland announced that STAT had delivered a license application to Lansing and had received verbal approval from the state to operate the vehicle.

Warrants for STAT officers were issued after an investigation was conducted by Niles township police.

area along U.S. 1.

The area includes factories, junk yards, truck stops and taverns. It is in the heart of Hudson County, a stronghold of organized crime for decades.

The landfill is owned by Philip Moscato and has been closed for about six years, according to the State Public Utilities Commission.

Those appearing in the police lineup will be Salvatore Briguglio, 47, of Paramus; his brother Gabriel, 36, of East Rutherford; and Thomas Andretta, 38, of Hasbrouck Heights.

Authorities in New Jersey say Salvatore Briguglio and Thomas Andretta have ties to the Genovese Mafia family. Salvatore also is identified by law enforcement sources as Provenzano's right-hand man and his contact with Zicarelli, reputed head of the Mafia in Hudson County, N.J.

Gabriel Briguglio has been described by law enforcement sources as a strong man for Local 560.

Asked about the mysterious informant who identified his three clients as Hoffa's killers, attorney William Bufalino of Detroit will claim the informant "must be on the lunatic fringe ... somebody seeking a reduced sentence or a favor." He said his clients were never in Michigan last summer.

Bufalino said, however, he does not know whether the informant is a convict, as some published reports now say. Bufalino, who once represented Hoffa in a jury tampering case, said he has "no idea" who the informant is.

Bufalino indicated all his clients invoked their Fifth Amendment right against self-incrimination.

Judge John Iwaniuk set bonds of $50,000 each for the three men and ordered them to return to court Tuesday, Dec. 16, for preliminary examination. All three were remanded to the Berrien county jail in St. Joseph in lieu of posting bonds.

Police arrested the three men at the residence of Beverly Osmer, 1126 Fort street, Niles, some seven hours after the gun shop was held up.

State police from the Niles post said yesterday that 98 guns and $1,000 in cash were taken in the holdup. Kehrer and two clerks were in the store when the robbery occurred shortly after 10 a.m. Thursday, but were not injured, police said.

Police said yesterday Kehrer revised the value of the weapons taken, originally set at $20,000, to $11,900. Most of the guns taken in the holdup were recovered after the arrests were made, but the cash has not been found, police said.

Banker Abducted, Held For Ransom!

DETROIT (AP) — The assistant manager of a west side Detroit bank branch was abducted as he arrived for work Friday by two men outside the bank, police said. A telephoned ransom call was made later in the day demanding $250,000 for the release of 25-year-old James Crawford, officials said. Police said the ransom demand would be met. It was the third extortion attempt involving a Detroit-area bank manager in the last three months. A witness, whom police refused to identify, said the two men involved in the abduction arrived at the rear of the bank in a late-model blue Chevrolet Monte Carlo.

Myna Bird Knew Right Word

VISALIA, Calif. (AP) — A Myna bird proved it could talk when he yelled for assistance help after being stuffed in a shoplifter's coat pocket. Witnesses told police the $350 bird distinctly called "help" as the thief fled from a pet store here Thursday.

Neither the bird nor its abductor were captured, officers said.

Strike Idles Big Airline

WASHINGTON (AP) — United Airlines, the nation's largest carrier, canceled all flights through midnight today after 11th-hour negotiations under federal mediators failed to halt a walkout by ground service workers. It was the second major U.S. airline grounded by strikes with the Christmas travel season less than two weeks away. National Airlines has been shut down by a flight attendants' strike since Labor Day. Negotiators continued meeting for four hours after a midnight Friday strike deadline and then recessed until noon. There was no report of progress, and United said a decision would be made later today whether to cancel flights Sunday and thereafter.

Sex-Pot Tests Scheduled

CARBONDALE, Ill. (AP) — Attempts to forestall experiments at Southern Illinois University to measure the effect of marijuana smoking on sexual arousal appear to have failed. Authorities say the federal government is ready to give the green light to a university psychologist to proceed with his $121,000, two-year, federally funded investigation.

Ambulance Firm's Officers Accused

NILES — Officers of the St. Joseph-based STAT ambulance service are scheduled to appear in Fifth District court here Monday to enter pleas on charges of operating an ambulance in the Niles-Buchanan area without an ambulance license.

Judge John Iwaniuk issued warrants Thursday for STAT officers Sherry Kleaveland, president, Alfred Nowlin, vice president and Naomi Nowlin, secretary-treasurer.

STAT began emergency ambulance service in the Niles-Buchanan area Nov. 17 after signing a contract with the Southwest Michigan Community Ambulance service. The agency represents the six municipalities of the cities of Niles and Buchanan and the townships of Bertrand, Buchanan, Niles, and Howard.

The six governments created the ambulance agency and awarded STAT a 90-day contract after Robert Wilson, owner of Gold Crown Ambulance service, Niles, announced he would not provide emergency ambulance service to the area after Nov. 17.

The investigation was initiated after Wilson filed a complaint Tuesday, Niles township police said.

Jeff Long, assistant Berrien county prosecutor, said the charges cover a period from Nov. 17 to Dec. 3.

At a meeting of the ambulance agency held Wednesday night, Mrs. Kleaveland announced that STAT had delivered a license application to Lansing and had received verbal approval from the state to operate the vehicle.

Warrants for STAT officers were issued after an investigation was conducted by Niles township police.

area along U.S. 1.

The area includes factories, junk yards, truck stops and taverns. It is in the heart of Hudson County, a stronghold of organized crime for decades.

The landfill is owned by Philip Moscato and has been closed for about six years, according to the State Public Utilities Commission.

Those appearing in the police lineup will be Salvatore Briguglio, 47, of Paramus; his brother Gabriel, 36, of East Rutherford; and Thomas Andretta, 38, of Hasbrouck Heights.

Authorities in New Jersey say Salvatore Briguglio and Thomas Andretta have ties to the Genovese Mafia family. Salvatore also is identified by law enforcement sources as Provenzano's right-hand man and his contact with Zicarelli, reputed head of the Mafia in Hudson County, N.J.

Gabriel Briguglio has been described by law enforcement sources as a strong man for Local 560.

Asked about the mysterious informant who identified his three clients as Hoffa's killers, attorney William Bufalino of Detroit said the informant "must be on the lunatic fringe ... somebody seeking a reduced sentence or a favor." He said his clients were never in Michigan last summer.

Bufalino said, however, he does not know whether the informant is a convict, as some published reports now say. Bufalino, who once represented Hoffa in a jury tampering case, said he has "no idea" who the informant is.

Bufalino indicated all his clients invoked their Fifth Amendment right against self-incrimination.

Tigers Almost 'Steele' Victory From Touted Bearcats

By JACK WALKDEN
Staff Sports Writer
BATTLE CREEK — Benton Harbor's Tigers nearly "stealed" a victory in its basketball opener here Friday night.

Russell Steele poured in 24 points, including 14 during a fourth quarter Tiger comeback. But it wasn't enough as Battle Creek Central en route to a 70-66 defeat before an overflow crowd of more than 3,200 fans at Central Fieldhouse.

The Bearcats, now 2-0 and figured by many to be one of the Class A powers, played much of the game without star forward K. P. Porter, who was sent to sidelines with an injured hand late in the first quarter.

But sparked by 6-6 center Leon Guydon's 24 points and 21 more by guard Daryl Mitchell, Central moved to a 53-41 lead late in the third quarter. It was there that Steele started his fireworks.

After hitting just three of his first 13 shots from the floor, Steele found the range on eight of final nine, most on a variety of 15 or 20-foot shots. His 15-footer from the corner at the third-quarter buzzer trimmed the Bearcat lead to 16 at 53-43.

The 6-4 senior's shooting eye kept the Tigers in the game in the final quarter, but they could never quite get over the hump.

Ray Thompson's steal attempt with 13 seconds left resulted in a foul and sent Mitchell to the line where he led the game by sinking both tosses.

"That Steele made some un-godly shots in the fourth quarter," Battle Creek coach Chuck Turner shuttered. "You have to give Benton Harbor a lot of credit. They hung in there tough."

There was no happiness in Tiger coach Earl McKee's voice, however. Benton Harbor surprising stayed in the game despite 27 turnovers, a poor shooting effort (28 of 74 for 38 per cent) and the inability to hit free throws. The Tigers hit on just eight of 18 from the charity stripe and therein lies the difference in the game. Battle Creek canned 14 of 21.

They just outthusted us," McKee lamented. "We never really released to play the way we can. We played tight and were tense. We just had too many mistakes. Despite the fact that it was our first game we should have been ready to play better basketball."

"We must have missed 10 to 15 layups," he added. "If we had hit our layups and free throws, we would have won."

One thing which pleased McKee was the defensive job. Fred Woods did on Guydon, despite the fact the Bearcat center scored 24 points. Woods gave him two inches in height. "Woods did a hustling job," McKee said. "Even in the first half, he did a good job but no one helped out. In the second half, everyone helped out more. We tried not to give him that much time."

Guydon scored 15 of his point total in the first half, but was held to just four of nine from the floor and nine points in the second.

Ray Thompson added 19 points to the Benton Harbor total, but needed 22 shots for his eight field goals. Junior guard Steve McNutt tossed in 11.

Battle Creek committed 25 turnovers, including 10 in the fourth quarter, and hit on 28 of 84 from the floor for 44 per cent.

Benton Harbor surprisingly held a 44-36 rebounding edge over the taller Bearcats with Bennie Bowers pulling down 11 and Steele nine. Guydon came away with 12.

The Tigers gained a split for the evening by winning the junior varsity game 64-63 in overtime. Ronald Page scored six of his 15 points in the overtime. Ray Jones, who tossed in 12, scored a basket at the regulation buzzer to send the game to an extra period. Rick McDonald also had 12 for the Tigers, while David Wilson of Battle Creek was the game's top scorer with 28.

Bear Gunners Drop Lakeview

SJ Starters Sharpshooters

By JOHN VANDEN HEEDER
Sports Editor

St. Joseph's sharpshooting starters gunned down Battle Creek Lakeview 78-60 in the Big Seven conference opener for both squads Friday night in the Bear gym.

St. Joe connected on a deadly 80 per cent of its shots while putting all five starters in double figures — Corey Benford 16, Dave Ziebart 15, Mike Collier 14, Dale Wright 13 and Fred Pries 10.

"We have 50 per cent shooters...that's where it should be," declared Bear coach George Gaucher on the 33 for 66 field goal effort which kept his squad unbeaten at 3-0 overall.

Another excellent St. Joseph, defensive effort also played a key role in the outcome, as the Lakeview Spartans, now 1-1 on the season, made just 31 per cent of its field goals.

"I feel we could shoot better," noted Lakeview coach Joe Kurtz, "but I must compliment the St. Joe defense. They played good, tough, aggressive defense and forced us into some bad shots." Mark Leighton, a 6-7 junior center, led Lakeview point-makers with 24 points. Guard Jeff Cope added 12 and Stan Keagle came off the bench to net 10.

Lakeview opened the game with a 2-0 lead, but St. Joe then took charge and never trailed again.

Using man-to-man full court pressure, St. Joe forced Lakeview into six turnovers in first 2½ minutes of the game while posting a lead of 8-2.

But St. Joe got into early foul trouble and had to drop out of the full court pressure. Gaucher even used a zone defense for the first time this season.

The Bears had its three front line men and top up front sub, Henry Follman, all with three fouls in the first half. Follman got eight points in the second quarter in a reserve role and led Gaucher to comments. "He's a top sixth man, there's no doubt about that."

Pries and Follman eventually fouled out in the last period, but by then the game was decided.

After trailing 38-32 at half-time, Lakeview got within two at 38-36 at the start of the second half. But the Bears quickly spurred to another healthy lead with the help of a couple of fast break baskets.

St. Joe lead 53-44 going into the fourth period and quickly put the game away by hitting its first five field goals and its first six free throws. The Bears finished the quarter with an almost perfect nine for 10 effort from the floor, with Ziebart getting 10 of his points.

Aside from the decided St. Joe shooting edge, other facets of the game were about even. St. Joe had 45 rebounds — including 12 by Pries — and 26 turnovers while taller Lakeview had 41 rebounds — including nine by Leighton — and 25 turnovers. The Bears also made 12 of 19 free throws (63 per cent) while the Spartans hit 16 of 24 (67 per cent).

Pries led St. Joe in steals with six while Benford was the assist leader with nine.

In summing up the game, Gaucher concluded: "To put it succinctly, I think we outthusted them. Our hustle made up for mental lapses."

St. Joseph jayvees also hiked their record to 3-0 with an 82-76 overtime triumph sparked by guard Greg Zuhl.

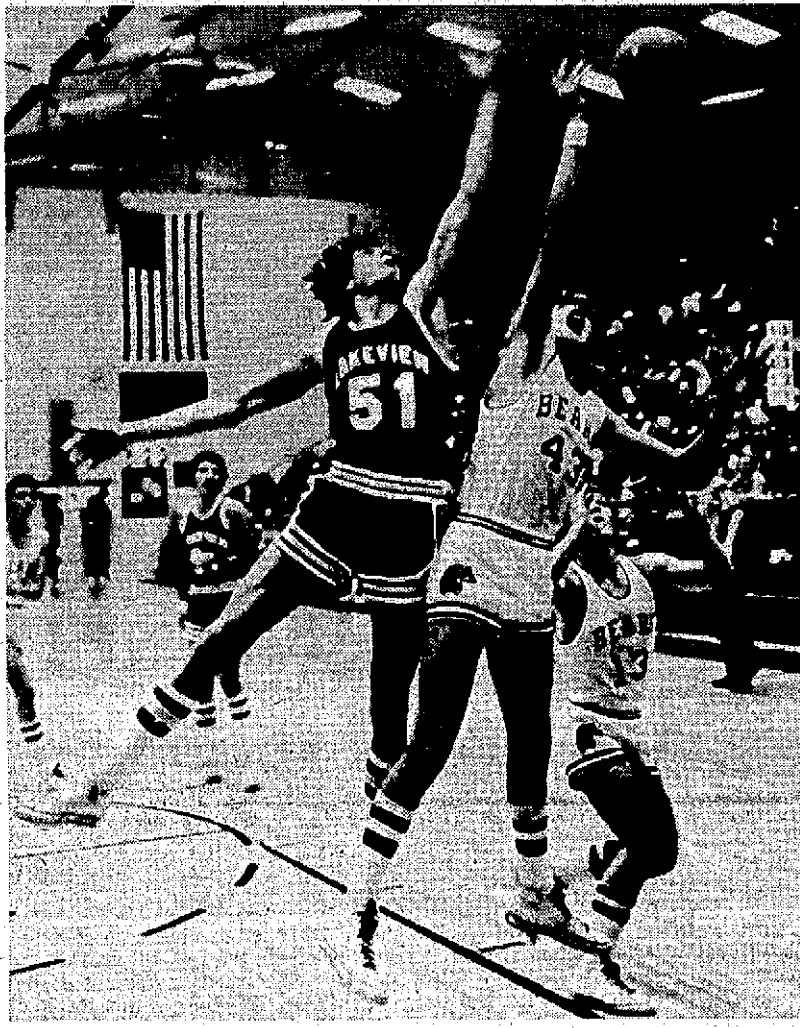

Zuhl finished with 28 points, including two free throws which put the little Bears ahead 78-76 with 40 seconds left in the overtime. He followed with two steals and the final four points of the game.

Steve Ziebart and Keene Taylor added 14 and 11 points, respectively, to the St. Joe cause while Jeff Beal had 15 rebounds. Tops for Lakeview was Bruce Barrea with 17 points.

Undeclared Panthers For Real Watervliet Stuns Gaels!

GALLEN — Watervliet is for real! If you don't believe it, ask Gallen.

The Panthers of first-year coach Ken Marzka stunned the Gaels, 1 defending Red Arrow co-champion and a Class D quarterfinalist last season, 73-64 here Friday night.

Watervliet put Gallen into an early hole with a successful 2-2-1 press and never let the Gaels out with an offense which included four double figures scorers, including three juniors.

Ken Marzka, a senior and the son of the coach, and Jim Weaver scored 18 apiece; Chuck Brock netted 14, and Tom Hutchinson added 13 as the Panthers hiked their record to 3-0 while scoring more than 70 points for only the third time in the last 25 games.

Watervliet also hit a deadly 59 per cent of its shots (33 of 56) while sending Gallen down to its first loss in three games. The Panthers are now 2-0 in the Red Arrow and the Gaels 1-1.

"They took the game right to us," commented Gallen coach Mike Heckathorn. "We made several turnovers (against the press), they capitalized and jumped out to a 14-2 lead. It was then catch up ball for the Gaels the rest of the ball game."

Heckathorn said Watervliet's first eight points came on layups "and from that point Gallen had to go to a man-to-man (defense) and was never able to narrow the score."

Gallen did get to within six points with possession of the ball with 56 seconds left in the game, but the Gaels blew a chance to get back into the game by missing a layup and a follow up shot.

"I really think they simply outthusted our ball players," continued Heckathorn. "Once they got into the lead they continued to hustle and challenge everybody. I think it points out to our ball players and the rest of the league that everyone in our league is going to be exceptionally tough."

Gallen, which made a good 28 of 68 field goals (43 per cent), got 18 points from Rick Busher and 16 apiece from Don Kooy and Dale Luther.

Heckathorn saw the offensive effort of Busher, a transfer student, as one bright spot in an otherwise dismal Gallen night.

Watervliet also held a rebounding edge for the night. The Panthers had 33 caroms, including 11 by Hutchinson, while Gallen had 32, including 13 by Kooy.

Neither team shot well at the free throw lines, with Gallen making six of 13 (46 per cent) and Watervliet seven of 17 (41 per cent). The Gaels had the better floor game with 15 turnovers, compared to the Panthers' 20.

Gallen didwin the junior varsity preliminary 58-49 with Matt Koziel scoring 15, Tom Murdoch 14 and Brad Marshall 13. Willmeng topped Watervliet with 12.

SJ Girls Ousted From Tournament

GRAND RAPIDS — Free throws proved fatal for St. Joseph here Friday night as the Bears lost 52-41 to Grand Haven in the Class A regional of the girls state basketball tournament.

For the night, St. Joe could only put in one of 11 free throws while Grand Haven hit 11 of 18, including nine in the final quarter.

"The big factors were our turnovers and our poor free throw shooting," commented Bear coach Marty Scherr. "They just hit their free throws while we missed ours. We allowed only six baskets the last half so free throws were the difference. Those nine in the last quarter put the game away for them." Grand Haven held quarter leads of 14-12, 31-21 and 37-29. The Bears never could get closer than six points in the last half.

Kay Stickney led the Bears with 12 points while Andy Gast and Sue Griswold both added 10. Jane Robinson and Thea Garrish both earned 16 for the winners.

The Bears held a 30-25 rebound edge with Griswold collecting nine for St. Joe. The Bears shot 40 per cent from the field.

St. Joe ends the season with a fine overall record of 21-2.

"It ended quick but we had a very good year," noted Scherr.

Rangers Use Old Tricks For 74-68 Triumph

By JERRY DYKSTRA
Staff Sports Writer

CASSOPOLIS — Cassopolis was back to its old tricks here Friday night.

The Rangers, who drove to the Class C state finals last season thanks to plenty of late heroics, used that same formula to register a wild, wacky 74-68 double overtime victory over gallant Lakeshore in the steamy, packed Cass matchbox.

Cassopolis, which came from behind to earn ties at the end of regulation and the first overtime, finally pulled out the Blossomland conference opening win by outscoring the depleted Lancers 12-6 in the second three-minute session.

Center Gary Young and forward Glen Hawkins saved their best efforts for the overtimes to walk away with hero honors. The two combined to score 18 of the Rangers' 20 points in the extra periods with both sinking six points for all of Cass' 12 points in the final.

Young, who finished with 20 points, 18 rebounds and six blocked shots, was boxed in by Lakeshore's Tom Jager and Mike Mason during regulation and held to 10 points. But then he exploded as he hit four points in the first overtime, including the tying bucket with 15 seconds to go, and then concluded the Cass scoring with three straight hoops (two on tips) to seal the victory in the second overtime.

Hawkins scored only 10 points in the game but eight of those came in the six extra minutes, including the first six points of the last overtime.

"I thought we played a sloppy game and still won," declared Cass coach Bob Follett. "We just weren't sharp for our opener. We didn't run a fast break all night. We're going to have to be sharper to compete with Buchanan."

"I thought we had a real team effort. I think our bench was the difference. We used 10 kids and all made contributions."

The Rangers also got 17 points from newcomer Alvin Vanzant, who fouled out in the first overtime and 10 from Ricky Evans. Reggie Scott added nine with his 17-footer with 37 seconds left deadlocking the game at 54-54 at the end of regulation.

Jager paced the Lancers with 19 points, 18 rebounds and three blocks before fouling out early in the second overtime. With Jager out, Young was able to muscle in for his tips at the end. Jim Rosenhagen swished 14 for Lakeshore, Mike Mason 12 points and 14 rebounds and Larry Tolh nine points off the bench. Craig Shafer got into early foul trouble and ended with six points before fouling out in the fourth period.

"I thought we gave a super effort...we played well enough to win," voiced Lakeshore coach Lloyd MacTavish. "I think we learned a lot out there tonight and gained a lot of confidence."

"I think perhaps the difference was our lack of experience near the end and experience on their part. Plus those key turnovers in inopportune times. But everyone I put in there did a good job. I can name them all."

Lakeshore, which led most of the game, carved a 54-50 lead with three minutes to go in regulation. But then the Lancers made four turnovers while going scoreless as the Rangers earned a tie at the end of regulation.

Floor mistakes hurt the Lancers as they finished with 29 errors with 10 coming during the last nine minutes of play. Cass made 25.

Both teams turned in cool shooting performances in the overtime sessions. Lakeshore was 29 of 77 for 38 per cent. In foul tosses Cass was 10 of 19 and Lakeshore 10 of 20.

Lakeshore charts had the Lancers with a 48-34 rebounding

Tigers Almost 'Steele' Victory From Touted Bearcats

By JACK WALKDEN
Staff Sports Writer
BATTLE CREEK — Benton Harbor's Tigers nearly "stealed" a victory in its basketball opener here Friday night.

Russell Steele poured in 24 points, including 14 during a fourth quarter Tiger comeback. But it wasn't enough as Battle Creek Central defeated Benton Harbor down to a 70-66 defeat before an overflow crowd of more than 3,200 fans at Central Fieldhouse.

The Bearcats, now 2-0 and figured by many to be one of the Class A powers, played much of the game without star forward K. P. Porter, who was sent to sidelines with an injured hand late in the first quarter.

But sparked by 6-6 center Leon Guydon's 24 points and 21 more by guard Daryl Mitchell, Central moved to a 53-41 lead late in the third quarter. It was there that Steele started his fireworks.

After hitting just three of his first 13 shots from the floor, Steele found the range on eight of final nine, most on a variety of 15 or 20-foot shots. His 15-footer from the corner at the third-quarter buzzer trimmed the Bearcat lead to 10 at 53-43.

The 6-4 senior's shooting eye kept the Tigers in the game in the final quarter, but they could never quite get over the hump.

A basket by Steele crept Benton Harbor to within 68-66 with 36 seconds left to play, but that was as close as the Tigers could get.

Ray Thompson's steal attempt with 13 seconds left resulted in a foul and sent Mitchell to the line where he iced the game by sinking both tosses.

"That Steele made some ungodly shots in the fourth quarter," Battle Creek coach Chuck Turner shuttered. "You have to give Benton Harbor a lot of credit. They hung in there tough."

There was no happiness in Tiger coach Earl McKee's voice, however. Benton Harbor surprising stayed in the game despite 27 turnovers, a poor shooting effort (29 of 74 for 39 per cent) and the inability to hit free throws. The Tigers hit on just eight of 18 from the charity stripe and therein lies the difference in the game. Battle Creek canned 14 of 21.

They just outlasted us," McKee lamented. "We never really released to play the way we can. We played tight and were tense. We just had too many mistakes. Despite the fact that it was our first game we should have been ready to play better basketball."

"We must have missed 10 to 15 layups," he added. "If we had hit our layups and free throws, we would have won."

One thing which pleased McKee was the defensive job Fred Woods did on Guydon, despite the fact the Bearcat center scored 24 points. Woods gave him two inches in height.

"Woods did a hustling job," McKee said. "Even in the first half, he did a good job but no one helped out. In the second half, everyone helped out more. We tried not to give him that much time."

Guydon scored 15 of his point total in the first half, but was held to just four of nine from the floor and nine points in the second.

Ray Thompson added 19 points to the Benton Harbor total, but needed 22 shots for his eight field goals. Junior guard Steve McNutt tossed in 11.

Battle Creek committed 25 turnovers, including 10 in the fourth quarter, and hit on 28 of 64 from the floor for 44 per cent.

Benton Harbor surprisingly held a 44-36 rebounding edge over the taller Bearcats with Bennie Bowers pulling down 11 and Steele nine. Guydon came away with 12.

The Tigers gained a split for the evening by winning the junior varsity game 64-63 in overtime. Ronald Page scored six of his 15 points in the overtime. Ray Jones, who tossed in 12, scored a basket at the regulation buzzer to send the game to an extra period. Rick McDonald also had 12 for the Tigers, while David Wilson of Battle Creek was the game's top scorer with 29.

Bear Gunners Drop Lakeview

SJ Starters Sharpshooters

By JOHN VANDEN HEDE
Sports Editor

St. Joseph's sharpshooting starters gunned down Battle Creek Lakeview 78-60 in the Big Seven conference opener for both squads Friday night in the Bear gym.

St. Joe connected on a deadly 50 per cent of its shots while putting all five starters in double figures — Corey Benford 16, Dave Ziebart 15, Mike Collier 14, Dale Wright 13 and Fred Pries 10.

"We have 50 per cent shooters...that's where it should be," declared Bear coach George Gaunder on the 33 for 66 field goal effort which kept his squad unbeaten at 3-0 overall.

Another excellent St. Joe defensive effort also played a key role in the outcome, as the Lakeview Spartans, now 1-1 on the season, made just 31 per cent of its field goals.

"I feel we could shoot better," noted Lakeview coach Joe Kurtti, "but I must compliment the St. Joe defense. They played good, tough, aggressive defense and forced us into some bad shots."

Mark Leighton, a 6-7 junior center, led Lakeview point-makers with 24 points. Guard Jeff Cope added 12 and Stan Keagle came off the bench to net 10.

Lakeview opened the game with a 2-0 lead, but St. Joe then took charge and never trailed again.

Using man-to-man full court pressure, St. Joe forced Lakeview into six turnovers in first 2½ minutes of the game while posting a lead of 8-2.

But St. Joe got into early foul trouble and had to drop out of the full court pressure, Gaunder even used a zone defense for the first time this season.

The Bears had its three front line men and top upfront sub, Henry Follman, all with three fouls in the first half. Follman got eight points in the second quarter in a reserve role and led Gaunder to comment: "He's a top sixth man, there's no doubt about that."

Pries and Follman eventually fouled out in the last period, but by then the game was decided.

After trailing 38-32 at half-time, Lakeview got within two at 38-36 at the start of the second half. But the Bears quickly spurred to another healthy lead with the help of a couple of fast break baskets.

St. Joe lead 53-44 going into the fourth period and quickly put the game away by hitting its first five field goals and its first six free throws. The Bears finished the quarter with an almost perfect nine for 10 effort from the floor, with Ziebart getting 10 of his points.

Aside from the decided St. Joe shooting edge, other facets of the game were about even. St. Joe had 45 rebounds — including 12 by Pries — and 26 turnovers while taller Lakeview had 41 rebounds — including nine by Leighton — and 25 turnovers. The Bears also made 12 of 19 free throws (63 per cent) while the Spartans hit 16 of 24 (67 per cent).

Pries led St. Joe in steals with six while Benford was the assist leader with nine.

In summing up the game, Gaunder concluded: "To put it succinctly, I think we outlasted them. Our hustle made up for mental lapses."

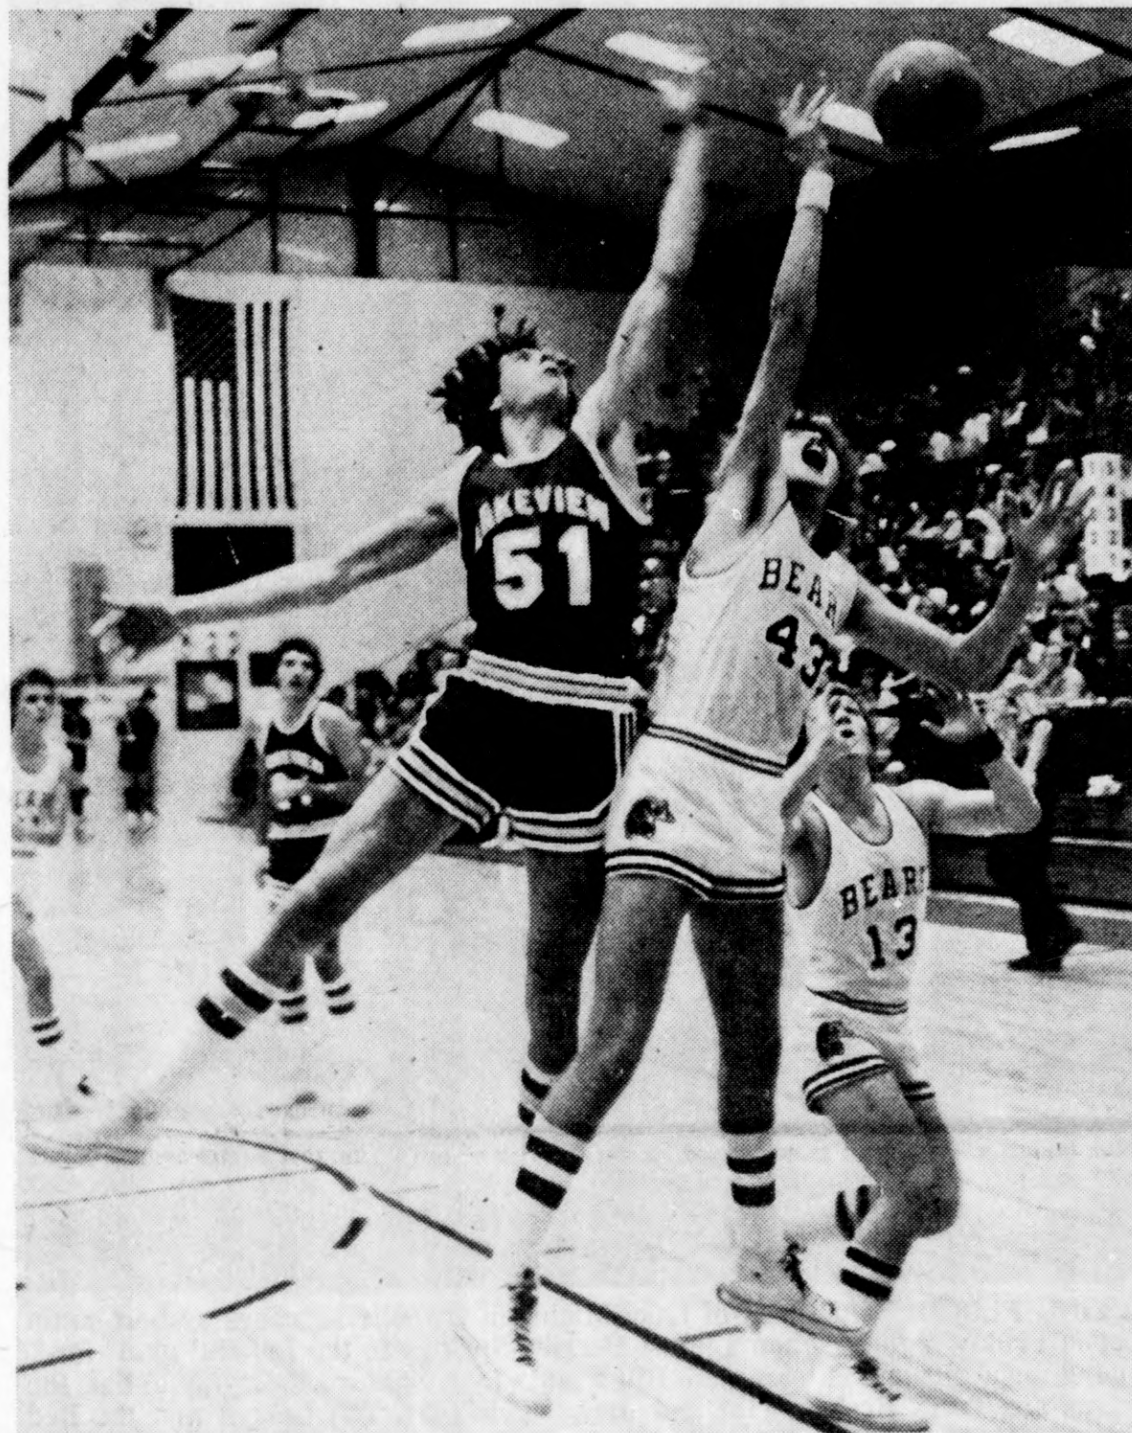

St. Joseph jayvees also hiked their record to 3-0 with an 82-76 overtime triumph sparked by guard Greg Zuhl.

Zuhl finished with 28 points, including two free throws which put the little Bears ahead 78-76 with 40 seconds left in the overtime. He followed with two steals and the final four points of the game.

Steve Ziebart and Keene Taylor added 14 and 11 points, respectively, to the St. Joe cause while Jeff Beal had 15 rebounds. Tops for Lakeview was Bruce Barea with 17 points.

Undefeated Panthers For Real Watervliet Stuns Gaels!

GALIEN — Watervliet is for real! If you don't believe it, ask Galien.

The Panthers of first-year coach Ken Marzka stunned the Gaels, 1 defending Red Arrow co-champion and a Class D quarterfinalist last season, 73-64 here Friday night.

Watervliet put Galien into an early hole with a successful 2-2-1 press and never let the Gaels out with an offense which included four double figures scorers, including three juniors.

Ken Marzka, a senior and the son of the coach, and Jim Weaver scored 18 apiece; Chuck Brock netted 14, and Tom Hutchinson added 13 as the Panthers hiked their record to 3-0 while scoring more than 70 points for only the third time in the last 25 games.

Watervliet also hit a deadly 59 per cent of its shots (33 of 56) while sending Galien down to its first loss in three games. The Panthers are now 2-0 in the Red Arrow and the Gaels 1-1.

"They took the game right to us," commented Galien coach Mike Heckathorn. "We made several turnovers (against the press), they capitalized and jumped out to a 14-2 lead. It was then catch up ball for the Gaels the rest of the ball game."

Heckathorn said Watervliet's first eight points came on layups "and from that point Galien had to go to a man-to-man (defense) and was never able to narrow the score."

Galien did get to within six points with possession of the ball with 55 seconds left in the game, but the Gaels blew a chance to get back into the game by missing a layup and a follow up shot.

"I really think they simply outlasted our ball players," continued Heckathorn. "Once they got into the lead they continued to hustle and challenge everybody. I think it points out to our ball players and the rest of the league that everyone in our league is going to be exceptionally tough."

Galien, which made a good 29

of 68 field goals (43 per cent), got 18 points from Rick Busher and 16 apiece from Don Kooy and Dale Luther.

Heckathorn saw the offensive effort of Busher, a transfer student, as one bright spot in an otherwise dismal Galien night.

Watervliet also held a rebounding edge for the night. The Panthers had 33 caroms, including 11 by Hutchinson, while Galien had 32, including 13 by Kooy.

Neither team shot well at the free throw lines, with Galien making six of 13 (46 per cent) and Watervliet seven of 17 (41 per cent). The Gaels had the better floor game with 15 tur-Galien dwined the junior varsity preliminary 59-49 with Matt Koziel scoring 15, Tom Murdoch 14 and Brad Marshall 13. Will-meng topped Watervliet with 12.

"I thought we gave a super effort...we played well enough to win," voiced Lakeshore coach Lloyd MacTavish. "I think we learned a lot out there tonight and gained a lot of confidence."

"I think perhaps the difference was our lack of experience near the end and experience on their part. Plus those key turnovers in inopportune times. But everyone I put in there did a good job. I can name them all."

Lakeshore, which led most of the game, carved a 54-50 lead with three minutes to go in regulation. But then the Lancers made four turnovers while going scoreless as the Rangers earned a tie at the end of regulation.

Floor mistakes hurt the Lancers as they finished with 29 errors with 10 coming during the last nine minutes of play. Cass made 25.

Both teams turned in cool shooting performances in the ragged game. The Rangers, who now have won 11 in a row on their home floor, shot 32 of 91 for 35 per cent but nine of 13 in the overtime sessions.

Lakeshore was 29 of 77 for 38 per cent. In foul tosses Cass was 10 of 19 and Lakeshore 10 of 20. Lakeshore charts had the Lancers with a 48-34 rebounding

SJ Girls Ousted From Tournament

GRAND RAPIDS — Free throws proved fatal for St. Joseph here Friday night as the Bears lost 52-41 to Grand Haven in the Class A regional of the girls state basketball tournament.

For the night, St. Joe could only put in one of 11 free throws while Grand Haven hit 11 of 18, including nine in the final quarter.

"The big factors were our turnovers and our poor free throw shooting," commented Bear coach Marty Scherr. "They just hit their free throws while we missed ours. We allowed only six baskets the last half so free throws were the difference. Those nine in the last quarter put the game away for them."

Grand Haven held quarter leads of 14-12, 31-21 and 37-29. The Bears never could get closer than six points in the last half.

Kay Stickney led the Bears with 12 points while Andy Gast and Sue Griswold both added 10. Jane Robinson and Thea Garrish both canned 16 for the winners.

The Bears held a 30-25 rebound edge with Griswold collecting nine for St. Joe.

The Bears shot 40 per cent from the field.

St. Joe ends the season with a fine overall record of 21-2.

"It ended quick but we had a very good year," noted Scherr.

Altic Leads Lakers Past Rocks, 73-67

Altic Leads Lakers Past Rocks, 73-67

BY PAUL MORGAN
Staff Sports Writer

At the beginning of the season, Lake Michigan Catholic's head basketball coach Al Nixon commented that a new transfer student would help his program once he knew the Lakers' system.

Don Altic proved to Berrien Springs, at least, that he now knows the Lakers' style.

The 6-1 leaping senior came off the bench to score 24 points as the Lakers downed the Shamrocks 73-67 in a Red Arrow contest played in Catholic's gym Friday night.

"Don's a good ballhandler," said Nixon. "He seems to pick up the tempo of the game when he comes in."

Altic was not the only hero in Catholic's second win in as many starts. Senior center Bill Frantz notched 13 points and pulled down 19 rebounds. Tom Flood also had 14 points and Steve Gentry notched 11.

Berrien, now 1-3 overall and 1-1 in the conference, had its shooting stars, too. Terry Hosbein shared game scoring honors with Altic at 24. He also pulled down 16 rebounds to lead his team in that category.

The only other Shamrock in double figures was Rick Thiele with 19 points.

Coach Dave Paulsen's Shamrocks used a tough full-court press in the first half to harass the Lakers. After leading 16-12 at the end of the first quarter, Catholic burned the press for 21 points in the second quarter to take a 37-28 lead at the half.

Paulsen had wanted to take the press off for part of the second half but that idea went out the window when Altic hit nine straight points to open the last half. That gave the Lakers a 46-28 lead with 6:15 left in the third quarter.

"I planned on going with the full court pressure in the first half and then going with the half court press in the second half," commented Paulsen. "But that plan is kind of worthless when you're down by 18 points."

But the press and some poor shooting by the Lakers after their initial spurt brought Berrien back. Catholic led 56-45 after three quarters but the Shamrocks cut that to a six-point margin midway through the fourth quarter.

The Lakers held that lead until Hosbein sank a short jumper with 1:34 left to make it a 69-66 ballgame in favor of Catholic. A pair of free throws by Flood—he made five or seven tries in the last stanza—and two more by Altic sewed up the game for the Lakers.

"We really needed this one to prove we are contenders in the league," said Nixon.

Even with all the running on offense and defense, Nixon only used six men in the game. "We are as well conditioned as any club in the conference," stated the head mentor.

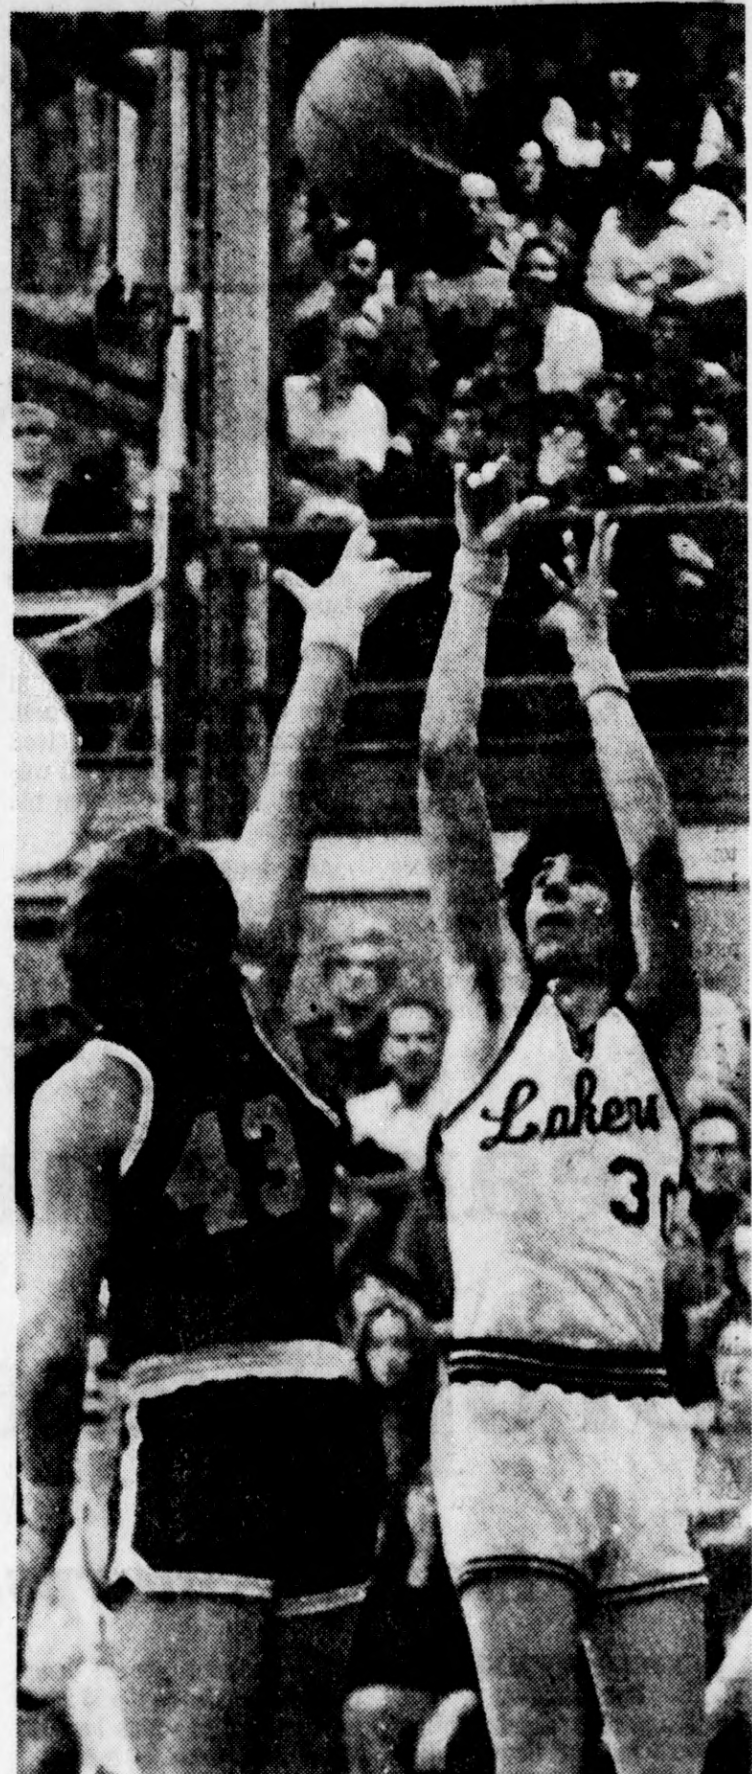

Both teams shot remarkably well for the type of run and gun game played. Lake Michigan hit on 30 of 68 attempts for 44 per cent while Berrien Springs made 29 of 61 shots for 48 per cent.

The Shamrocks won the junior varsity game 58-55. Jack Visin of Lake Michigan Catholic was the high scorer with 18 points.

Eau Claire Defense Tough In Win Over New Buffalo

EAU CLAIRE — Eau Claire threw a tough man-to-man defense at New Buffalo here Friday night, caused 30 Bison turnovers and emerged with a 70-52 Red Arrow victory.

"I thought our kids really played defense tonight... the kids started to really believe in it," declared Beaver coach Dave Gray. "You add the turnovers to the fact that Mike (Oakes) has got young kids, and that probably told the story."

Eau Claire got 11 points from Terry Adams, 17 from Jerry McAfee and 12 from Randy Grandberry while hitting 31 of 70 field goals (44 per cent) and eight of 11 free throws (73 per cent).

The Beavers also had just 13 turnovers, which led Gray to add: "That was really nice, I was glad to see that."

Gray was also happy with his bench. "Randy (Grandberry) and Nelson (Layman) got into early foul trouble, but we went to the bench and didn't lose stride at all."

John Miller came off the bench to lead New Buffalo pointmakers with 19. Roger Ljowski added 12 as the Bisons swished 19 of 54 field goals (35 per cent) and 14 of 24 free throws (58 per cent).

New Buffalo also had a 31 to 29 rebounding edge, including nine by Fritz Moss. Adams led Eau Claire with eight.

Moeller Sparkles Again

BLOOMINGDALE — Marc Moeller tossed in 28 points and pulled down 24 rebounds while leading Fennville to a 68-56 non-conference basketball triumph over Bloomingdale here Friday night.

Moeller connected on 13 of 23 shots in what Blackhawk coach Tom Pelon termed as another "big night." Bloomingdale, now 0-2, battled Fennville to a 32-32 halftime deadlock, but the Blackhawks, now 2-0, pulled away in the second half with scoring advantages the final two periods of 20-12 and 16-11. "We had a lot of poise, moved the ball well and got scoring out of our two forwards," commented Pelon on Fennville's second half takeover.

Fennville forwards Lyle Schut and Jim Scudder tallied 18 and 12 points, respectively, including 10 the second half by Schut.

"Jim and Lyle hit the basket well enough to open things up a little bit," added Pelon, who noted that Bloomingdale played with a "chaser" on Moeller.

Bees Continue Hartford Hex

HARTFORD — Bridgman continued its hex over Hartford here Friday night.

The Bees broke loose in the second period to flatten the Indians 73-47 for the Bees' 11th straight victory over Hartford.

The Indians boarded with taller Bridgman the first half and trailed only 30-27 at intermission. But then Bridgman went to work and outscored the hosts 21-4 in the third quarter to mount an unbeatable advantage.

The Bees showed plenty of balance with four players getting double digits. Bob Linke sank 15, Wolf Wolf 14, Tom Meredith 12 and Howie Mutz 10. Dave Sexton with 13 was the lone Indian to reach double figures. Duane Toney and Gary Fernham both were hurt by foul trouble.

The Bees swished 28 of 60 shots for 47 per cent and were 17 of 23 at the charity stripes. Hartford was 21 of 64 for 33 per cent and five of 15 in foul shots.

Hartford won the battle of rebounds 38-35 with Sexton getting eight caroms and Wolf 11 for the Bees.

Bridgman had 18 floor errors,

Bridgman is now 1-1 in Red Arrow action and 2-2 overall. Hartford is 0-2 in the conference and 1-3 overall.

Pesky River Valley Gives Buchanan Rugged Cage Test

THREE OAKS — Through three quarters of play, it looked like River Valley had a chance to pull off one of the bigger upsets of this young cage season.

But a cold shooting fourth quarter gave opportunistic Buchanan a chance to pull out a 53-42 Blossomland conference win over the Mustangs here Friday night.

The trademark of River

Valley teams—defense—stymied the Bucks, now 3-0 and 1-0 in the league, at every turn. The Mustangs held a 14-10 advantage after one quarter but fell behind at the half, 24-22.

Both teams notched 10 points in the third quarter as the Bucks held a 34-32 lead. But then the bubble burst for the Mustangs.

They couldn't score a point in the opening stages of the last quarter as Buchanan rolled up an insurmountable 10-point lead. River Valley, 0-3 overall, and 0-1 in the league, eventually made just four of 15 field goal attempts in that disastrous quarter.

"I thought we played an excellent game," noted Jerry Schaffer, head coach of River Valley. "We made them work for every point."

The Mustangs' Dave North was the game's high scorer with 22 points while teammate Greg Johnson-pumped in 12 more and pulled down seven rebounds.

Buchanan only used six players but four of them managed to hit double figures. Walt Vanderburgh led the parade with 17 points followed by Ken Garrett with 14 and Mike and Gerald Busby each netted 10.

Garrett was the leading board man with 15 while Gerald Busby hauled in 10 caroms as Buchanan held a 46-18 board edge.

From the floor, the Bucks hit 23 of 58 attempts for 40 per cent while the Mustangs made 18 of 57 for 37 per cent.

Dujon Injured

VAL D'ISERE (AP) — Michel Dujon, 18, one of the young stars of the French alpine skiing team, suffered a severely fractured skull in a fall while testing new skis Thursday at nearby Tignes. He was helicoptered to a hospital at Bourg St. Maurice, where his condition was described as very serious.

WOODWARD WINS: Gregg Woodward of Coloma wins a rebounding battle with two Brandywine players Friday night in the Coloma-Brandywine game at Coloma. Watching are Bobcats Steve McCarthy (44) and Tony Harris and Comet Ron Cooper (42). Woodward hit 22 points but Comets lost 58-57 in the Blossomland league opener. (Carl Hartman photo)

Comets Drop Heartbreaker

Cats Hand Coloma Another One-Point Setback

COLOMA — Sam Wright is getting to be an expert at one-point losses and the head coach of Coloma doesn't like it one bit.

The Comets, now 0-3, dropped their second straight one-point game, this one to Blossomland conference foe Brandywine 58-57 here Friday night in the first league game for both clubs.

The Comets had to play catch up basketball most of the night as the Bobcats held leads of 18-11, 29-21 and 46-40 after the first three quarters.

With 2:02 left in the game, Coloma was still trailing the 2-0 Bobcats by seven points. But gradually they chipped away at the margin until Gregg Woodward made good on a three-point play—he tallied 22 points on the night—to knot the contest at 57-all with 29 seconds left.

Coloma, however, had a technical foul called on it a few seconds later and Steve Wade sank the free shot to give Brandywine its final margin of victory.

Wright had nothing but praise for Woodward, his 6-3 senior forward. "He was almost knocked unconscious in the second quarter but he came back and scored 19 points in the second half," he said.

The head mentor was encouraged by his team's play in the last half. "We ran better in the second half," Wright indicated. "We had a pretty tough defense and we tightened up our press."

Other double figures scorers for the Comets included Joe Jones with 14 and Rich Sherer had 11.

Brandywine had Ed Pilarski score 15 points, Pat Grounds net 14 and Tony Harris had 12.

Wright cited the play of Rob Cooper and Joel Carlson in holding Steve McCarthy down to eight points. Last week against Berrien Springs the 6-2 center notched 32 points.

McCarthy did make up for his lack of scoring with his rebounding as he pulled down 17 boards. Woodward was high man for Coloma with 15.

Britten Leads Niles Past Mustangs

NILES — Ernie Britten scored 18 points as Niles won its first basketball game of the year, a 53-45 victory over Portage Central here Friday night in Big Seven conference action.

The 6-5 senior center notched 18 of his 18 points in the first half as Niles zoomed out to a 28-21 lead at the intermission. Most of his points came as he broke down the baseline and beat an always tough Central zone defense.

The Mustangs made an adjustment and completely shut off Britten in the second half. They also made up some ground on the Vikings while only down by a 41-36 score after three quarters.

But Dean Adams also had a change of strategy for his Vikings' charges in the fourth quarter. "We were going to try and draw them out of their zone by running a four corner offense," said Adams.

It worked just the way the head mentor wanted it as Niles, notched four straight buckets to put the game out of reach.

"This a fast game," said Adams. "They played a real tight zone defense all night."

Steve Adams netted 12 and Arnie White scored 11 points for the other Niles' double figures scorers.

For Portage Central, Russ Vanduzine had 11 points and Jeff Duncan scored 10.

Niles held a 37-26 rebound edge with Britten leading the Vikings with 13.

The Vikings also made 20 of 42 attempts for a respectable 48 per cent.

DeBoe, only a freshman, also pulled down 13 rebounds as Covert held a 50-40 rebounding margin.

"I didn't think we played as well as we did in the first two games but Saugatuck is a good team and we did force a lot of turnovers," noted Covert coach Rod DeYoung.

Forrester paced the losers with 18 points.

The Bulldogs, now 3-0, hit 40 of 91 for 44 per cent while Saugatuck was 33 of 65 for 51 per cent. The winners only managed five of 22 free throws, the Indians five of 15.

Comets Drop Heartbreaker

'Cats Hand Coloma Another One-Point Setback

COLOMA — Sam Wright is getting to be an expert at one-point losses and the head cage coach of Coloma doesn't like it one bit.

The Comets, now 0-3, dropped their second straight one-point game, this one to Blossomland conference foe Brandywine 58-57 here Friday night in the first league game for both clubs.

The Comets had to play catch up basketball most of the night as the Bobcats held leads of 18-11, 29-21 and 46-40 after the first three quarters.

With 2:02 left in the game, Coloma was still trailing the 2-0 Bobcats by seven points. But gradually they chipped away at the margin until Gregg Woodward made good on a three-point play—he totalled 22 points on the night—to knot the contest at 57-all with 29 seconds left.

Coloma, however, had a technical foul called on it a few seconds later and Steve Wade sank the free shot to give Brandywine its final margin of victory.

Wright had nothing but praise for Woodward, his 6-3 senior forward. "He was almost knocked unconscious in the second quarter but he came back and scored 19 points in the second half," he said.

The head mentor was encouraged by his team's play in the last half. "We ran better in the second half," Wright indicated. "We had a pretty tough defense and we tightened up our press."

Other double figures scorers for the Comets included Joe Jones with 14 and Rich Sherer had 11.

Brandywine had Ed Pilarski score 15 points, Pat Grounds net 14 and Tony Harris had 12.

Wright cited he play of Rob Cooper and Joel Carlson in holding Steve McCarthy down to eight points. Last week against Berrien Springs the 6-2 center notched 32 points.

McCarthy did make up for his lack of scoring with his rebounding as he pulled down 17 boards. Woodward was high man for Coloma with 15.

Britten Leads Niles Past Mustangs

NILES — Ernie Britten scored 18 points as Niles won its first basketball game of the year, a 53-45 victory over Portage Central here Friday night in Big Seven conference action.

The 6-5 senior center notched 16 of his 18 points in the first half as Niles zoomed out to a 28-21 lead at the intermission. Most of his points came as he broke down the baseline and beat an always tough Central zone defense.

The Mustangs made an adjustment and completely shut off Britten in the second half. They also made up some ground on the Vikings while only down by a 41-36 score after three quarters.

But Dean Adams also had a change of strategy for his Vikings' charges in the fourth quarter. "We were going to try and draw them out of their zone by running a four corner offense," said Adams.

It worked just the way the head mentor wanted it as Niles notched four straight buckets to put the game out of reach.

High-Flying Covert Wins 85-71

COVERT — High-flying Covert continued its offensive blitz as the Bulldogs creamed Saugatuck 85-71 here Friday night.

The Bulldogs, the highest scoring team in the area going into the game, put four players in twin figures with James DeBoe hitting 20, Phil Robinson 18, Rodney Barnes 12 and Robert Maggard 10.

DeBoe, only a freshman, also pulled down 13 rebounds as Covert held a 50-40 rebounding margin.

"I didn't think we played as well as we did in the first two games but Saugatuck is a good team and we did force a lot of turnovers," noted Covert coach Rod DeYoung.

Forrester paced the losers with 18 points.

The Bulldogs, now 3-0, hit 40 of 91 for 44 per cent while Saugatuck was 33 of 65 for 51 per cent. The winners only managed five of 22 free throws, the Indians five of 15.

Covert is now 1-0 in Allegan-Ottawa league play while Saugatuck drops to 0-1.

Covert also took the jayvee game 53-52 with Jerry Starks dishing up 19 points.

Steve Adams netted 12 and Arnie White scored 11 points for the other Niles' double figures scorers.

For Portage Central, Russ VanDuine had 11 points and Jeff Duncan scored 10.

Niles held a 37-26 rebound edge with Britten leading the Vikings with 13.

The Vikings also made 20 of 42 attempts for a respectable 48 per cent.

Unbeaten Decatur Decisions Lawton

DECATUR — Decatur pulled away from stubborn Lawton in the third period to win 73-52 here Friday night in a Southwestern Athletic Conference clash.

The Raiders only led 30-23 at the half but then went way ahead by outscoring the Blue Devils 23-12 in the third stanza.

Three players hit twin figures for the winners. Jim Overlay led the way with 19 points, Kurt Wiese sank 16 and Dave Mroczek 14.

For Lawton, Bryan Cronenwett flipped in 15 and Dawson Rupp and John Lepley 13 each.

Overlay also paced the Raiders in steals with nine of their 21 and in rebounds with nine of their 33. Lawton had 30 rebounds.

In outcourt shooting, Decatur was 26 of 70 for 38 per cent and Lawton 20 of 55 for 36 per cent. Decatur converted 21 of 27 foul shots, Lawton 12 of 23.

Decatur is now 2-0 this season and Lawton 0-2.

Freshman Guard Sparks UCLA To First Victory

By BERT ROSENTHAL
AP Sports Writer

Gene Bartow is having a difficult time following legendary John Wooden as UCLA's basketball coach — and just as much difficulty in finding a cohesive combination on the court.

Bartow, who took over the defending national champions this season after Wooden retired, savored his first victory with the Bruins Friday night. But it was not an impressive triumph. The highly touted, fifth-ranked Bruins had a struggle before subduing undistinguished San Jose State 90-80.

The game was the first for the Bruins since Nov. 29, when they opened their season with a crushing 84-64 loss to top-rated Indiana.

Brad Holland, a freshman guard who didn't make the trip to

St. Louis for UCLA's game against Indiana because Bartow apparently did not consider him one of the team's 10 best players — a new NCAA rule this season prohibits a visiting team from carrying more than 10 players — sparked the Bruins against San Jose State.

Holland came off the bench and scored 17 points, including nine late in the first half when the Bruins took a 49-39 lead. San Jose State closed the gap to 59-58 with six minutes gone in the second half, before UCLA pulled away.

"I was upset at not going to St. Louis...because I felt I was one of the 10 best players on the team," said the gratified Holland. "But Coach Bartow assured me that the cream will come to the top, and I would play based on my practices."

Bartow used several combinations in an effort to find his best lineup. "Although we're not where we want to be," he said, "I saw some bright spots tonight. Our guards, particularly, Andre McCarter and Brad Holland, played well."

McCarter finished with 18 points.

Other members of The Associated Press' Top 20 in action Friday night included No. 12 San Francisco, a 49-44 winner over Stanford, and 20th-ranked Washington, which downed Wyoming 78-69.

Meanwhile, four early-season tournaments got underway. At Nashville, Tenn., Southern California defeated Vanderbilt 77-72 and Kansas State, behind Chuckie Williams' 47 points, outlasted Holy Cross 89-85 in overtime in the Vanderbilt Classic. In the Sun Devil Classic at Tempe, Ariz., 19th-ranked Arizona State beat Santa Clara 68-59 after Dave Norwood's 35 points helped DePaul outscore Memphis State 100-91.

Missouri routed Baylor 105-70 and Oklahoma City walloped Cleveland State 84-60 in the Show-Me Classic at Columbia, Mo. And Duquesne edged Pitt 75-74 and Nevada-Las Vegas trounced Syracuse 105-83 in the Steel Bowl tournament at Pittsburgh.

The winners in each of those tournaments play for the titles tonight.

In a doubleheader at Philadelphia, Temple defeated Fordham 83-57 and Villanova trimmed American University 68-55. Other scores included: Oregon State 106, Portland State 78, and Portland 70, Idaho 60.

Chargers Hope To Avert Worst NFL Record Ever

By BRUCE LOWMY
AP Sports Writer

While 13 teams — half the National Football League — resume their struggles Sunday for the eight playoff berths that signify the starting line on the road to Super Bowl X, a 14th team resumes its struggle to salvage some pride and avert a most embarrassing record.

There have, of course, been winless teams in the league before — but not since the NFL went to a 14-game regular-season schedule. The San Diego Chargers have three more chances to avoid becoming the first.

They've gone through 11 games without as much as a tie

— although sudden-death overtime has twice prevented them from coming out of games with half a tie. They've lost a 13-10 overtime decision to Los Angeles and Denver.

Now they visit Kansas City — and Chiefs Coach Paul Wiggin bristles when it's suggested that his Chiefs have a breather. "We're going to be playing a frustrated team, that'll be coming out of the chute hard," he says. "We're going to have our hands full."

"If anybody thinks we're taking the Chargers lightly, they just don't know much of anything about this game or these teams...No matter how you break it down, 11 losses and no victories means a team is going to be frustrated. I expect the Chargers will be fighting for their dignity, and it's going to be a battle."

The biggest setback for San Diego was the loss of running back Don Woods, who virtually carried the club's offense as a rookie last season.

The Chiefs have been hit by so many injuries they have stopped putting players on their injured reserve list (they've got 11 of them on it now) and are playing out the season with whatever walking wounded they can field. There probably won't be more than about 30 Chiefs ready to face San Diego. That's seven under the permissible 43-man limit.

First place in the East Division of both the American and National Conferences is up for grabs.

In Sunday's other games it's Buffalo at Miami, Baltimore at the New York Giants, Dallas at St. Louis, Washington at Atlanta, Cleveland at Pittsburgh, Cincinnati at Philadelphia, Houston at San Francisco, Green Bay at Minnesota, Los Angeles at New Orleans, the New York Jets at New England and Detroit at Chicago. On Monday night it's Denver at Oakland.

Hurting Lions Face Bears' Rookie QB

CHICAGO (AP) — Rookie quarterback Bob Avellini is expected to make his second straight start Sunday when the Chicago Bears take on the crippled but determined Detroit Lions.

The Bears are in the cellar of the National Football Conference's Central Division while the Lions, despite a rash of injuries, have a 4-5 record and maintain slim hopes of a wild card playoff spot.

To gain a playoff spot, the Lions must win their last three games while other contenders collapse.

Earlier in the season the Lions dealt the Bears a 27-7 loss after which Bear Coach Jack Pardee complained that the Lions were laughing at the Bears who since then have lost six of seven starts including a 38-7 decision at Green Bay last Sunday. Avellini made his first start in the Packer game.

Avellini completed 9 of 23 passes for 109 yards but had three of them intercepted on a windy, snow-swinging afternoon.

But the sixth-round draft choice out of Maryland was unperturbed and insisted he can become a National Football League quarterback now rather than "wait for five years." "I think Avellini can generate some offense," said Pardee, who is giving the youngster a chance to show his talents. In their first 16 games the Bears went with quarterback Gary Huff, who managed to guide them to early victories over the Philadelphia Eagles and the Green Bay Packers.

The Lions have been something else and again will go with Joe Reed at quarterback. Reed took over following knee injuries to Greg Landry and Bill Munson. Reed has worked five games in which he has completed 39 of 112 passes for 874 yards and 5 touchdowns.

Detroit is coming off a 20-0 loss to the Los Angeles Rams Thanksgiving Day. The Lions have 14 players on the injured-reserve list and much of the season they have had to go with 41 men, two below the league's limit.

Despite all this and the fact the Bears have a 2-3 record at home, the Lions are favored over the Bears by one touchdown.

Red Wings Trimmed

OAKLAND (AP) — California's Bob Murdoch and Dave Hrechyosky scored second-period goals and goalie Gilles Meloche made four saves in the final minute to give the Golden Seals a 3-2 victory over the Detroit Red Wings in the National Hockey League Friday night.

The Seals built up a 3-0 lead on Hrechyosky's sixth goal of the season, 12 minutes into the second period.

Detroit made it close with Walt McKechnie picking up his 13th goal of the year 2:15 later, and Nick Libet striking at 13:57 of the final period.

The Seals had a man in the penalty box during the last minute of play, and Detroit pulled its goalie for another skater to give the Red Wings a two-man advantage on the ice. But Meloche made four saves to preserve the victory.

Defenseman Rick Hampton scored the Seals' first goal at 2:18 of the first period as California broke a three-game losing streak and moved within three points of third-place Toronto in the Adams Division.

In other NHL games Friday night, New York edged Kansas City 3-2 and Atlanta rolled over Vancouver 6-2.

Freshman Guard Sparks UCLA To First Victory

By BERT ROSENTHAL
AP Sports Writer

Gene Bartow is having a difficult time following legendary John Wooden as UCLA's basketball coach — and just as much difficulty in finding a cohesive combination on the court.

Bartow, who took over the defending national champions this season after Wooden retired, savored his first victory with the Bruins Friday night. But it was not an impressive triumph. The highly touted, fifth-ranked Bruins had to struggle before subduing undistinguished San Jose State 90-80.

The game was the first for the Bruins since Nov. 29, when they opened their season with a crushing 84-64 loss to top-rated Indiana.

Brad Holland, a freshman guard who didn't make the trip to

St. Louis for UCLA's game against Indiana because Bartow apparently did not consider him one of the team's 10 best players — a new NCAA rule this season prohibits a visiting team from carrying more than 10 players — sparked the Bruins against San Jose State.

Holland came off the bench and scored 17 points, including nine late in the first half when the Bruins took a 49-39 lead. San Jose State closed the gap to 59-56 with six minutes gone in the second half, before UCLA pulled away.

"I was upset at not going to St. Louis...because I felt I was one of the 10 best players on the team," said the gratified Holland. "But Coach Bartow assured me that the cream will come to the top, and I would play based on my practices."

bartow used several combinations in an effort to find his best lineup. "Although we're not where we want to be," he said, "I saw some bright spots tonight. Our guards, particularly, Andre McCarter and Brad Holland, played well."

McCarter finished with 16 points. Other members of The Associated Press' Top 20 in action Friday night included No. 12 San Francisco, a 49-44 winner over Stanford, and 20th-ranked Washington, which downed Wyoming 76-69.

Meanwhile, four early-season tournaments got underway. At Nashville, Tenn., Southern California defeated Vanderbilt 77-72 and Kansas State, behind Chuckie Williams' 47 points, outlasted Holy Cross 89-85 in overtime in the Vanderbilt Classic. In the Sun Devil Classic at Tempe, Ariz., 19th-ranked Arizona State beat Santa Clara 69-59 after Dave Norwood's 35 points helped DePaul outscore Memphis State 100-91.

Missouri routed Baylor 105-70 and Oklahoma City walloped Cleveland State 84-60 in the Show-Me Classic at Columbia, Mo. And Duquesne edged Pitt 75-74 and Nevada-Las Vegas trounced Syracuse 105-83 in the Steel Bowl tournament at Pittsburgh.

The winners in each of those tournaments play for the titles tonight.

In a doubleheader at Philadelphia, Temple defeated Fordham 63-57 and Villanova trimmed American University 68-55. Other scores included: Oregon State 106, Portland State 76, and Portland 70, Idaho 69.

Chargers Hope To Avert Worst NFL Record Ever

By BRUCE LOWITT
AP Sports Writer

While 13 teams — half the National Football League — resume their struggles Sunday for the eight playoff berths that signify the starting line on the road to Super Bowl X, a 14th team resumes its struggle to salvage some pride and avert a most embarrassing record.

There have, of course, been winless teams in the league before — but not since the NFL went to a 14-game regular-season schedule. The San Diego Chargers have three more chances to avoid becoming the first.

They've gone through 11 games without as much as a tie

— although sudden-death overtime has twice prevented them from coming out of games with half a pie. They've lost a 13-10 overtime decision to Los Angeles and Denver.

Now they visit Kansas City — and Chiefs Coach Paul Wiggin bristles when it's suggested that his Chiefs have a breather. "We're going to be playing a frustrated team that'll be coming out of the chute hard," he says. "We're going to have our hands full."

"If anybody thinks we're taking the Chargers lightly, they just don't know much of anything about this game or these teams...No matter how you break it down, 11 losses and no victories means a team is going to be frustrated. I expect the Chargers will be fighting for their dignity, and it's going to be a battle."

both the Chargers and Chiefs are battered by injuries. The biggest setback for San Diego was the loss of running back Don Woods, who virtually carried the club's offense as a rookie last season.

The Chiefs have been hit by so many injuries they have stopped putting players on their injured reserve list (they've got 11 of them on it now) and are playing out the season with whatever walking wounded they can field. There probably won't be more than about 36 Chiefs ready to face San Diego. That's seven under the permissible 43-man limit.

First place in the East Division of both the American and National Conferences is up for grabs.

In Sunday's other games it's Buffalo at Miami, Baltimore at the New York Giants, Dallas at St. Louis, Washington at Atlanta, Cleveland at Pittsburgh, Cincinnati at Philadelphia, Houston at San Francisco, Green Bay at Minnesota, Los Angeles at New Orleans, the New York Jets at New England and Detroit at Chicago. On Monday night it's Denver at Oakland.

Hurting Lions Face Bears' Rookie QB

CHICAGO (AP) — Rookie quarterback Bob Avellini is expected to make his second straight start Sunday when the Chicago Bears take on the crippled but determined Detroit Lions.

The Bears are in the cellar of the National Football Conference's Central Division while the Lions, despite a rash of injuries, have a 6-5 record and maintain slim hopes of a wild card playoff spot.

To gain a playoff spot, the Lions must win their last three games while other contenders collapse.

Earlier in the season the Lions dealt the Bears a 27-7 loss after which Bear Coach Jack Pardee complained that the Lions were laughing at the Bears who since then have lost six of seven starts including a 28-7 decision at Green Bay last Sunday. Avellini made his first start in the Packer game.

Avellini completed 9 of 25 passes for 109 yards but had three of them intercepted on a windy, snow-swirling afternoon.

But the sixth-round draft choice out of Maryland was unperturbed and insisted he can become a National Football League quarterback now rather than "wait for five years."

"I think Avellini can generate some offense," said Pardee, who is giving the youngster a chance to show his talents. In their first 10 games the Bears went with quarterback Gary Huff who managed to guide them to early victories over the Philadelphia Eagles and the Green Bay Packers.

The Lions have been something else and again will go with Joe Reed at quarterback. Reed took over following knee injuries to Greg Landry and Bill Munson. Reed has worked five games in which he has completed 39 of 112 passes for 674 yards and 5 touchdowns.

Detroit is coming off a 20-0 loss to the Los Angeles Rams Thanksgiving Day. The Lions have 14 players on the injured-reserve list and much of the season they have had to go with 41 men, two below the league's limit.

Despite all this and the fact the Bears have a 2-3 record at home, the Lions are favored over the Bears by one touchdown.

Red Wings Trimmed

OAKLAND (AP) — California's Bob Murdoch and Dave Hrechkosy scored second-period goals and goalie Gilles Meloche made four saves in the final minute to give the Golden Seals a 3-2 victory over the Detroit Red Wings in the National Hockey League Friday night.

The Seals built up a 3-0 lead on Hrechkosy's sixth goal of the season, 12 minutes into the second period.

Detroit made it close with Walt McKechmie picking up his 13th goal of the year 2:15 later, and Nick Libett striking at 13:57 of the final period.

The Seals had a man in the penalty box during the last minute of play, and Detroit pulled its goalie for another skater to give the Red Wings a two-man advantage on the ice. But Meloche made four saves to preserve the victory.

Defenseman Rick Hampton scored the Seals' first goal at 2:16 of the first period as California broke a three-game losing streak and moved within three points of third-place Toronto in the Adams Division.

In other NHL games Friday night, New York edged Kansas City 3-2 and Atlanta rolled over Vancouver 6-2.

Retain Four-Point Lead In WCHA Spartan Icers Defeat 'M'

Michigan State's Robbie Harris scored the winning goal with less than two minutes left and the Spartans added an open-net insurance shot to sweep past Michigan 6-4 Friday night and keep their four-point lead in the Western Collegiate Hockey Association.

Second-place Michigan Tech bombed Minnesota-Duluth 6-1 while third-place Minnesota defeated North Dakota 4-2.

In other games, Colorado College moved into a third-place tie with Minnesota after edging Denver 2-1 and Notre Dame beat Wisconsin 5-2.

MSU scored four goals in the final period. Tom Ross and Steve Colp each tallied a pair of goals for the Spartans. Brendon Muroney had a goal in the first period.

Doug Lindskog scored twice and Angie Moretto and Chris Maneri each had one goal for Michigan. U-M goalie Robbie Moore had 42 saves while Dave Versical had 40 for MSU.

Michigan State is 10-3-1 for the season and 9-2 in the WCHA. Michigan is 6-5 overall and 5-4 in the WCHA.

The two teams play again today in East Lansing.

Michigan Tech's Mike Zuke, with one goal and three assists, led Tech past UMD. Jim Mayer converted a power play effort in the first period for Tech and UMD tied the game with Bruce Olson's goal.

After that, Tech, the defending NCAA champion, turned on and scored five straight goals. Tech raised its record to 7-4 while UMD fell to 5-6.

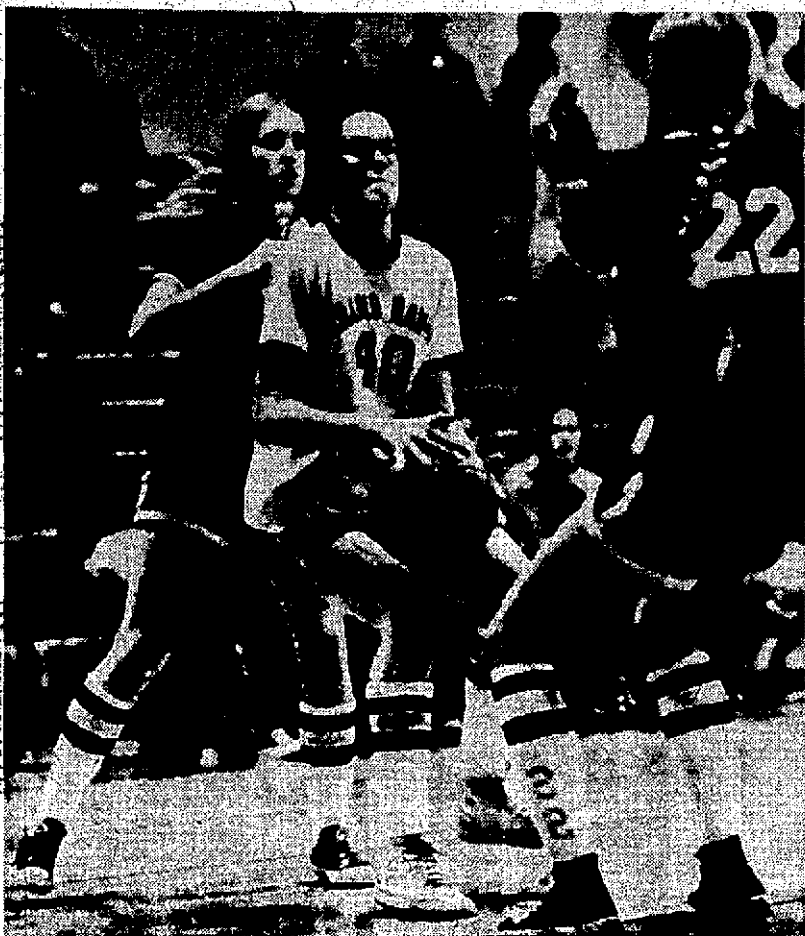

At Minnesota, the defending WCHA champion Gophers looked like they'd blast North Dakota off the ice when they jumped to a 2-0 lead in the first five minutes of play.

Then Minnesota goalie Jeff Tscherne withstood a 37-shot Sioux attack and the Gopher penalty-killing unit came through to stifle North Dakota, now 2-8. The Gophers, 6-3, broke a string of three straight Friday night losses.

Jim Warner's winning goal 30 seconds into the final period capped a tight-checking game at Denver as Colorado College eked out a 2-1 victory. After a scoreless first period, Tom Zajac tallied for Denver and Rick Pracht scored for Colorado College in the middle frame. Colorado College improved its record to 6-3 while the Pioneers fell to 4-7.

Notre Dame captain Brian Walsh scored a bona fide hat trick with three goals in the first period as the Irish swept past Wisconsin 5-2. Wisconsin center Mike Eaves scored both Badger goals in the second period. Notre Dame is now 5-6 while Wisconsin dropped to 2-7.

HOLD IT! — Grand Haven's Thea Gerrish (40) comes to an abrupt halt as she's cut off by St. Joseph's Andy Gast (22) and Sue King during Class A regional girls basketball tournament Friday at Grand Rapids. Ken Charles Paces Record Buffalo Win

From Associated Press

Unheralded Ken Charles may have shunted heralded Ernie DiGregorio to the bench for a while, and at the same time provided the impetus for the sluggish Buffalo Braves.

Charles, starting in place of the slumping DiGregorio Friday night, scored a career-high 24 points in sparking the Braves to a club-record 125-88 victory over the Cleveland Cavaliers, breaking their six-game National Basketball Association losing streak.

Charles hit 10 of 15 field goal attempts, had seven assists, three steals and four rebounds in 42 minutes. The Braves' 37-point winning margin was the biggest in their six years in the NBA.

In other NBA games, the Boston Celtics beat the New Orleans Jazz 104-93, the Philadelphia 76ers edged the New York Knicks 99-97, the Detroit Pistons downed the Houston Rockets 102-91, the Milwaukee Bucks topped the Kansas City Kings 103-95, and the Washington Bullets defeated the Phoenix Suns 92-87.

Dave Cowens, who had a game-high 34 points, triggered a 22-8 Boston spurt in the first six minutes of the fourth period that carried the Celtics past the slumping Jazz. New Orleans now has lost 11 of its last 13 games. Nate Williams was high for the Jazz with 20 points.

George McGinnis scored 30 points, including the winning field goal with 58 seconds left, and Fred Carter collected 32 points as the surging 76ers rallied for their 14th victory in 20 games, the best record in the league.

But it was a costly triumph. Billy Cunningham, the 76ers' veteran forward, suffered a torn ligament and torn cartilage in the left knee after colliding with New York's Butch Beard in the second period. Cunningham will be out the remainder of the season. Walt Frazier topped the Knicks with 22 points.

At Eberhard scored his NBA high of 30 points as the Pistons, Midwest Division leaders, won their sixth game in the last seven and snapped Houston's five-game winning streak.

Eberhard, who had been plagued by the flu and an ailing back recently, hit 15 of his 18 shots in what he called his "greatest all-around game."

The Rockets, playing without star forward Rudy Tomjanovich, sidelined with a sprained right thumb, were led by Ed Ratleff's 19 points.

Brian Winters scored 23 points, Bob Dandridge had 22 and Elmore Smith netted 20, helping the Bucks post their third straight victory.

Elvin Hayes pumped in 29 points, 21 in the first half, leading the Bullets over the Suns. Rookie Alvan Adams was high for Phoenix with 17 points, but scored only three in the second half.

Wildcats' Platoons Pay Off

MARCELLUS — Joe Wood is using some football tactics to build a winning basketball team at Marcellus this season.

Using what amounts to a two-platoon system, the Wildcats had 11 different men score in their 76-46 Southwestern Athletic conference rout of Gobles here Friday night.

"We press the whole game, man-to-man and zone," commented Wood. "We use a two-platoon system and it keeps fresh players in there all the time."

Bob Norton led the scoring parade with 19 points. Lonnie Lewis notched 15 and Jerry Cornwell had 12 for the Wildcats' double figures scorers.

Gobles had Jeff Price hit 12 points and Ward Richards scored 10.

Both squads used pressure throughout the contest. Marcellus held a slim 16-14 first quarter lead but forced Gobles into some mistakes in the second and third stanzas to break open the contest.

Marcellus shot 42 per cent from the floor, hitting on 35 of 83 tries. Gobles made 19 of 47 attempts for 28 per cent.

Lewis had 13 rebounds and Cornwell 12 as the Wildcats, now 2-0 and 1-0 in the SAC, outboarded the Tigers 42-40.

Gobles now stands at 2-1 overall and 0-1 in loop action.

"Care of Animals During Winter Weather"

Even though water will freeze in the winter, it is still a good idea to provide your dog with fresh water daily. At least this allows him the opportunity to drink the much needed water before it does freeze.

It is true that animals will lick snow and gain their water in this manner-but how about when there isn't any snow? FRESH WATER DAILY—THEN IS A MUST!!!!

Be careful that dogs do not eat snow that has had road salt thrown onto it as this can prove quite dangerous to the animal.

Check to see that a dog's food doesn't freeze. This is quite possible, especially if the animal was not hungry when you put out his food. If it has frozen, bring it back into the house so that it can thaw out and then serve it to the animal later.

season. Walt Frazier topped the Knicks with 22 points.

Al Eberhard scored his NBA high of 30 points as the Pistons, Midwest Division leaders, won their sixth game in the last seven and snapped Houston's five-game winning streak.

Eberhard, who had been plagued by the flu and an ailing back recently, hit 15 of his 18 shots in what he called his "greatest all-around game."

The Rockets, playing without star forward Rudy Tom-

janovich, sidelined with a sprained right thumb, were led by Ed Ratleff's 19 points.

Brian Winters scored 23 points, Bob Dandridge had 22 and Elmore Smith netted 20, helping the Bucks post their third straight victory.

Elvin Hayes pumped in 29 points, 21 in the first half, leading the Bullets over the Suns. Rookie Alvan Adams was high for Phoenix with 17 points, but scored only three in the second half.

LAKE FOREST, ILL. (AP) — Rob Hodge chalked up three goals Friday night to lead Western Michigan to a 10-3 non-conference college hockey victory over Lake Forest.

Western Michigan is now 4-11, while Lake Forest is 5-7.

Wildcats' Platoons Pay Off

MARCELLUS — Joe Wood is using some football tactics to build a winning basketball team at Marcellus this season.

Using what amounts to a two-platoon system, the Wildcats had 11 different men score in their 76-46 Southwestern Athletic conference rout of Gobles here Friday night.

"We press the whole game; man-to-man and zone," commented Wood. "We use a two-platoon system and it keeps fresh players in there all the time."

Bob Norton led the scoring parade with 19 points. Lonnie Lewis notched 15 and Jerry Cornwell had 12 for the Wildcats' double figures scorers.

Gobles had Jeff Price hit 12 points and Ward Richards scored 10.

Both squads used pressure throughout the contest. Marcellus held a slim 16-14 first quarter lead but forced Gobles into some mistakes in the second and third stanzas to break open the contest.

Marcellus shot 42 per cent from the floor, hitting on 35 of 83 tries. Gobles made 19 of 67 attempts for 28 per cent.

Lewis had 13 rebounds and Cornwell 12 as the Wildcats, now 2-0 and 1-0 in the SAC, outboarded the Tigers 42-40.

Gobles now stands at 2-1 overall and 0-1 in loop action.

"Care of Animals During Winter Weather"

Even though water will freeze in the winter, it is still a good idea to provide your dog with fresh water daily. At least this allows him the opportunity to drink the much needed water before it does freeze.

It is true that animals will lick snow and gain their water in this manner-but how about when there isn't any snow? FRESH WATER DAILY—THEN IS A MUST!!!!

Be careful that dogs do not eat snow that has had road salt thrown onto it as this can prove quite dangerous to the animal.

Check to see that a dog's food doesn't freeze. This is quite possible, especially if the animal was not hungry when you put out his food. If it has frozen, bring it back into the house so that it can thaw out and then serve it to the animal later.

SAVING A BEACH: Dick Holmberg, shoreline construction expert and builder of many breakwaters in Whitehall, Mich., area, looks over one installation that saved a beach, dune and house above it. Breakwaters made of large, concrete-filled nylon bags are now being used instead of those filled with sand because saboteurs have silt many sand-filled bag. (AP Wirephoto)

New Idea Foils Weather, Vandals In Erosion Control

Grand Rapids Press
WHITEHALL, Mich. (AP) — Sabotage and the caprice of nature have combined in some areas along the Lake Michigan shoreline to nullify efforts at reclaiming beach areas from the ravages of high water. Breakwaters made of large, sand-filled nylon bags had proved very successful in building up stretches of beach sand and saving the dunes behind them from further erosion. Now, says Dick Holmberg of Whitehall, builder of many of the breakwaters and an expert on shoreline construction, saboteurs have slit many of the bags with knives below the waterline, allowing the sand to escape during the bags and thereby destroying their effectiveness.

Holmberg doesn't want to state publicly who the vandals might be, but says he has some ideas on that score.

In some instances, debris—trees which have fallen down dunes, and other products of erosion—has been hurled up against the bag structures during storms, ripping and tearing them apart.

Now Holmberg, who owns and operates Marine Land Construction Co. of Muskegon, has come up with an idea he claims is just as effective as the sand-filled bags but which defies sabotage and damage.

Holmberg is now using the same bags, but is filling them with a soupy concrete mixture instead of sand. This results in the same "natural" rounded, soft-edged conformation as the sand bags. The half-submerged breakwater technique softens the wave action and causes breaking waves to leave a much greater proportion of their load of sand on the beaches.

Besides being more permanent than sand, the concrete-filled bags are cheaper to install, says Holmberg. They can be put in for about $30 to $35 a foot as compared to almost $80 for the sand filling, which is slower and more difficult to handle.

Another advantage is that weather plays almost no part in a crew's ability to fill bags with concrete. Even on rough and cold days the bags can be filled, says Holmberg, who adds that they can even be filled while submerged in water.

Iceing doesn't play as big a part, either. In fact, the filling technique is so fast that a crew of four men can fill enough bags to do 400 to 500 feet of beach protection a day.

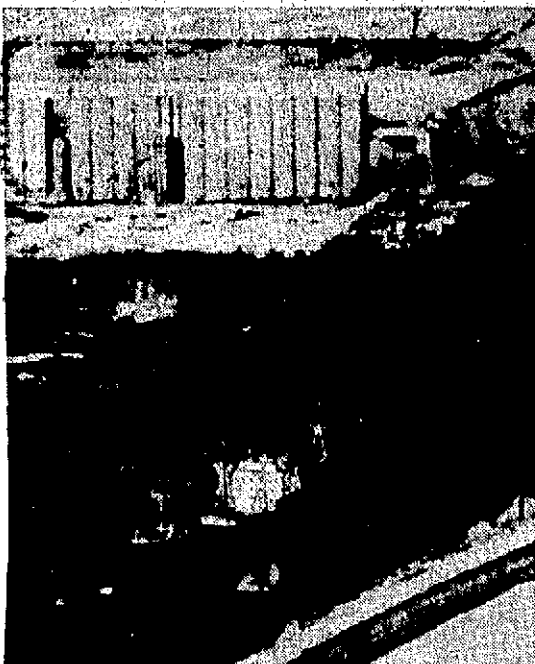

Holmberg says five crews could do a half mile of such work a day.

The breakwaters, also called groins, average about 72 feet in length, or about the length of eight bags. They are several bags in depth, depending on the shoreline and water depth.

Holmberg says that if neighbors got together to do an extensive beach area, the cost of installation could be cut down to possibly $25 a foot.

Holmberg adds that erosion and the resulting damage to shoreline and property remain serious problems, with the lake only two inches below its all-time high.

Many homes and cottages have toppled—or are about to topple—into the lake as the banks continue to be eaten away by wave action.

Michigan Family Facing Deportation

DETROIT (AP) — A bureaucratic technicality could force a Wall Lake businessman and his family to be deported to Canada, immigration officials say. Edmond G. Chartier said immigration officials have placed him under "technical arrest," confiscated his visa and border pass and told him not to leave the United States. The fate of the Chartier, his wife and three children, is to be decided in a few weeks by an immigration hearing examiner. Chartier, 51, was transferred to the Detroit area from Toronto in 1974 by his employer, Grow Chemical Co. He was allowed into the U.S. on an L-1 visa, which is used for persons who are transferred to this country by their employers.

The problem arose when immigration officials discovered Grow has technically never had a Canadian office.

Chartier, a Canadian citizen, said he was hired in 1973 as a technical service manager and sent to Toronto, where the firm planned to open a paint thinner plant. The oil crisis changed all that and Grow told Chartier to move to Detroit.

"We really wanted to help this guy out," said Armand Sauterelli, district director of immigration and naturalization, "but there is no way we can do it legally."

"Under the law, he is here illegally. It's a real shame. The whole thing is very unfortunate...I only hope he wins his appeal."

HILLTOP, COLOMA TOWNSHIP

Shopping Center Approved

COLOMA — A permit to construct the new Coloma Hilltop family shopping center, estimated to cost $447,000, led the list of permits issued during November in Coloma township.

Richard Pearson, Coloma township building inspector, said that for the month, 10 permits representing an estimated $499,450 in construction projects were issued.

The permit for the shopping center, to be located on a 17-acre tract between Paw Paw Lake road and Paw Paw avenue, was issued to Pearson Construction company, Benton Harbor. The 36,700 square foot building is to house both a supermarket and family department store and is to be completed by early spring, 1976.

Other permits issued included one for a new house, the 28th permit for a new dwelling issued during the year in the township.

The permit went to Anthony Pantelleria to build a chalet-style structure for Dr. John Bonaguro on Paw Paw Island No. 2, estimated cost, $20,000.

Other permits were issued to Gerald Scheffler, Boyer road, for an addition and remodeling, $20,000.

Helen Phillips, Interlochen road, frame addition and add porch to residence, $4,000.

Edgar Cleary for repairs and remodeling at house owned by Judy Kroning, Alma street, $2,700.

It's Easier To Lock Sound In Than Out Of Rooms, Apartments

By ANDY LANG
AP Newsfeatures

It is easier to keep noise within a room than to keep it out.

Home owners and apartment dwellers who wish to control noise from without are often unaware of that principle. Extensive measures taken within their own houses and rooms are thus without appreciable results.

If noise from an attic or basement intrudes to disturb the occupants of the main living area of the house, the best to eliminate the noise is at the source — that is, in the attic or basement. The trick, therefore, is to sound-condition the place where the sound originates, not the room where the noise is being heard.

When there is a sound within a room, it normally bounces off the walls, the ceiling and everything else that is non-absorbent.

But when it strikes a soft, absorbent surface, some of the sound is muffled and so does not bounce back into the room. That's why such things as drapes and carpets are so essential in absorbing sound. Upholstered chairs are also effective sound absorbers.

Acoustic material of any kind, such as special ceiling tiles, also do their work by absorbing sound. But if there is a loud noise from the room above, acoustical tiles, while keeping out some of the sound, are not nearly as effective as carpeting the floor of the upstairs area.

Depending on the thickness, newness and material of the carpeting, from 15 to 30 per cent of the sound that hit is absorbed. Assuming that the same room has upholstered chairs, drapes and other soft materials, another big chunk of the sound is deadened.

And if the walls and ceiling of an airport or school or somewhere similar — you can do something about them, but only to a degree. Air-conditioned houses are easier to keep quiet because the windows are always closed.

Double-glass windows, thick rows of shrubs and trees are also effective in keeping out noise.

If you are building a new home, consider the value of spending something extra to install walls built especially to absorb sound. One way is to fill the cavities between the studs with the insulation used to prevent heat loss.

Even more effective is to have the walls built with two sets of staggered studs so that wall surfaces are not in direct contact with each other.

Engineers are continually making new discoveries in the sound-absorption field and it is well to investigate the latest wall systems before beginning to build.

the room are made of a noise-quelling material, the sound reverberations will be reduced to a bare minimum.

While noises coming outside the house itself are not a general problem — unless you live near

Here's the Answer

By ANDY LANG

Q — I always understood that the insulation in the attic should be placed between the joists of the floor. We are having our attic finished in the near future by a professional contractor and he is making plans to place the insulation in the attic roof. Is this correct?

A — Yes. The insulation goes in the floor only when the attic is unheated. Since, in this case, the attic apparently will be heated, the contractor is correct in planning to place the insulation under the roof. It is assumed that he knows about the necessity of having sufficient ventilation in the upper part of the attic as well as placing the vapor barrier on the insulation so that it faces the heated areas.

Q — I put three coats of shellac on our dining room table about five years ago. A couple of times, I noticed white spots on them from glasses, but had no trouble getting them out by rubbing with a little denatured alcohol. Now, there is another ringed spot, but this time it's black, not white. And it doesn't seem to come out no matter what I do. What's the cause and what can I do about it?

A — The same as the white spot — dampness. The black spot, however, means that the moisture just didn't stay on top. It penetrated right down and into the wood. Rubbing will not take it out, as you have discovered. The only solution is taking off the entire finish. If the black stain is still there, you will have to bleach it out, then refinish the top of the table.

Q — We want to put a finish on a piece of unfinished furniture we bought, yet aren't too keen about the high gloss of shellac, varnish and lacquer. What can we use?

A — You could use a semigloss varnish, but your best bet probably is a penetrating resin sealer.

A Spacious Home For A Narrow Lot

By JOHN D. BLOODGOOD, Architect

HOUSE DESIGN 7549: A narrow lot needn't be too small for a comfortable three-bedroom home with generous living-working areas. The trick is to select a plan, such as this one, that's especially designed for such a site. Just 34 feet wide, its main level provides a 23-foot long living-dining room with a handsome fireplace as well as a country kitchen over 16 feet wide. A half flight down with access to the garage and basement, there's a laundry and a lavatory. Upper floor has three bedrooms, two baths. Note the spacious master suite.

IMPROVEMENT PLAN: When company comes, laundry (right) hides out behind bifold door, while laundry sink-work counter (left) doubles as a bar. Ideal for a basement, unit is 30 inches deep, 11 feet long.

HILLTOP, COLOMA TOWNSHIP Shopping Center Approved

COLOMA — A permit to construct the new Coloma Hilltop family shopping center, estimated to cost $447,000, led the list of permits issued during November in Coloma township.

Other permits issued included one for a new house, the 26th permit for a new dwelling issued during the year in the township.

The permit went to Anthony Pantelleria to build a chalet-style structure for Dr. John Bonaguid on Paw Paw Island No. 2, estimated cost, $20,000.

Other permits were issued to Jerald Scheffler, Boyer road, for an addition and remodeling, $20,000.

Helen Phillips, Interlochen road, frame addition and add porch to residence, $4,000.

Edgar Cleary for repairs and remodeling at house owned by

It's Easier To Lock Sound In Than Out Of Rooms, Apartments

By ANDY LANG
AP Newsfeatures

It is easier to keep noise within a room than to keep it out.

Home owners and apartment dwellers who wish to control noise from without are often unaware of that principle. Extensive measures taken within their own houses and rooms are thus without appreciable results.

If noise from an attic or basement intrudes to disturb the occupants of the main living area of the house, the best to eliminate the noise is at the source — that is, in the attic or basement. The trick, therefore, is to sound-condition the place where the sound originates, not the room where the noise is being heard.

When there is a sound within a room, it normally bounces off the walls, the ceiling and everything else that is nonabsorbent.

But when it strikes a soft, absorbent surface, some of the sound is muffled and so does not bounce back into the room. That's why such things as drapes and carpets are so essential in absorbing sound. Upholstered chairs are also effective sound absorbers.

Acoustic material of any kind, such as special ceiling tiles, also do their work by absorbing sound. But if there is a loud noise from the room above, acoustical tiles, while keeping out some of the sound, are not nearly as effective as carpeting the floor of the upstairs area.

Depending on the thickness, newness and material of the carpeting, from 15 to 30 per cent of the sound that hit is absorbed. Assuming that the same room has upholstered chairs, drapes and other soft materials, another big chunk of the sound is deadened.

And if the walls and ceiling of an airport or school or somewhere similar — you can do something about them, but only to a degree. Air-conditioned houses are easier to keep quiet because the windows are always closed.

Double-glass windows, thick rows of shrubs and trees are also effective in keeping out noise.

If you are building a new home, consider the value of spending something extra to install walls built especially to absorb sound. One way is to fill the cavities between the studs with the insulation used to prevent heat loss.

Even more effective is to have the walls built with two sets of staggered studs so that wall surfaces are not in direct contact with each other.

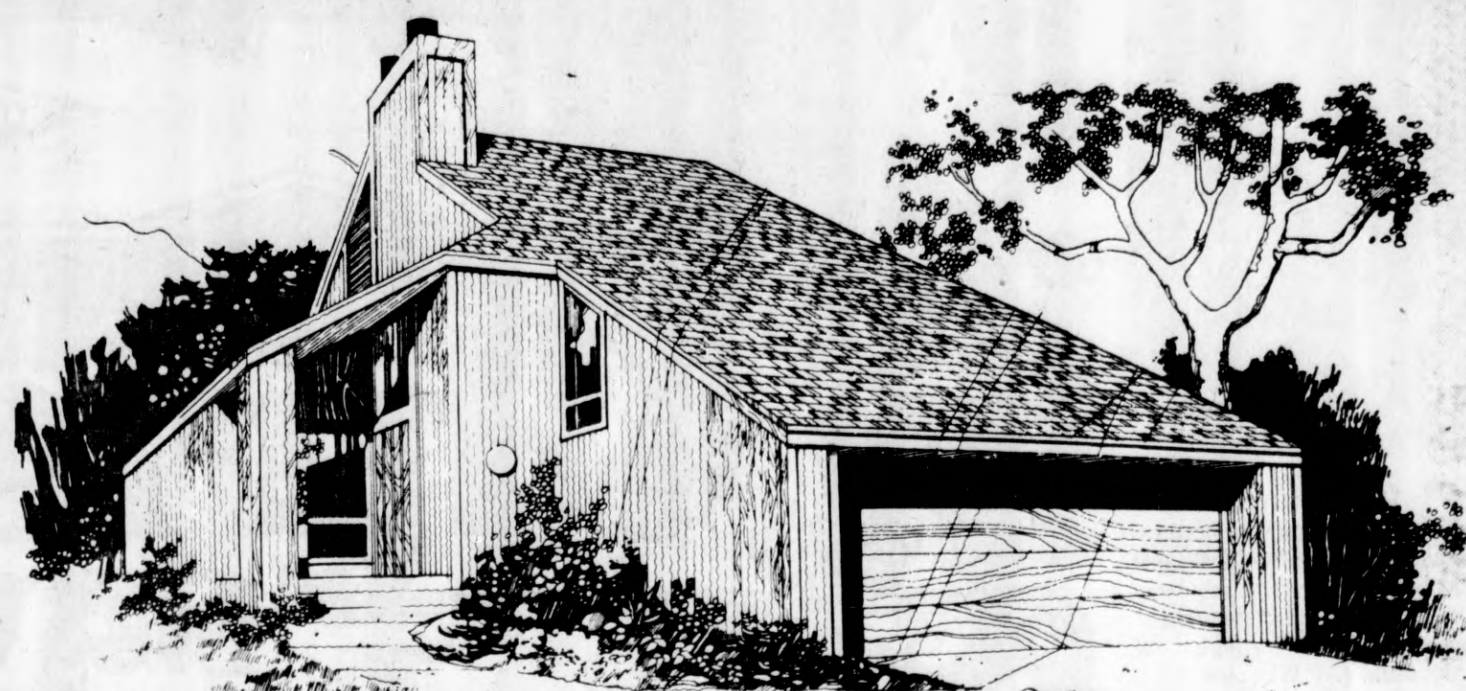

Engineers are continually making new discoveries in the sound-absorption field and it is well to investigate the latest wall systems before beginning to build.

Building News

the room are made of a noise-quelling material, the sound reverberations will be reduced to a bare minimum.

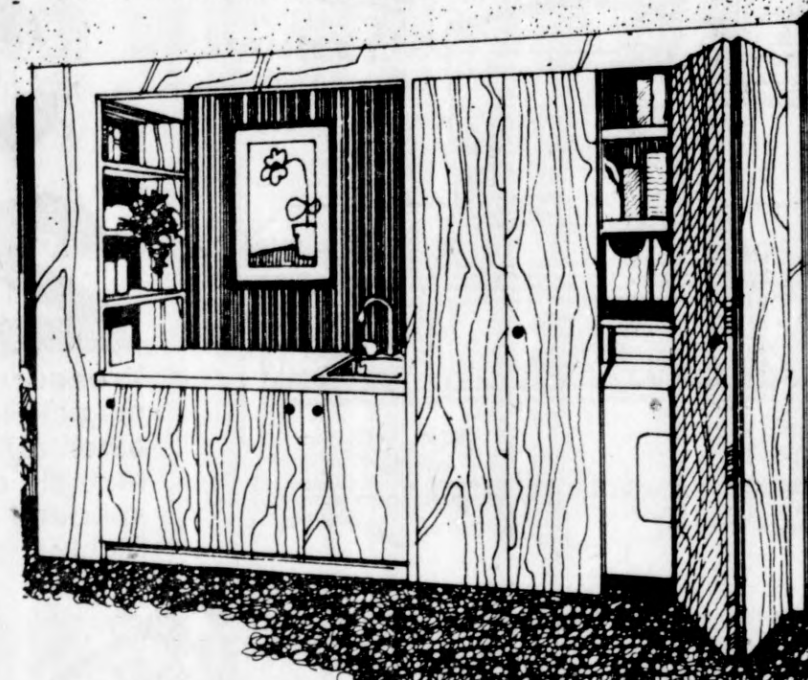

While noises coming outside the house itself are not a general problem — unless you live near

Here's the Answer

Q. — I always understood that the insulation in the attic should be placed between the joists of the floor. We are having our attic finished in the near future by a professional contractor and he is making plans to place the insulation in the attic roof. Is this correct?

A. — Yes. The insulation goes in the floor only when the attic is unheated. Since, in this case, the attic apparently will be heated, the contractor is correct in planning to place the insulation under the roof. It is assumed that he knows about the necessity of having sufficient ventilation in the upper part of the attic as well as placing the vapor barrier on the insulation so that it faces the heated areas.

Q. — I put three coats of shellac on our dining room table about five years ago. A couple of times, I noticed white spots on them from glasses, but had no trouble getting them out by rubbing with a little denatured alcohol. Now, there is another ringed spot, but this time it's black, not white. And it doesn't seem to come out no matter what I do. What's the cause and what can I do about it?

A. — The same as the white spot — dampness. The black spot, however, means that the moisture just didn't stay on top, it penetrated right down and into the wood. Rubbing will not take it out, as you have discovered. The only solution is taking off the entire finish. If the black stain is still there, you will have to bleach it out, then refinish the top of the table.

Q. — We want to put a finish on a piece of unfinished furniture we bought, yet aren't too keen about the high gloss of shellac, varnish and lacquer. What can we use?

A. — You could use a semigloss varnish, but your best bet probably is a penetrating resin sealer.

Search For More Bodies

LAKE CITY, S.C. (AP) — Authorities said they will continue searching for bodies today in a remote wooded area where the remains of four men and two women have been found in shallow graves.

"We don't have any idea how many more we might find before we are through," said Florence County Sheriff William Barnes.

Three bodies were found Thursday in two graves, two to three feet deep, and a fourth body was found in one of the graves early Friday.

Barnes said one of the women's bodies was nude from the waist down. He said a pair of multicolored slacks and a pair of green panties had been thrown on top of the body.

A third grave was found later Friday, with two bodies stacked on top of each other as in the first two graves. The graves were located about 25 yards apart at the edge of a cornfield.

Police said they believe they know who the victims are, but declined to reveal any names. Two of the men are believed to be half-brothers, aged 36 and 18, Barnes said. He said police think all of the victims are from North Charleston, S.C., about 75 miles south of here.

The sheriff declined to speculate on the cause of death pending examinations by pathologists from the Medical University of South Carolina in Charleston.

Barnes said he did not think the burials occurred at the same time, but that the victims probably were killed at the site. All the bodies were badly decomposed, he added.

One source indicated that a police informant who was being held as a material witness, identified as Walter Leroy Neely, 30, of North Charleston, had led authorities to the graves.

Police were led to the site following a two-month investigation by the State Law Enforcement Division which began with the slaying of a prominent Sumter County woman two months ago, Barnes said.

Blast Levels School In Oklahoma

SEMINOLE, Okla. (AP) — Authorities combed the rubble of an elementary school today to determine the cause of a natural gas explosion that leveled the building only minutes after 175 children were herded to safety outside.

Ernest Carter, 34-year-old principal of Roosevelt-Central Elementary, said the youngsters were evacuated Friday after a teacher "noticed the smell of gas" and custodians Carr Donaldson and David Hayworth found a ruptured gas line beneath the building.

The state fire marshal's office was called in to help investigate the explosion. A section of gas line reportedly was contaminated by police.

Seminole schools, especially the high school, have been plagued by bomb threats in the past two years. Two were telephoned to the high school Friday. Students were evacuated, but both calls proved to be hoaxes.

School Supt. Donald E. Smith said no bomb threat was received at the elementary school where the explosion occurred.

Milliken Praises Rail Plan

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Gov. William Milliken has praised Congress for approving legislation which could increase federal subsidies to keep 1,100 miles of Michigan rail lines open.

Milliken said Friday the bill "provides far more equitable treatment to the state of Michigan, which has been asked to absorb the greatest impact of threatened rail service in the 17-state region."

Though abandonment notices will be posted Tuesday at most terminals on the Penn Central and Ann Arbor lines, they are only a legal formality, said John Woodford, director of the state Department of State Highways and Transportation.

He said a state rail plan will ask $30 million in federal subsidies from the Federal Railroad Administration when it is submitted Tuesday.

The plan calls for maintaining ferry service across Lake Michigan and all but about 100 of the 1,100 lines set for abandonment.

The federal subsidies Michigan will seek were authorized by the Omnibus Rail Bill, approved Thursday by the U. S. Senate.

The bill also extended the federal subsidies from two years to eight years, and divides federal money available to each state proportionate to the rail service it stands to lose.

Michigan has 20 per cent of the threatened track, though 16 other northeastern states also have lines facing abandonment.

The bill establishes a 100 per cent federal subsidy for the first year in which a state supports bankrupt rail segments not set for inclusion in the federal ConRail system.

After that the federal subsidy would drop to 90 per cent, with states picking up the remainder.

Woodford said Friday apart from federal subsidy it would cost Michigan some $18 million to retain service on the Ann Arbor and Penn Central lines over the next 19 months.

The legislature is considering a $1.9 million appropriation for operations and a $4.6 million appropriation for capital improvements over the next six months, Woodford said.

The bill establishes a 100 per cent federal subsidy for the first year in which a state supports bankrupt rail segments not set for inclusion in the federal ConRail system.

After that the federal subsidy would drop to 90 per cent, with states picking up the remainder.

Woodford said Friday apart from federal subsidy it would cost Michigan some $18 million to retain service on the Ann Arbor and Penn Central lines over the next 19 months.

The legislature is considering a $1.9 million appropriation for operations and a $4.6 million appropriation for capital improvements over the next six months, Woodford said.

NY Aid Bill Approved By Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) - Legislation authorizing $2.3 billion in federal loans to save New York City from default, passed easily in the Senate early today and was sent to the White House for certain approval.

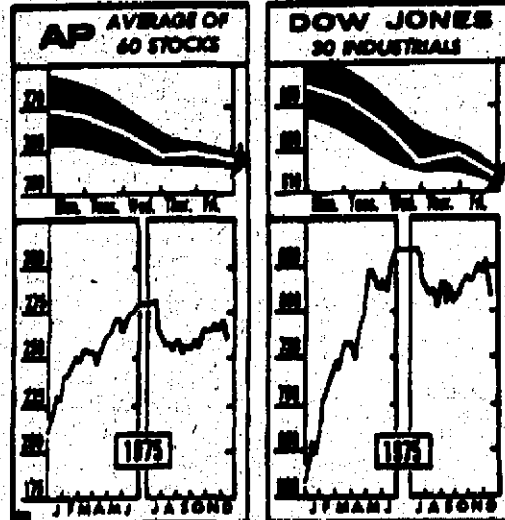

"Somehow or another an awful lot of fiscal rabbits have been pulled out of New York's hat in the last few weeks," said Sen. James Buckley, R-N.Y., who voted for the bill. Senate approval came on a 57 to 30 vote.

Final congressional action ended months of speculation as to whether the federal government would step in to keep the city from defaulting on its obligations. The bill extends $2.3 billion in short-term loans for the city and is effective for the next three years.

President Ford proposed the bill in late November, reversing his previous opposition to federal aid for the city. The House okayed the measure 213 to 203 last Tuesday.

City officials have warned that default could come as soon as next Thursday, but with approval of the federal loans, it is expected that city bondholders will exchange their due notes for long-term notes to enable New York to continue operations without a formal default.

"On behalf of eight million New Yorkers, I commend the members of Congress from all over the country who recognized that we have a practical self-help plan in place and that this legislation is in the national interest," said New York Mayor Abraham Beame.

Appeals Court Upholds Benefits For GM Worker Hurt Off Duty

LANSING, Mich. (AP) - A General Motors worker should receive Workmen's Compensation benefits even though he was off duty and not on GM property when injured, the state Court of Appeals ruled.

The court said Julius B. Hicks of Flint is entitled to compensation because he was trying to remove a hazard from company property and thus "decrease the possibility of injury to other GM employees. In effect, he was helping his employer."

Hicks said he was hit by a car in 1970 as he crossed a street on his way back to a company parking lot, where his truck's muffler had fallen. He said he was on his way back to the lot to retrieve the muffler.

He suffered a broken leg, internal injuries and a fractured skull in the mishap, said attorney Theodore Rosenberg of Grand Blanc.

Rosenberg said the 33-year-old Hicks has been unable to work since the accident. The worker was awarded $80 a week dating back to the date of the mishap, and GM was ordered to pay medical bills relating to the injury.

The appeals court said Thursday the circumstances in the case are unique, and its decision does not mean a company is liable for all injuries incurred by employees going to and from work.

The ruling upheld a 1974 Workers' Compensation Board decision. GM spokesmen said the firm had not seen a copy of the decision and had not decided whether to file an appeal.

Attorney Charged With Misconduct

DETROIT (AP) - A formal complaint filed with the State Bar Grievance Board charges a Southfield attorney made a series of payments to a person who brought him prospective clients.

The eight-count misconduct charge filed against Arthur Woll, 40, was made public Thursday at the opening hearing on the charges before a three-member grievance board panel.

Officials said the complaint stems from a charge by an admitted "runner," Maurice Brackney Jr., that he was paid $50 by Woll for each client he referred to the attorney for workmen's compensation or medical malpractice lawsuits.

But Brackney, now a Key Largo, Fla., resident, failed to appear Thursday. The hearing was adjourned until Jan. 13.

Woman Sues Doctor And Hospital

A woman has filed a malpractice suit in Berrien Circuit court against a Benton Harbor osteopathic physician and St. Joseph Memorial hospital stemming from an operation in 1973.

The plaintiff, Betty Ann Spates, who in 1973 resided in Benton Harbor, seeks $25,000 damages, claiming she suffered injuries in connection with the birth of a child and charges malpractice as the result of surgery allegedly performed by the doctor.

Named defendants were Max Allen, Jr., D.O., who allegedly performed the episiotomy operation, and Memorial hospital, where the surgery was allegedly performed on Nov. 20, 1973.

Dr. Allen, whose office is at 599 East Main street, is currently on an independent work-study leave at a mission hospital in Nairobi, Kenya, Africa. His office said he left this area at the end of October, and expects to return to his practice here in April.

Bill Would Limit Marijuana Penalty

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A bill limiting penalties for possession of small amounts of marijuana to a $100 fine has been sent to the state House for initial action.

The measure, sponsored by Republican Floor Leader William Bryant of Grosse Pointe, was approved by the House Civil Rights Committee on a 6-1 vote.

It would drop the current maximum of one year in jail possession of any amount of marijuana, to the $100 fine and possible probation for possession of under 100 grams of the weed, equal to 3 1/2 ounces.

Holding more than that amount would be penalized by a maximum 90-day sentence under the bill. Possession with intent to sell — which is decided by a court — would still be a felony carrying up to four years in jail.

"This is a practical proposal to stop the harsh treatment of small users," said Rep. Perry Bullard, civil rights committee chairman.

"It would save time for courts and police, allowing them to pursue crimes that threaten people's lives and property," said Bullard, D-Ann Arbor.

From 1971 to 1974, marijuana arrests in Michigan doubled from 9,600 to 18,500. During the same period, hard drug arrests rose from 6,800 to only 7,100, Bullard said. In addition, he said, in 89 per cent of the convictions for marijuana no jail sentences were imposed.

The harshness of punishment varies widely across the state and depends upon the conservatism of individual judges, Bullard said.

Rep. Rosetta Ferguson, D-Detroit, voted against the bill. Voting in favor were Democratic committee members Bullard, Mark Clodfelter and Harold Scott, both of Flint, Stephen Monsma of Grand Rapids and Lynn Jondahl of East Lansing, and Republican Robert Edwards of Flint.

Kalamazoo School Chief Spurns Job

KALAMAZOO, Mich. (AP) — School Supt. William Coats says he is dropping out of contention for the job as superintendent of schools in Minneapolis.

"I'm not interested anyway. Haven't been for several weeks," Coats said Friday.

He said he hasn't notified Minneapolis officials formally of his decision since, "I thought it was mutual," after discovering during an interview there is "a general lack of harmony between the majority of the board and myself" on educational theory.

Coats, superintendent in Kalamazoo since 1972, once was considered by some observers a leading candidate for the $48,000 Minneapolis post. He earns $35,000 currently.

Bicentennial Goof Worth $15,800

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A printing goof on envelopes containing the state's 1976 Bicentennial license plates has resulted in a $15,800 embarrassment for officials in the Michigan Department of State.

"The envelopes enclosing the plates listed the four nations which have controlled parts of Michigan and the dates their flags flew."

But the Department of State said it erroneously listed the dates of occupation, and about 5.5 million of the 7 million envelopes were printed before the department's history division caught the error.

The department spent the money to print inserts straightening out the dates and for new envelopes which had the information listed correctly.

Spokesmen said some of the incorrect envelopes — which were printed in blue — escaped without the inserts. And, they said, some corrected envelopes — printed in red — got the corrections even though they didn't need them.

Officials said the incorrect dates came from a school textbook but subsequent research proved the dates were wrong.

"The employee responsible for developing the Bicentennial envelope is no longer with us," a department spokesman said. The employee quit because he got a better job, he added.

The errors were as follows: The French occupied Michigan from 1618 to 1760, but the envelope first listed the dates as 1622 to 1783. The British were here between 1760 and 1796, but first were listed as occupying the territory from 1760 to 1786.

The brief Spanish occupation in 1781 was listed correctly. However, the original envelopes said the United States took over in 1783 when the actual date was 1796.

Pro-Tenant Bills On To Full House

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Two bills to protect tenants' privacy and security rights have been sent to the full House for action.

The House Urban Affairs Committee approved the bills this week, despite some landlord opposition.

The bills prohibit extra-legal evictions and invasions of tenants' privacy by landlords. A third bill requiring landlords to pay tenants five per cent on their security deposits is still under consideration by the committee, according to a committee aide.

"People are entitled to a secure home from which they cannot be evicted without court proceedings," said Rep. Perry Bullard, D-Ann Arbor, sponsor of the bills. Bullard's district includes the University of Michigan, which has many student tenants.

One bill calls for fines of up to $200 for landlords who evict tenants without court action. It also fines them if they remove or destroy a renter's property, change the lock or board up the apartment to keep the tenant out, or cut off heat, electricity or other services.

The other bill bans entry into an apartment without the tenant's permission except for emergency reasons or to do necessary inspections or repairs.

Under the bill, tenants could receive $100 damages for each illegal entry by landlords.

Classes To Open In Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH (AP) — City School Supt. Jerry C. Olson plans to hold voluntary classes for high school seniors in the face of a "strikebreaking" charge by leaders of the 4,400 teachers and aides who have closed schools since Monday.

Shortly after the plan was announced Friday, Albert Fondy, president of the striking Pittsburgh Federation of Teachers, said the union would urge pupils and parents not to participate.

CLEANUP TIME: Hector McGregor of Detroit may keep the bee hives, shown at far right, but rest of the backyard — only part showing — must be cleaned up. Michigan Court of Appeals upheld his conviction for parking too many cars in his backyard, specifically a flatbed truck, a 1½ ton dumpster, body of a camper pickup, small tractor, three trailers, one wrecker and four rusted, bashed-in cars. Three Major Jobs Spark Benton's Building Activity

Three building permits, each for $80,000, were issued this week in Benton township for construction of a manufacturing plant addition, a commercial office building and a new Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 1137 lodge.

A permit was issued to Star Development Co. to develop a 10,000 square foot addition to the Certified Metal Co., 1490 East Empire. The new addition, which will be used to expand the company's metal finishing production, will be constructed by Pearson Construction Co. of Benton Harbor.

Topper Construction Co. of Grand Haven received a $80,000 permit to construct a commercial building for Community Finance Co. at 1161 East Napier. VFW Post 1137 is building a new lodge building at 2616 East Napier. H. Van Dongen received a $80,000 permit to construct the lodge. Post 1137 is located at 204 South Fair avenue, Benton Harbor.

— Jack S. Miller Construction, Stevensville, to repair fire damage to an office building at 151 Napier avenue owned by Chivagas Insurance Co., $3,000.

— Voyd Thomas, Benton Harbor, to construct an addition to a dwelling at 274 Chestnut owned by John Watson, $2,000.

— Walter Thomas, to repair fire damage to a house he owns at 340 Walnut, $2,000.

— John Blackmore, Benton Harbor, to make repairs to a dwelling he owns at 394 Linden road, $800.

— G & G Construction, St. Joseph, to demolish a store and attached house at 1015 Main street owned by Charles Cozzolino.

GIs Accused Of Assault With Couch

DETROIT (AP) — Charges of felonious assault have been lodged against two Army inductees who allegedly dropped a couch from a 16th-floor hotel window, critically injuring a man waiting for a bus.

Detroit Recorder's Court Judge Henry Heading released the pair Thursday on $1,000 bond each. Charged were Gerald Wayne Tuttle, 17, of Flint, and Michael Lucas, 18, of Mount Morris.

Police said Henry S. Robinson was struck Monday by the small couch while waiting outside the Cadillac Hotel for a bus. He is in critical condition in a Detroit hospital with multiple fractures to the head and spine.

Dominic Carnevali of the Wayne County prosecutor's office said the felonious assault charges were lodged because the couch was used "with wanton recklessness and willful disregard for the safety of others."

The two youths were Army volunteers who were awaiting assignment to training centers.

Ask Them Yourself

Want to ask a famous person a question? Send the question on a postcard, to "Ask," Family Weekly, 641 Lexington Ave., New York, N. Y. 10022. We'll pay $5 for published questions. Sorry, we can't answer others.

FOR EVEL KNEVEL

Why do you seem so bitter whenever you're questioned about your jump over Snake River Canyon?
—Joanne Gelin, Newark, Ohio

● It was an impossible dream I had for seven years. After waiting that long, I climbed into a time bomb that (unknown to me) couldn't possibly have made it across. I was bitter, I guess, because fate cheated me out of being successful and I almost lost my life. But I'm not bitter any more. Everyone connected with the project tried their best, and I'm thankful to be alive.

FOR PRINCESS MARGARET

When were you first aware you had a King and a Queen for parents?—A.S., Saston, Pa.

● When I was a little girl, I remember asking my mother, "What will I be when I grow up?" She told me, "A princess." I could tell by the way she said it she was serious. I worked it out and realized that if I was a princess, then my parents had to be very important people, too.

FOR HUGH O'BRIAN, star of "Diamond Mercenaries"

On a talk show, you once spoke of a girl you loved very much who was killed in an auto accident. You sounded as though you expect to see her again. Do you believe in reincarnation?—T. Parasci, Amherst, Ohio

● No, I don't believe in reincarnation, but I do believe there is a heaven, where the girl I love so much is looking over me. I'm not so sure I'm going to wind up in the same place, but I'm making every effort. By the way, I have it on good authority that it's not too crowded up there.

FOR LOUIS L'AMOUR, author of Western books

How many Western books have you written, and how do you keep them authentic?—H.M., Casper, Wyo.

● "The Man from the Broken Hills" is my 64th. I have a big library, including the official history of the Civil War in 128 volumes, reference books on all the Indian tribes and many on the American Revolution. And whenever I'm on camping trips, I always stop at small towns to study old newspapers and courthouse records. I pay attention to what people ate, what they wore and the homes they lived in.

FOR RONA BARRETT, author of "Miss Rona"

How do you feel about being compared with Hedda Hopper or Louella Parsons?—B.B., Oklahoma City, Okla.

● I don't mind, but you must remember they lived in a different era. In their time, what they said could ruin a star. If I reported now what they did then, I wouldn't even raise any eyebrows. They did their job as best they could, as I'm trying to do mine. The only thing that does annoy me is when I'm called a "gossip monger." I'm not. I'm a Hollywood chronicler.

FOR ROSE NAMATH SZOLNOKI,

Joe Namath's mother

As a mother you probably are disappointed that your son, Joe, has remained a bachelor. Do you think he'll ever change his status?—James Brennan, East Aurora, N.Y.

● Yes, I do. Joe told me a long time ago he'd never marry while he was playing football because he believes that marriage and football don't mix. But he also told me that when he stops playing, he'll marry and have a family.

FOR STEVEN SPIELBERG, director of "Jaws"

What can you tell me about the mechanical shark used in "Jaws?"—S.M. Overman, Springfield, Va.

● There were actually three mechanical sharks used in "Jaws"—one to move left to right, one to move right to left and one to move straight ahead. Each was called Bruce and one wag claimed it was an acronym for Behemoth Raging Under Cool Exterior. All three are now waiting for next summer's filming of "Jaws II."

FOR MICHAEL LANDON

Did you ever think of having any of your kids on television?
—Lisa Williams, Santa Monica, Calif.

● Only one of my children, my daughter Leslie, has any interest in acting. She's studying drama now, and if she becomes good enough to do the job, I'd let her take a part. But I'd never give her a job just because she was my daughter. Putting her into a role she couldn't handle would be the worst thing I could do.

FOR JANET LENNON of the Lennon Sisters

Are you and your sisters as sticky sweet as you seem to be?
—S.H., Green Bay, Wis.

● I hope not! Our ambition is to erase that image we got as children. It was slapped on us by the industry. Whenever people hear our name, they think of us as four little girls. I wish the public would realize we're women now. We're wives and mothers, and we're four individuals, with four different lives, not one person cut up into four parts.

FOR THE "ASK THEM YOURSELF" EDITOR

Elvis Presley is my idol, and I'm very annoyed that Juliet Prowse recently put him down in print. Isn't anyone going to defend him?—R.B., San Antonio, Texas

● Support comes from unexpected quarters. Bandleader Guy Lombardo, who's been watching them come and go for 48 years now, said: "Elvis is outstanding. He has great talent, handles himself beautifully, hasn't followed the dope route, has kept his head on his shoulders and is to be admired. No wonder he's a top attraction in America. Presley is here to stay." Academy-Award winning composer Isaac Hayes, another Elvis fan, said: "There's got to be a valid reason why he's the most successful guy of the past decade. He's a giant, and any man who can influence all those people must have something. He's had expert guidance, of course, but there was a lot to guide."

Nine American Cities: How They Stay Afloat As New York Churns the Waves

By Dennis Duggan

Henry once likened big cities to "a mother's knee," and poet Carl Sandburg affectionately recalled Chicago as the "city of the big shoulders." Plutarch put it bluntly: "The city is the teacher of the man." But to listen to critics today, the city is as popular as a spider bite. One of the biggest of them all is casually described as a "pain-plagued Colossus on the Hudson." New York, of course. That wonderful town.

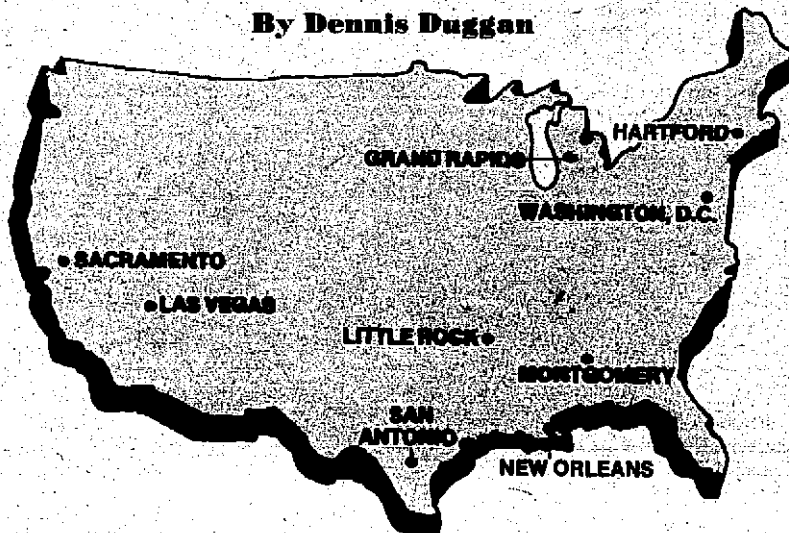

Some say it all began in spring of 1971 when then-Controller Abraham Beame convinced then-Mayor John Lindsay to handle a little matter of $25-million in end-of-the-year teachers' salaries by dating their checks July 1st instead of June 30th—the last day of New York's fiscal year. Thus, with one magical stroke of a pen, last year's expenses had become next year's expenses. The city began living on borrowed money.

At the time, the press hailed Controller Beame's deft juggling of city finances as financial wizardry. Ironically, Beame is now Mayor, and more often than not these days he is accused of financial skulduggery. His response is: "We were all responsible." In effect, the city's spending ran right past the ability of its taxpayers to keep up. Ten years ago New York spent $236-million for police. Now it's spending $734-million. In that same decade education costs soared from $675-million to $1.9-billion and welfare from $416-million to $2.4-billion. The bottom line: New York City is now over $12-billion in debt!

But if New York is in trouble, there is also a growing consensus (except perhaps in the White House) that many—if not most—of the nation's cities face a similarly rocky road. One finance director in a small city puts it bluntly: "New York is poisoning the well for all of us."

The facts are plain: State and local spending in America is growing tremendously and is at an all-time high now of $221.5-billion. This is money spent for schools, wages, pension benefits and social services. The total tax-exempt debt stands at a record high of $200-billion, up over 100 percent since 1965.

THE AUTHOR: Dennis Duggan has been a leading financial reporter in New York.

"There is a growing consensus (except perhaps in the White House) that many—if not most—of the nation's cities face a rocky road. One finance director in a small city puts it bluntly: 'New York is poisoning the well for all of us.'"

So the question is: If New York can't carry its load, what about other cities? What are they doing to keep their house in order? To find out, we talked to top-ranking financial officials in several cities, and the answers that came back provide an interesting, if often neglected, view of what makes our cities run.

LAS VEGAS

This is a unique city whose revenues are based on glitter and glamour. The city has a $31-million budget and has 1,100 employees servicing a population of 140,000 (a far cry from New York, which has more employees per capita than practically any other city).

Marvin Leavitt is finance director here and he says: "If we see a deficit, we just cut back. When we saw the recession coming, we stopped all hiring from the first of the year. We don't believe in debt financing. It's O.K. if you can pay it back in the same year, otherwise you're gambling on the future and that doesn't always work out. I'm glad we're not in New York's situation, but we're watching things a lot more closely now to make sure we don't get into that rut."

SAN ANTONIO

There's no deficit financing in this city of 800,000, which has an annual budget of $150-million. Finance Director Carl

White explains that "the city is operated in a responsible, fiscal manner. We don't have deficit financing (a longstanding feature in New York) because we feel that's putting off the inevitable. We pay as we go. We tailor our budget to fit our revenues."

But White offers a glimpse into a problem that will tax cities in the years to come. "The big change has been that citizens expect more from governments than they did five years ago. Here we have nutrition programs for the young and for senior citizens, lower bus fares for the elderly, youth programs, programs for the disadvantaged and a $10,000-homestead exemption for some. Fortunately, our revenues are growing so we are able to keep up."

LITTLE ROCK

Assistant Finance Director Earl Paul explained how his city of 139,703 keeps a rein on finances. "We can't finance deficits here. It's illegal. Everything must be on a cash basis. There's no room for tomfoolery when you're on a cash basis and the public understands that."

"Sure the cynicism around New York paper [bonds] is spilling over. It's ridiculous. Our paper is solid as rock, but New York's trouble is going to pull our rates way up." Paul agrees that New York has unique problems, though: "This is conservative country, and work walkouts like they have up there wouldn't get much support here. That helps us a lot."

WASHINGTON, D.C.

Comer Coppie is director of budget and management and is typical of the bright men who stand in the shadow of the politicians residing in city halls between the two coasts.

Coppie says one problem cities have is that they are "labor-intensive," meaning that it takes many workers to run a city. "That's not as true of state and Federal governments because they're mostly involved in transfer of payments. They don't have to clean streets."

He says his city has a hiring freeze in effect and that it is now trying to reduce the number of employees from 38,000 to 35,000. "We have our problems," he says, "but we try to anticipate them before they develop. We do this with a multi-year financing plan that projects about five years ahead." The city's budget is $1-billion and Coppie says much of that cost is for payroll, "so we try to maintain control of our employment base and try not to allow an incremental growth."

SACRAMENTO

"What's happening in New York is frightening," says William Redmond, a senior analyst in the Sacramento city manager's office. His city faces a cash crunch and is now trying such budget-pruning measures as doubling up collections of garbage with street cleanings. Deficit

Nine American Cities: How They Stay Afloat As New York Churns the Waves

By Dennis Duggan

Henry once likened big cities to "a mother's knee," and poet Carl Sandburg affectionately recalled Chicago as the "city of the big shoulders." Plutarch put it bluntly: "The city is the teacher of the man." But to listen to critics today, the city is as popular as a spider bite. One of the biggest of them all is casually described as a "pain-plagued Colossus on the Hudson." New York, of course. That wonderful town.

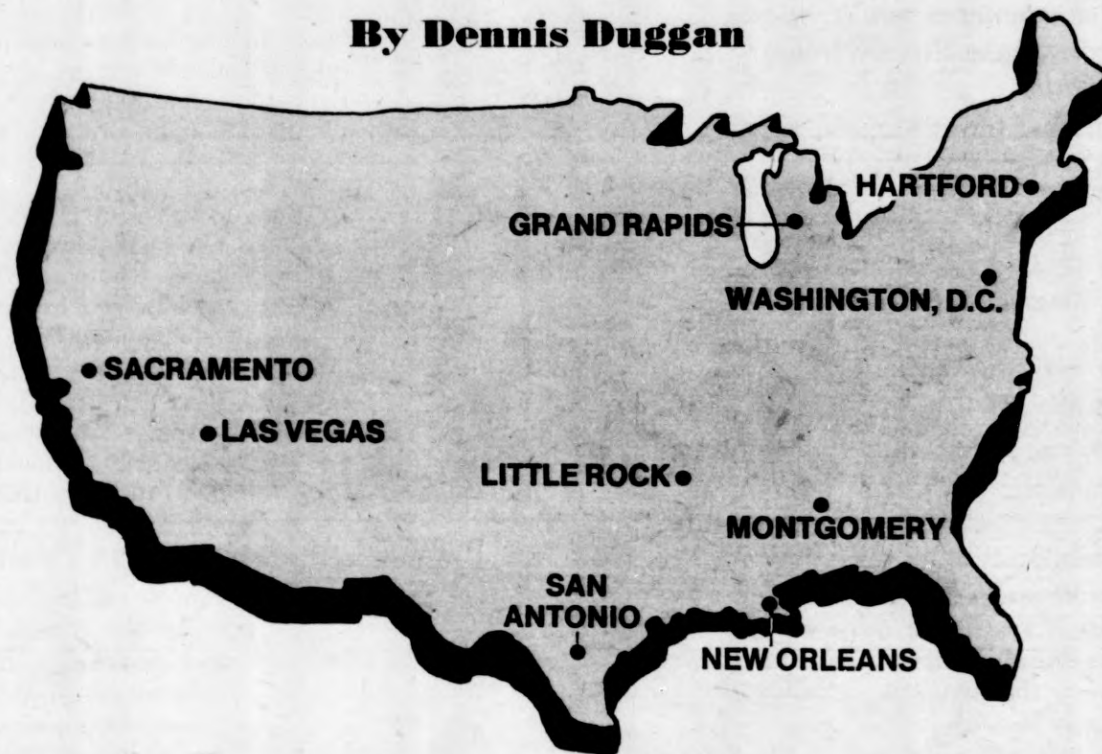

Some say it all began in spring of 1971 when then-Controller Abraham Beame convinced then-Mayor John Lindsay to handle a little matter of $25-million in end-of-the-year teachers' salaries by dating their checks July 1st instead of June 30th—the last day of New York's fiscal year. Thus, with one magical stroke of a pen, last year's expenses had become next year's expenses. The city began living on borrowed money.

At the time, the press hailed Controller Beame's deft juggling of city finances as financial wizardry. Ironically, Beame is now Mayor, and more often than not these days he is accused of financial skulduggery. His response is: "We were all responsible." In effect, the city's spending ran right past the ability of its taxpayers to keep up. Ten years ago New York spent $236-million for police. Now it's spending $734-million. In that same decade education costs soared from $675-million to $1.9-billion and welfare from $416-million to $2.4-billion. The bottom line: New York City is now over $12-billion in debt!

But if New York is in trouble, there is also a growing consensus (except perhaps in the White House) that many—if not most—of the nation's cities face a similarly rocky road. One finance director in a small city puts it bluntly: "New York is poisoning the well for all of us."

The facts are plain: State and local spending in America is growing tremendously and is at an all-time high now of $221.5-billion. This is money spent for schools, wages, pension benefits and social services. The total tax-exempt debt stands at a record high of $200-billion, up over 100 percent since 1965.

THE AUTHOR: Dennis Duggan has been a leading financial reporter in New York.

"There is a growing consensus (except perhaps in the White House) that many—if not most—of the nation's cities face a rocky road. One finance director in a small city puts it bluntly: 'New York is poisoning the well for all of us.'"

So the question is: If New York can't carry its load, what about other cities? What are they doing to keep their house in order? To find out, we talked to top-ranking financial officials in several cities, and the answers that came back provide an interesting, if often neglected, view of what makes our cities run.

LAS VEGAS

This is a unique city whose revenues are based on glitter and glamour. The city has a $31-million budget and has 1,100 employees servicing a population of 140,000 (a far cry from New York, which has more employees per capita than practically any other city).

Marvin Leavitt

Marvin Leavitt is finance director here and he says: "If we see a deficit, we just cut back. When we saw the recession coming, we stopped all hiring from the first of the year. We don't believe in debt financing. It's O.K. if you can pay it back in the same year, otherwise you're gambling on the future and that doesn't always work out. I'm glad we're not in New York's situation, but we're watching things a lot more closely now to make sure we don't get into that rut."

SAN ANTONIO

There's no deficit financing in this city of 800,000, which has an annual budget of $150-million. Finance Director Carl White explains that "the city is operated in a responsible, fiscal manner. We don't have deficit financing (a longstanding feature in New York) because we feel that's putting off the inevitable. We pay as we go. We tailor our budget to fit our revenues."

Carl White

But White offers a glimpse into a problem that will tax cities in the years to come. "The big change has been that citizens expect more from governments than they did five years ago. Here we have nutrition programs for the young and for senior citizens, lower bus fares for the elderly, youth programs, programs for the disadvantaged and a $10,000-homestead-exemption for some. Fortunately, our revenues are growing so we are able to keep up."

LITTLE ROCK

Assistant Finance Director Earl Paul explained how his city of 139,703 keeps a rein on finances. "We can't finance deficits here. It's illegal. Everything must be on a cash basis. There's no room for tomfoolery when you're on a cash basis and the public understands that."

"Sure the cynicism around New York paper [bonds] is spilling over. It's ridiculous. Our paper is solid as rock, but New York's trouble is going to pull our rates way up." Paul agrees that New York has unique problems, though: "This is conservative country, and work walkouts like they have up there wouldn't get much support here. That helps us a lot."

WASHINGTON, D.C.

Comer Coppie is director of budget and management and is typical of the bright men who stand in the shadow of the politicians residing in city halls between the two coasts.

Comer Coppie

Coppie says one problem cities have is that they are "labor-intensive," meaning that it takes many workers to run a city. "That's not as true of state and Federal governments because they're mostly involved in transfer of payments. They don't have to clean streets."

He says his city has a hiring freeze in effect and that it is now trying to reduce the number of employees from 38,000 to 35,000. "We have our problems," he says, "but we try to anticipate them before they develop. We do this with a multi-year financing plan that projects about five years ahead." The city's budget is $1-billion and Coppie says much of that cost is for payroll, "so we try to maintain control of our employment base and try not to allow an incremental growth."

SACRAMENTO

"What's happening in New York is frightening," says William Redmond, a senior analyst in the Sacramento city manager's office. His city faces a cash crunch and is now trying such budget-pruning measures as doubling up collections of garbage with street cleanings. Deficit financing is not permitted in this city, and Redmond views New York's pension system as a big problem. "You just can't give benefits to alleviate labor problems."

GRAND RAPIDS

President Ford's hometown, a city of 197,000, knows what it's like to go bankrupt. It did just that in 1933 in the aftermath of the Depression.

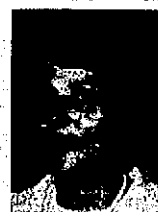

"I was just a twinkle in Dad's eye then," says James Gunderson, Grand Rapids's budget director. "We're severely limited by state statutes," says Gunderson, who acknowledges that the city's long-ago bankruptcy still affects its bond ratings. "We can only issue bonds up to 10 percent of what the state says is the city's value; that's reckoned at about $927-million."

"New York is going to affect all of us. It already has. The bond buyers index is at an all-time high now and we have two bond issues going out shortly. We'll have to pay high interest rates, and I'm sure some of that is because of what's happening in New York."

MONTGOMERY

Mrs. Dala T. Lane, assistant controller of finance for the Alabama city, claims that without revenue sharing (a concept in which Federal funds are sent back to state and local governments), Montgomery "wouldn't have made it. Our revenues won't meet expenditures," she says, "and if revenue sharing goes (the five-year program is scheduled to end next year)—well, that's it."

The city's budget is $27-million and 2,000 employees service a population of 133,000. As in most other cities, welfare costs are pretty much taken care of by the state and county. "We haven't hired new people in a long time," says Mrs. Lane.

NEW ORLEANS

This city has perhaps the most unique method in the entire U.S. for staying on top of its finances. It's called the Board of Liquidation, City Debt.

Chester Rieth is secretary of the board, which was formed after the Civil War to do just what its name implies—liquidate debts. "We're comparable to a controller of a city, but we're also separate from the city. We can sue it, for instance."

The board was formed to liquidate the huge debts rolled up by Northern carpet-baggers between 1865 and 1870. It now includes nine citizens appointed by the Governor of Louisiana, by the Mayor and by citizens' groups. While it still performs its original task of simply liquidating debts, it also issues bonds "for the toys that a city needs," such as schools, streets, parks, lighting. But three-quarters of the board must approve any bond issue before it is submitted to the public for a vote. One other way the city—as well as most other cities—stays out of New York's kind of trouble is that it is prevented by state law from operating at a deficit.

HARTFORD

Richard Barton, Hartford's deputy finance director says, "We have a charter that does not permit us to operate at a deficit. But Hartford has a case of 'inner-city blues'. It has high unemployment and high welfare, and its tax collections fell by three percent this year."

Many city employees took a five-percent cut in pay, and recreational facilities are being cut back—"a helluva problem," says Barton, "and we're paying the piper for New York's problems." Barton would like to see Connecticut divided into six municipalities, instead of its present 169 towns, so that debts could be shared. That doesn't seem likely.

So what's ahead? Some experts actually see benefits coming out of New York's predicament! One is that bond issues will require "full disclosure" in the future so that buyers will know more precisely what kind of shape any city is in before buying its bonds.

Washington will probably have to pick up a larger share of the services that states and cities are now being forced to curtail. Revenue sharing, which already accounts for about 15 percent of state and local budgets, will likely be continued next year. The Federal Government may also have to back local bond issues with its "full faith and credit," as skepticism of municipal offerings spreads.

Other problems lurk ahead. One is the pension retirement systems of cities, and there are over 2,400 cities that have them. Critics of this practice argue that pension claims are piling up faster than the money to meet the claims. Data Resources Inc., an economic consulting firm, concludes that retirement systems are "deteriorating" since "expenditures will overtake receipts from contributions in the next decade."

It may be, as some urban experts have been saying all along, that cities are no longer necessary. New York's plight may foreshadow a recasting of the nation that would obliterate the lines between cities and suburbs. It is no longer a "We" and "They" kind of situation.

How America Should Spend Its 200th Birthday:

The Bicentennial, Through a Child's Eyes

Recently, a first-grade teacher at the East Side School in Elizabethton, Tenn., called the students up to her desk and asked them: "How should America celebrate its 200th birthday?" As they answered, the teacher, Jane Montgomery, took down what they said on a typewriter. Here are some of their replies:

By Mike

America is old. I know somebody that old. She's Granny Sisk. She goes in a wheelchair. I love her. She likes us real good, too. She had grangrene in her legs. She gives us candy. That's the only thing I know that's as old as America.

By Andrea

I think we should invite everyone here and tell them how sorry we are. Sorry about the wars—for being in them. I remember the Civil War. President Lincoln didn't think that colored people should be slaves. I didn't think so, either. So President Lincoln and the colored people had a war. We won. President Lincoln got killed in the war. The man's name was John something. I think Lincoln was riding a horse when he got shot. I wish he could be here for America's 200th birthday. I really do.

By Julie

I think we should remember Mr. Columbus. He sailed across the ocean. He came over here because, a long time ago, there were these people and this king. They wouldn't let Mr. Columbus go to the church he wanted to. And the preachers didn't tell the truth. And so some people decided to come over to America. They stayed right by the ocean at first. And they thought it would be a good land for them and so they went back and tried to get more people to come back over. Those people who were still over in the King's land, they made those over on America pay lots of money. The people on America didn't want to pay taxes. So they started a war. And America won.

By Kevin

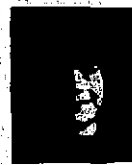

I think we should have a great big dinner. All kinds of people could come. We'd have a great big ole steak. My mama can't type too good, either. And we'd have salad and taters. The President Ford could ask the blessing. He'd thank God for America. Henry Kissar could be there. And me and my brother and my mama could come. I don't know about my daddy; he's in Florida.

By Joey

This country sure has been here a long time. The dinosaurs started it. Some of them had four legs and some of them had two. They eat each other. The little ones chased the birds. When man came on earth, the dinosaurs died. I think that was 2,000 years ago.

By Jimmy

We should celebrate. Like having parades. It's important to the world to have this birthday. America is an important country because this is an important world. Indians was here first, but they left cause the Americans took it. I don't know where they went, either.

A Special Section for the Holiday Season

By Shane

We ought to clean up this mess. America should be clean for its birthday. And we ought to stop fighting, too. The army has been fighting for 200 years.

We could decorate the White House by putting bells and wreaths on it. And put a sign up that says, "Welcome." We should mow our yards and plant trees and have gardens. And cook special things, like the kind we have in the lunch room—soup beans, I think. And corn bread. Cause Indians was the first people to make corn bread. And put something real good to drink on the tables—like milk.

I'd like to go back to what it was 200 years ago. We didn't have cars then. We got around in horses and cartons. They didn't have any schools. No teachers, either. They didn't have as much food as we have. I'll bet they didn't have Popsicles cause they didn't have no supermarket. They probably ate bread and oatmeal.

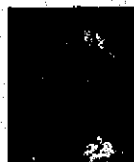

I feel happy that America was made. It has some nice people in it.

By Steve

They ought to try to clean it up. I don't like to see trash. Beer cans is all along the roads. Beer cans is garbage. I'm going to clean up my house, too. There might be some garbage under the couch and I'm going to throw it away.

Decorate up the town. We should have a big cake. We could make a birthday card that says, "Happy Birthday, America." And we'd write all of our names on it. But I can't think of anybody to send it to.

By Bobby

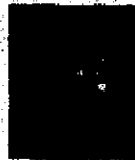

I think we should have a parade of real old things. People should dress up the way we used to a long time ago. They usually wore black and white. Somebody should put on a long wig like George Washington. I knew somebody that was real old, but she died. Her name was Mrs. Cooper. She was 110. Thomas Jefferson was important. He signed the Declaration of Independence to make us free. And if it wasn't for Abe Lincoln, the blacks would still be slaves.

The Statue of Liberty should be decorated. It's in Washington, D.C. You could say it looks like a girl, really. It's a lot bigger than the Washington Monument. I get a lot of books out of the library to know these things. She's holding a stick of fire. Not real fire. Just cement.

By Patty

Give it a big ole cake and put a band on top and hope it doesn't fall through. The band could play "When It Is Bubbling" and "Happy Birthday." America is beautiful, and I think it should keep it that way by picking up paper. I like to live here.

By Gary

We ought to have a big celebration. We would make everybody quit killing each other. I knew America was 200 cause that commercial on TV told me that. It said to get together for the bicentennial. I listen to the President on TV. I'll bet he'll have a big picnic at the White House for everybody in the United States.

By Wendy

I think we ought to make a big cake for everybody. We could all help. It would have to be bigger than this school. It would take 100 boxes of Dunker Hines chocolate cake mix. It would take a lot of white icing to ice it. We'd have to put all the people in ships to get them in one place. We'd invite all the people across the ocean. An ocean is a big river with water in it. Everybody would like a big chocolate cake with a flag on it.

By Darrell

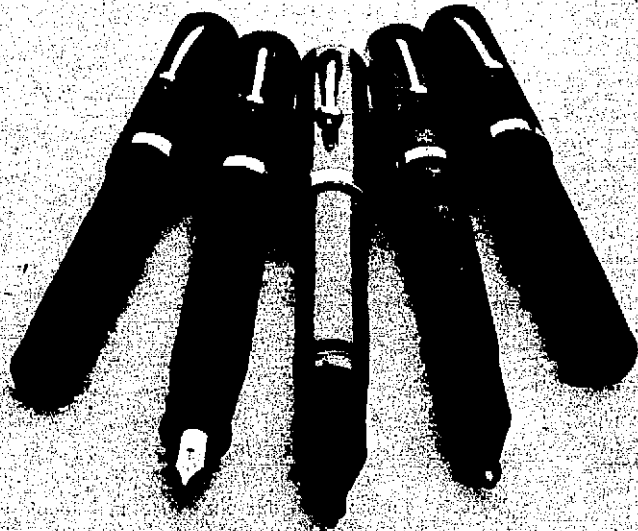

That's a hard thing to figure out. There's so many things to do. Like to make parades and stuff. We could have parties. We'd have to buy an awfully big cake. Two hundred is old, but it'll get older everyday. I just hope it don't get too old. I worry about that. I don't want it to fall to pieces. I had a piece of wood once, and it got too old and it rotted. That's why I don't want it to get too old. I think a lot of America—I don't want nothing to happen to it.

By Melissa

The President should make a cake for us. My daddy knows how to cook, so the President does, too. We could all go to Washington to eat it. We could stay at the White House and sleep with the President if he's there. He stays there all the time, except sometimes at night he goes out. That's when he goes home.

First we gave you a little sunshine.

How America Should Spend Its 200th Birthday:

The Bicentennial, Through a Child's Eyes

Recently, a first-grade teacher at the East Side School in Elizabethton, Tenn., called the students up to her desk and asked them: "How should America celebrate its 200th birthday?" As they answered, the teacher, Jane Montgomery, took down what they said on a typewriter. Here are some of their replies:

By Mike

America is old. I know somebody that old. She's Granny Sisk. She goes in a wheelchair. I love her. She likes us real good, too. She had grangrene in her legs. She gives us candy. That's the only thing I know that's as old as America.

By Andrea

I think we should invite everyone here and tell them how sorry we are. Sorry about the wars—for being in them. I remember the Civil War. President Lincoln didn't think that colored people should be slaves. I didn't think so, either. So President Lincoln and the colored people had a war. We won. President Lincoln got killed in the war. The man's name was John something. I think Lincoln was riding a horse when he got shot. I wish he could be here for America's 200th birthday. I really do.

By Julie

I think we should remember Mr. Columbus. He sailed across the ocean. He came over here because, a long time ago, there were these people and this king. They wouldn't let Mr. Columbus go to the church he wanted to. And the preachers didn't tell the truth. And so some people decided to come over to America. They stayed right by the ocean at first. And they thought it would be a good land for them and so they went back and tried to get more people to come back over. Those people who were still over in the King's land, they made those over on America pay lots of money. The people on America didn't want to pay taxes. So they started a war. And America won.

By Kevin

I think we should have a great big dinner. All kinds of people could come. We'd have a great big ole steak. My mama can't type too good, either. And we'd have salad and taters. The President Ford could ask the blessing. He'd thank God for America. Henry Kissler could be there. And me and my brother and my mama could come. I don't know about my daddy; he's in Florida.

By Joey

This country sure has been here a long time. The dinosaurs started it. Some of them had four legs and some of them had two. They eat each other. The little ones chased the birds. When man came on earth, the dinosaurs died. I think that was 2,000 years ago.

By Jimmy

We should celebrate. Like having parades. It's important to the world to have this birthday. America is an important country because this is an important world. Indians was here first, but they left cause the Americans took it. I don't know where they went, either.

A Special Section for the Holiday Season

By Shane

We ought to clean up this mess. America should be clean for its birthday. And we ought to stop fighting, too. The army has been fighting for 200 years.

We could decorate the White House by putting bells and wreaths on it. And put a sign up that says, "Welcome." We should mow our yards and plant trees and have gardens. And cook special things, like the kind we have in the lunch room—soup

I'd like to go back to what it was 200 years ago. We didn't have cars then. We got around in horses and cartons. They didn't have any schools. No teachers, either. They didn't have as much food as we have. I'll bet they didn't have Popsicles cause they didn't have no supermarkets. They probably ate bread and oatmeal.

Bicentennial Question:

And What Was Christmas Like in 1776?

By T. K. Irwin

How did those early Americans celebrate Christmas way back in 1776?

In different ways. The Dutch in New Amsterdam kept Christmas gala, yet held it as a significant family institution. The New England Pilgrims considered noisy merriment a sacrilege; stores there stayed open and workers had no holiday on Christmas Day. To the worldly Virginians, Christmas was the greatest of holidays, to be enjoyed in elegant fashion. German settlers in Pennsylvania went in wholeheartedly for celebration, which led to many of today's holiday customs.

But that isn't all!

Here is a rundown of what did—and didn't—exist on Christmas Day, 1776.

Carols. Yes, most of the nation's forebears, especially the English colonists, sang carols on Christmas Eve. Among the revered carols were "God Rest Ye Merry, Gentlemen" and "Joy to the World!" "O Come All Ye Faithful" and even "Deck the Halls."

Gift-Giving. It was the Germans in Pennsylvania who brought the tradition that the Christ Child (Christkind)—which means Christ Child in German—became Kriss Kringel, gave gifts to children on Christmas Eve, but holiday gift-giving had also been common in Britain. Generally the presents came in the form of such edibles as fruit, cakes, hams or turkeys. Items like handmade furniture and jewelry were probably also exchanged. The poor, particularly, were provided for with food.

Stockings on the Mantel. This came from the Dutch, only instead of stockings youngsters put shoes at the fireplace on Christmas Eve. By morning the shoes would be filled with small goodies.

Christmas Dinner. Christmas feasts were usually served in midafternoon. Food was both plentiful and varied. In wealthy Virginia, dish followed dish—roast turkey, veal, duck, fowl, ham and roast beef; then plum pudding, mince pie and jellies. Hot toddies were drunk with many a toast made to the ladies, to the flourishing tobacco plantations and to the coming year. Elsewhere in the colonies, wine, punch and brandy often accompanied Christmas dinners. "An old English drink called syllabub (slang for liquor) was very popular. It came in many flavors, and often lemon juice and a bit of rind were included in the recipes.

Christmas Trees. No. In 1776 the colonists did not have Christmas trees. But they did use foliage on Christmas—wreaths of holly, mistletoe, pine, laurel and other evergreens. Mostly the wreaths decorated entrance doors, with other evergreens displayed inside the home to provide a festive atmosphere. The Christmas tree didn't make its debut in America until 1821, in the German immigrant community of Lancaster, Pa.

Santa Claus. No, alas, the colonists did not know about Santa Claus. The Dutch immigrants' reverence for Sinterklaas or St. Nicholas evolved gradually into this jovial old fellow. But it was not until 1822, when Clement Moore wrote his classic "Twas the Night Before Christmas," that Santa became popular.

The Yule Log. In regions settled by the English, the yule log was burned. On Christmas Eve, the log—often a huge section of oak—was brought in and set on the hearth. Every night until Twelfth Night, the official end of the season, the yule log was placed for a while on the fire. It was then removed and kept under a bed for the ensuing year as protection against thunder and fire. The rugged pioneers kept burning yule logs as the new nation pushed Westward.

Christmas Cards. Christmas cards were not exchanged in 1776; the phenomenon did not originate until 1843 in England. "But the early colonists," George Parker of Hallmark Cards tells us, "did do a lot of visiting in each other's homes on Christmas Day to convey yuletide greetings."

On Christmas 1776, the people did have something very special to celebrate: that was the famous crossing of the Delaware by Washington and his troops. The Redcoats and the hired Hessians, enjoying a rousing festival at Trenton, had failed to set watch. In the surprise attack, the Hessian mercenaries were soundly beaten after a critical battle. Washington's ragged army gave their commander a rare Christmas present—and gave themselves a place in history.

In different ways. The Dutch in New Amsterdam kept Christmas gala, yet held it as a significant family institution. The New England Pilgrims considered noisy merriment a sacrilege; stores there stayed open and workers had no holiday on Christmas Day. To the worldly Virginians, Christmas was the greatest of holidays, to be enjoyed in elegant fashion. German settlers in Pennsylvania went in wholeheartedly for celebration, which led to many of today's holiday customs.

But that isn't all!

Here is a rundown of what did—and didn't—exist on Christmas Day, 1776.

Carols. Yes, most of the nation's forebears, especially the English colonists, sang carols on Christmas Eve. Among the revered carols were "God Rest Ye Merry, Gentlemen" and "Joy to the World!" "O Come All Ye Faithful" and even "Deck the Halls."

Gift-Giving. It was the Germans in Pennsylvania who brought the tradition that the Christ Child (Christkindl—which means Christ Child in German—became Kriss Kringle) gave gifts to children on Christmas Eve, but holiday gift-giving had also been common in Britain. Generally the presents came in the form of such edibles as fruit, cakes, hams or turkeys. Items like handmade furniture and jewelry were probably also exchanged. The poor, particularly, were provided for with food.

Stockings on the Mantel. This came from the Dutch, only instead of stockings youngsters put shoes at the fireplace on Christmas Eve. By morning the shoes would be filled with small goodies.

Christmas Dinner. Christmas feasts were usually served in midafternoon. Food was both plentiful and varied. In wealthy Virginia, dish followed dish—roast turkey, veal, duck, fowl, ham and roast beef; then plum pudding, mince pie and jellies. Hot toddies were drunk with many a toast made to the ladies, to the flourishing tobacco plantations and to the coming year. Elsewhere in the colonies, wine, punch and brandy often accompanied Christmas dinners. An old English drink called syllabub (slang for liquor) was very popular. It came in many flavors, and often lemon juice and a bit of rind were included in the recipes.

Christmas Trees. No. In 1776 the colonists did not have Christmas trees. But they did use foliage on Christmas—wreaths of holly, mistletoe, pine, laurel and other evergreens. Mostly the wreaths decorated entrance doors, with other evergreens displayed inside the home to provide a festive atmosphere. The Christmas tree didn't make its debut in America until 1821, in the German immigrant community of Lancaster, Pa.

Santa Claus. No, alas, the colonists did not know about Santa Claus. The Dutch immigrants' reverence for Sinterklaas or St. Nicholas evolved gradually into this jovial old fellow. But it was not until 1822, when Clement Moore wrote his classic "Twas the Night Before Christmas," that Santa became popular.

The Yule Log. In regions settled by the English, the yule log was burned. On Christmas Eve, the log—often a huge section of oak—was brought in and set on the hearth. Every night until Twelfth Night, the official end of the season, the yule log was placed for a while on the fire. It was then removed and kept under a bed for the ensuing year as protection against thunder and fire. The rugged pioneers kept burning yule logs as the new nation pushed Westward.

Christmas Cards. Christmas cards were not exchanged in 1776; the phenomenon did not originate until 1843 in England. "But the early colonists," George Parker of Hallmark Cards tells us, "did do a lot of visiting in each other's homes on Christmas Day to convey yuletide greetings."

On Christmas 1776, the people did have something very special to celebrate: that was the famous crossing of the Delaware by Washington and his troops. The Redcoats and the hired Hessians, enjoying a rousing festival at Trenton, had failed to set watch. In the surprise attack, the Hessian mercenaries were soundly beaten after a critical battle. Washington's ragged army gave their commander a rare Christmas present—and gave themselves a place in history.

"I Think I Must Be Extraordinary"

Linda McCartney on Herself-And Paul

Paul and Linda McCartney with daughters Stella, 3, and Mary, 5.

"Actually I don't have what you call friends. I've never had close, close, close friends. I feel Paul's my best friend. I don't worry about friends. I figure family is your best friend."

By Nancy Mills

When Paul McCartney picked up this loud blonde bird in a London club in 1967 and wound up marrying her, the whole world knew it was the beginning of the end. Sure, the rest of the Beatles had wives. But Paul... he was a bit special. He didn't need a wife. She would only pull him down, sap his talent, turn him into the one thing his heartthrob image couldn't take—a family man.

But Paul didn't care about his image. By the time Paul and Linda met, the Beatles were having managerial troubles, and rumors were flying that all was not well with the four Liverpudlians. Yoko was already a force to be reckoned with. Why shouldn't Linda have equal rights?

Paul certainly didn't mind. In fact, he seemed to welcome someone taking his side, speaking out for him, giving him the strength to do what he thought was right. The end result was that the Beatles broke up, and Linda got a lot of the blame. Maybe she did speed things up a bit, but the break was inevitable, as each of the four sought to go down his own road to maturity.

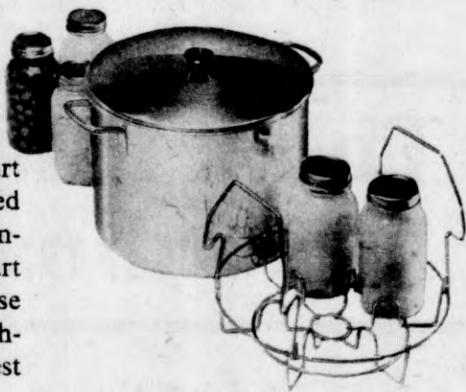

But Paul decided to take Linda along for the ride. After the breakup, they retired for a while to their Scottish farm—he to gather his strength and plan out his re-entry into the rock world; she to raise a family and provide the companionship and inspiration lately relinquished by John, George and Ringo.

In Paul's eyes she filled the gap admirably, and when he started up his new group, Wings, it was certain that Linda would be a part of it. They were a team

BOB HOSKINS:

Sports Mini-Profile

Bob Hoskins, the 30-year-old defensive tackle for the San Francisco 49 ers, is one athlete who knows that the expression "Never say die" is more than an idle cliché. Early in 1973, Hoskins was stricken with Hodgkin's disease—a deadly ailment that strikes the lymph nodes and the spleen. Hoskins, however, refused to surrender. With the aid of modern medicine, he not only defeated the illness, but he managed to return to pro football. As Paul Wiggin, former 49 ers defensive line coach, says: "There's no obstacle that's too big for him to lick." . . . Overcoming adversity is nothing new for Hoskins. A native of Edwardsville, Ill., he had to drop out of college after two years for economic reasons. He had married and become a father at an early age and, in order to earn a living, went to work in a munitions factory. He later began to play tackle for a minor-league team called the Seattle Rangers, but the pay was slim and he still had to work in the factory during the off-season. A San Francisco scout liked his drive, and the 49 ers drafted him in 1969. His first season in the big-time pro game ended suddenly when he had to undergo knee surgery. He lost a good part of his second season because of a dislocated shoulder. Still, he didn't give up. He came back in 1973 and became a first-string tower of strength. Then came the shocker: He noticed a small growth near his left armpit. He reported it promptly to the team physician. Three days later, the growth was removed by surgery. A week after that, he went to the operating room again, this time for removal of his spleen. While in the hospital, he saw a medical show on TV that said there was no cure for Hodgkin's disease. When he asked his doctor what he should do, he was told, "Stop watching TV." . . . "So I stopped watching—and was completely healed," Hoskins says wryly. Actually, his recovery was based on the fact that his disease was detected early and responded to radiation treatments. Hoskins and his wife, Carolyn, now have four children. In addition, they've

AT LAST — the ingenious easy new physical fitness system, to help you: lose inches and pounds, improve the shape of your body, increase your sex appeal and feel and look years younger — and at the lowest price offered in the United States.

An Easy, Proven System That Takes Just Minutes A Day

It's easy — because you exercise while you lie on your back and do just 3 basic routines. And yet you exercise and tone every muscle in your arms, legs, abdomen, waist, back, neck and tummy — all the important, problem spots that you want to help keep trim, firm and beautiful.

We recommend you start at a moderate 2 to 3 minutes a day. You'll soon find that you want to increase this to 4, 5 and up to 15 minutes at a time. But, and this is important,

Important Note:

Dear Reader,
 Don't be confused: The competitive exerciser models you've seen on T.V. and in magazines for $7.95 and $9.95 work on exactly the same principle and in the same way as ours. By a special purchase from a manufacturer, we've been able to break the price wide open and offer "The Figure Trimmer" at this amazing low price!

you do it at your own pace and you find it easier and easier to exercise for longer periods. The rhythmic movements you use are so simple that any child of 5 can master them in one minute, because all you do is lift and bend your arms and legs and the "Figure Trimmer" won't let you make a mistake. A simple, fully illustrated instruction booklet for the basic exercises is included.

Use "The Figure Trimmer" Anywhere

Yes, use it in your bedroom, living room, office, even while you're away from home (it's so compact, it folds to fit right in a handbag or attache case and weighs only a mere 10 ounces). You never have to miss your regular exercise... use it anywhere you can lie down. Simply attach to bedpost, doorknob, etc., and it's ready to use.

To Help Weight Loss...

We recommend a moderate and sensible temporary 15 to 20% reduction in your normal food intake (while still eating exactly the same kinds of delicious foods your normally eat and like). We don't send you any fad or crash diet, because your own doctor will tell you that these are harmful. We suggest you continue this moderation until you reach desired weight loss. After that, just eat normally and continue exercises to feel and look better and younger.

Ironclad Guarantee

Our guarantee is simple. You must within 14 days see and feel your body toned up and feeling great — and look and feel years younger, or simply return unit for a prompt and complete refund. Mail order coupon today; you'll be glad you did.

now, and it didn't matter to either of them that she knew nothing about writing songs and even less about singing and playing the keyboard. If the public clamored for Paul, they had to get used to the idea that they were going to get Linda, too. And it looks as if everyone did, eventually. Their LP "Band on the Run" was high in the charts for over a year.

Linda takes her ascent into the public eye as a matter of course now that she is part of Wings and not just Paul McCartney's wife. It wasn't so easy in the early days, she recalls: "The Press didn't seem to like me very much. And I had a bit of trouble with the people who lived outside our house. There were a lot of kids there who had hung around for years and kind of resented it when I moved in."

Since their marriage six years ago, music has about taken over Linda's life. "I love it," she says of her new vocation. "I love it like I did photography. I got into that the same way I got into music. I just started taking pictures. I was never taught anything. It's the same with music. . . . I'm just picking it up. I've got a long way to go, but I know more than I knew before I married Paul."

Daughter of American show biz lawyer Lee Eastman, Linda grew up in a wealthy New York suburb. It was in college that she met her first husband. "I was going out with a Princeton boy. My mother died in a plane crash and I got married. It was a mistake. So I got divorced. Very simple. Marriage is really nothing, isn't it? What I mean is, luckily I got out of it."

"He was a geologist, and when he graduated, he wanted to go to Africa. I said, 'Look, if I don't get along with you here, I won't get on with you there.' So he went."

It was about then that Linda first picked up a camera. First she worked on a magazine, and then she got a job as staff photographer for a rock concert hall. That led her to London and the Bag O' Nails club where she met Paul. Doors have been opening ever since.

"Oh, I definitely have a career in music because I like it," says Linda. "Not a career like Maria Callas, nothing like that. But just with me and my kind of thing. I love rhythm, music that makes me feel good when I listen to it. Nothing serious. I can feel when it feels good and when it doesn't."

Linda is certainly candid about her qualifications as a musician. She's not ashamed or embarrassed, and she doesn't have to be because she's under the McCartney umbrella. Until Paul's aura fades or until she tries to go it alone, she knows she's got herself a musical profession.

"I always loved records, but now I feel I can really develop myself in this. Dancing even. I never danced before, but now I really love it. Marriage to Paul is bringing things out in me I didn't know were there."

"We're about the same as most people. We fight, but we probably fight less than most. At least, we try not to fight."

Some people might call it self-indulgence. Others see it as a good way to keep a marriage together. But, whatever, Linda is not one to sit at home with the children while Paul is out working. During a "Top of the Pops" rehearsal, she reveals herself as a tremendous show-off. When there's time to kill onstage before the cameras are ready, Paul relaxes quietly while Linda stamps her feet, bangs a bit on the drums and generally hams it up. There's no doubt about it, she loves her new role in the limelight.

She glows pink when she tells about singing with the Faces at a recent concert. "We're good friends of theirs, and Paul wrote a song for Rod Stewart on his 'Smiler' album and we did the harmony on it. We were sitting on an amp in the wings having a great time. Then Rod called us out and put us right on the main mike. It was great."

But when it comes down to basics, Linda likes to think of herself as a mother first. "I run the house just like an ordinary person. There's a housekeeper during the day and babysitters

BOB HOSKINS:

Sports Mini-Profile

Bob Hoskins, the 30-year-old defensive tackle for the San Francisco 49ers, is one athlete who knows that the expression "Never say die" is more than an idle cliché. "Actually I don't have what you call friends. I've never had close, close, close friends. I feel Paul's my best friend. Twiggy's a good friend, mainly because she's such a nice person. We don't kid each other. The band's pretty good friends. I don't worry about friends. I figure family is your best friend."

Linda seems able to juggle the role of wife, mother and performer pretty well. But the dark circles under her eyes suggest she doesn't get much sleep, and without make-up she looks older than 33. But she's never had time to care much about the way she looks.

"I don't try to keep up with fashion," she admits. "My trouble is keeping everything organized. I've got to get the kids clothed, get the food every day, cook dinner, cook breakfast. And then there's a bit on a new song I really want to learn the chords to. I'm only one person. I think I must be extraordinary."

Maybe she is. She's certainly making the most out of her marriage. "I really think it comes down to either you're happy or you're not. If you're not, you both should split and get happy as individuals. If you are happy together, try to keep it."

"When you see the McCartneys together, it's obvious that they dote on each other. There are lots of cuddles and hugs. While they're watching another group rehearse for "Top of the Pops," Paul keeps time absentmindedly on Linda's hip. When he comes in to be photographed with her during her interview, hand-holding starts automatically.

Before Paul arrives, Linda is talking about how they never get on each other's nerves. But Paul says they do fight occasionally. "We're about the same as most people," says Paul. "We fight, but we probably fight less than most. At least, we try not to fight."

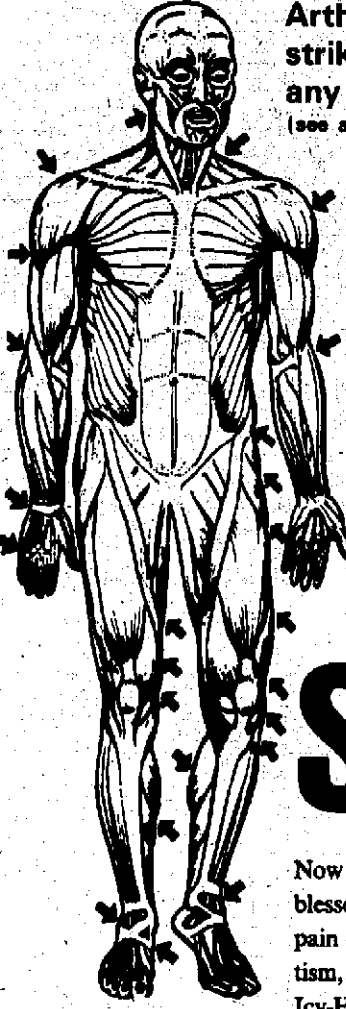

Linda is not full of heavy talk about herself or marriage. She just gets on with it. And if it should come to an end, Linda's the kind of girl who would always land on her feet.

"When I got my first divorce, I didn't ask for alimony or anything. I don't believe in that. I'm an independent person. Why should he have to support me? If Paul and I ever got divorced, I wouldn't say 'O.K., I want a hundred million pounds.' It's like when you leave a job. Why should that person keep paying you a salary?"

BARBRA STREISAND

Barbra Streisand's childhood love affair with the movies: "Barbra was a very special kind of movie fan as a child. She did not identify with the actresses, but with the parts they played. 'When I saw 'Gone With The Wind,' I never imagined myself to be Vivien Leigh,' she has said. 'It was me up there and all those attractive men were pursuing me.' After watching a movie, she would go home and lock herself for long stretches of time in the family's one bathroom, reenacting what she had seen in front of a mirror, but doing it her way. Her performances took time and were often interrupted by impatient knocks on the bathroom door. Finally she would emerge and stalk around the apartment, in the grip of such fits of depression that her mother threatened not to let her go to the movies again until she learned to put a stop to all this nonsense. Barbra just lowered her eyes and moped some more; she could grimace and fake any emotion in front of the mirror, but the incipient actress still could not master the hardest trick of all—putting on a happy face for the family's benefit." From "The Greatest Star," by Rene Jordan (Putnam, $7.95)

People steal the darndest things: Why would anyone want to steal a wrecking ball that weighed five tons and was 200 feet up on a crane cable (which is what someone did in Indianapolis)? Or a 40-ton bulldozer as big as a house in Danvers, Mass.? In Tucson, Ariz., burglars made off with a carton of lady's boots—all of them for the left foot. Even stranger than the things people steal are the things they don't steal. In Alamosa, Colo., a thief took a living room rug, an afghan and a bottle of men's cologne, ignoring money and valuable jewelry in plain sight. Snobism is also on the rise among thieves. After rummaging through an entire house in Tampa, Fla., a discerning robber couldn't find a single thing that appealed to him. He was so enraged that he left this note: "It's people like you who make it hard for burglars like me. You don't even have anything good to eat in the refrigerator!"

MODERN-DAY PILGRIM
She has a mission

Equipped only with a toothbrush, comb and the clothes on her back, this Mystery Lady, who calls herself "the Peace Pilgrim," has traveled 30,000 miles (25,000 of them on foot) across the U.S. and Canada since 1953 on a private mission for peace. She told FAMILY WEEKLY: "I gave up home, possessions, age, and name in 1953 because I found them meaningless. I had inner peace—that was all I needed to survive. At the time I felt like a voice crying out in the wilderness, but now I'm definitely on the popular side because most Americans have overwhelmingly accepted the idea of peace.

But world developments have not changed my pilgrimage. Peace is much more than the temporary absence of war; it is the absence of the causes of war. I believe it will take another 10 years for an outer peace to develop and sustain itself, but even after that time I will continue to talk about the inner peace man needs to maintain outer peace." She says her pilgrimage is not supported by any group.

FRIENDS INDEED

"Old friends are best" I've often heard. That "old," though, is a tricky word. "Meet my old friends," I sometimes say. Not wrinkled, either—till they frown. That "old," you see, has got them down.

Because of rather grim grimaces Upon my old friends' youngish faces, "Meet my good friends," I've started using.

At any rate it's not confusing.

A rookie policeman was asked, in an oral exam, what he would do to disperse a threatening mob. After a few minutes of thoughtful concentration, he looked up brightly and said, "I'd start to take up a collection."

"Actually I don't have what you call friends. I've never had close, close, close friends. I feel Paul's my best friend. Twiggy's a good friend, mainly because she's such a nice person. We don't kid each other. The band's pretty good friends. I don't worry about friends. I figure family is your best friend."

Linda seems able to juggle the role of wife, mother and performer pretty well. But the dark circles under her eyes suggest she doesn't get much sleep, and without make-up she looks older than 33. But she's never had time to care much about the way she looks.

"I don't try to keep up with fashion," she admits. "My trouble is keeping everything organized. I've got to get the kids clothed, get the food every day, cook dinner, cook breakfast. And then there's a bit on a new song I really want to learn the chords to. I'm only one person. I think I must be extraordinary."

Maybe she is. She's certainly making the most out of her marriage. "I really think it comes down to either you're happy or you're not. If you're not, you both should split and get happy as individuals. If you are happy together, try to keep it."

When you see the McCartneys together, it's obvious that they dote on each other. There are lots of cuddles and hugs. While they're watching another group rehearse for "Top of the Pops," Paul keeps time absentmindedly on Linda's hip. When he comes in to be photographed with her during her interview, hand-holding starts automatically.

Before Paul arrives, Linda is talking about how they never get on each other's nerves. But Paul says they do fight occasionally. "We're about the same as most people," says Paul. "We fight, but we probably fight less than most. At least, we try not to fight."

Linda is not full of heavy talk about herself or marriage. She just gets on with it. And if it should come to an end, Linda's the kind of girl who would always land on her feet.

"When I got my first divorce, I didn't ask for alimony or anything. I don't believe in that. I'm an independent person. Why should he have to support me? If Paul and I ever got divorced, I wouldn't say 'O.K., I want a hundred million pounds.' It's like when you leave a job. Why should that person keep paying you a salary?"
